Children prepare to participate in the 1-kilometer version of Tuesday's Reindeer Run. Because race-time temperatures were well-below zero, event organizers held the children's portion of the festive event indoors. The young runners didn't seem to mind and took full advantage of running in the halls at Falls Elementary School.

Festive, but frigid, dash

The bold really do run in the cold

The Icebox Days' Freeze Yer Gizzard Blizzard Run tagline held true Tuesday for the Reindeer Run, hosted by I Falls Partners in Education.

The event, according to organizer Jenn Windels, raised $500 for the Wishing Willow Program, which provides elementary classrooms with supplies.

Temperatures plunged to 34 degrees below zero early on in the day prompting race organizers to move the kid's run indoors, but dedicated runners, including Santa Claus, took on frigid temps for the 5-kilometer run outside.

John Cowman crossed the finish line first with a total run time of 21 minutes, 5 seconds

A little frost on her face didn't stop Hailey Silvers from participating in the 5-kilometer Reindeer Run on Christmas Eve. Silvers finished the frigid run in 23 minutes, 42 seconds.
