

2020 Road Trip into The Magical Attic

by Mark Marderosian

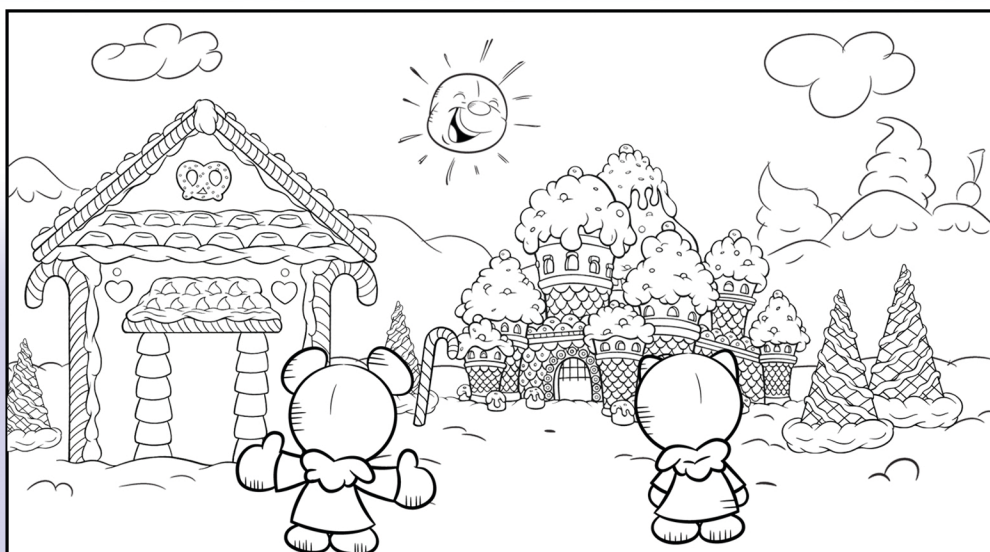

Episode 4 of 9

A different adventure every week!

www.TheMagicalAttic.com

In the Magical Attic, Sunray Bear said to his friend, Misty Pig, "Let's go visit the Candy Room and see where it takes us!"
"Well, okay," said Misty Pig. "As long as it's not too dangerous, too hot, too cold, or otherwise not too bothersome."

Sunray said, "Hey! We're here in LandyCane Land!"
Misty said, "My goodness. We're in black and white."
"I think the folks at home will color this in for us!" guessed Sunray.

Sunray said, "Look! It's King Taffy!"
He asked the king, "Why so glum, chum?"

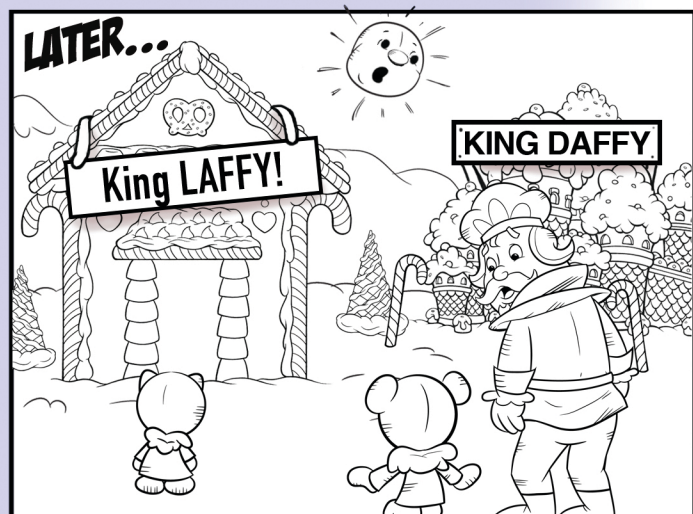

King Taffy replied, "Aw, my kingdom is melting!"
Low-sugar materials are making the buildings softer."

Misty asked, "Why not make the buildings lower and more compact?"
"What?!" exclaimed the King. "You mean not build my beautiful high-rise castles? That's treason!"

"It'll be fine. Just put your name all over the front of every building!" suggested Sunray.
"That's a delicious idea!" declared King Taffy.

"Maybe I should let the royal proofreader out of the dungeon," said the King. The End

Hershey, Pennsylvania is home to The Hershey Company, making Hershey's Bar and Hershey's Kisses. The first Hershey's bars were sold in 1900.

FUN FACTS!

- It's believed that the candy bar was invented in England in 1847.
- Snickers is named after a horse.
- Americans buy 600 million pounds of candy every Halloween.
- Christmas has the biggest candy sales of the year.
- The largest peanut butter cup ever made weighs 440 pounds!
- More than 400 million M&M's are produced every day.

ALL NEW! The Magical Attic COLORING & ACTIVITY BOOKS!

64-PAGES EACH FOR HOURS OF FUN!

Let's Play Outside!

A Fun Day

The Magical Attic / available on Amazon!

Don't Forget! Brush your teeth regularly!