Instructor Lloyd Steen stands in a pond discussing trapping with students who, upon completion of the course, received a trapping certification.

CERTIFIED TRAPPERS

Fifteen people received trapping education certificates after completing a course Oct. 4 offered through Community Education by instructors Matt Hartzler and Lloyd Steen. In addition to local students, Steen reported a few people came from Roseau and Willow River. Field work for the course was held at Hartzler's residence. Minnesota law states people born after Dec. 31, 1989, who have not been issued a trapping license in a previous year may not obtain a license without a trapper education certificate.
