Tecumseh razing plan becomes clearer

By Mark Sherry

It appears the City of New Holstein is still on schedule to have the former Tecumseh Products Company facility razed to information presented at the Wednesday, Dec. 16 meeting of the New Holstein Community Council.

That information included a detailed plan on how the demolition will be financed, presented by Paul Cosson of Ebers, Inc.

The building process is expected to take place in late January or early February with funds being available in late February or March, after which demolition could begin.

Cosson said city officials are currently using the figure of $2.3 million in cost associated with the demolition, a figure which already has been lowered from original projections. A more definite number will be available once other bids are received.

Cosson told attendees a key part of paying these costs is the 9900/660 Community Development Block Grant Close-Family, which the city was notified it would be to pay down a large part of the demolition debt quickly, thus saving interest costs over time.

Several other financial resources are likely to be used as well to pay off the remainder of the debt.

Cosson said the Environmental Remediation Tax Increment District which was created about a year ago will be one of those tools. He said an ER TID was used for the razing of the former Brillion Iron Works factory. Recent changes to state law allow the time value of the TID to start at $0 rather than being tax incremental.

Another assumption Cosson said he turned to TECUMSEH page 15A
