PBS breathes new life into Louisa May Alcott's 'Little Women'

By K.A. Taylor
TV Media

A brief channel surf quickly reveals that women on television are still all too often depicted as jealous, fighting frenemies. Often generic and one-dimensional, these portrayals detrimentally serve to convince the world — and more importantly, young women — that to be feminine is to lack rationality and depth.

Fortunately for anyone looking for a more uplifting depiction of young womanhood, PBS has teamed up with the BBC to bring to life a new miniseries adaptation of Louisa May Alcott's classic novel "Little Women." How fascinating it is to consider that a series based on a 150-year-old novel could deliver a more honest and complex representation of women's relationships than we see in so much modern-day fare. The latest "Masterpiece Classic" offering, "Little Women" premieres Sunday, May 13, on PBS.

"Little Women" stays loyal to Alcott's work, while interjecting ample doses of humor and empowerment. Set amidst the American Civil War, the story provides a glimpse into the lives of the four March sisters as they grow from girls to young women under the watchful, loving care of their mother. The family, once well-to-do, now lives in poverty. Relocated to a new portion of a Massachusetts community, these little women find themselves not just penniless but also fatherless, as the patriarch has been called off to war. Left to fend for themselves, the March women are eager to prove that they're more than capable of doing so.

Each sister is undeniably a March, yet entirely unique. Meg March (Willa Fitzgerald, "Scream: The TV Series") is the eldest of the four and quite naturally adapts to a matriarchal type of role, quite satisfied with the prospect of a domestic life. Second eldest, Jo (Maya Hawke, "Ladyworld," 2018), is full of bold ambition, often labeled a tomboy due to her interests and hopes to be a published writer one day. Beth (Annes Elwy, "Philip K. Dick's Electric Dreams"), the third daughter, is quite shy and has a penchant for music. The youngest March, Amy (Kathryn Newton, "Lady Bird," 2017), is the most artistic, though easily swayed into a state of vanity.

Initially, these four girls may seem fairly set in their ways, somewhat stereotypical and quite contrary to one another. As the girls develop, however, it becomes clear that there are multiple dimensions to all of their personalities, and assumed predictability is quickly discarded.

The two elder March ladies of the miniseries are portrayed by theatrical and cinematic favorites. Matriarch Marmee is played by the acclaimed Emily Watson ("The Book Thief," 2013), who began her career heavily invested in feature film roles, but who has been racking up more and more TV series parts since 2011. Surpassing all of these talented ladies, however, is the legendary Angela Lansbury ("Murder She Wrote"), who steps into the fiercely critical shoes of Aunt March.

Since 1868, when "Little Women" was published, the story has endured countless adaptations in various formats. Be it film, television, musicals, operas, stage plays, web videos or audio dramas, it's clear that the authenticity felt in this novel translates well to all mediums. The story was first adapted for the silver screen in silent format in 1917, with the most recent big-screen adaptation currently in production. When it comes to television, BBC has developed four miniseries of "Little Women," the first airing in the 1950s as a live production. Anyone with siblings, but especially those of us who are sisters and have sisters, find deep familiarity with the relationships and conflicts depicted, so it's no surprise that Alcott's work continues to remain relevant and reproduced.

With women continuing to push for their unique voices and stories to be heard, perhaps there is no better time than now for a retelling of Alcott's beloved novel. Embrace feminine strength and growth when "Little Women" premieres Sunday, May 13, on PBS.

The Bold and the Beautiful

Liam unexpectedly proposes marriage to Hope, but when it comes time to sign the papers to finalize the annulment of his marriage to Steffy, he hesitates before signing. With the ink barely dry, Hope breaks the news of the engagement to a stunned Steffy, causing an argument between the two women. Bill tries to convince Steffy to run away with him, after which Wyatt confesses to her that he witnessed their interaction. Ridge consoles Steffy and tries to figure out what made Liam change his mind about the annulment, and becomes convinced that Bill is the one behind his son's change of heart. Ridge confronts Liam about how he's treating Steffy. Steffy reaches out to Liam and begs him to delay marrying Hope until their daughter's birth, while Ridge comes face-to-face with Bill and accuses him of bringing enormous heartbreak and misery to his own son. During a quiet moment, Liam and Hope spend some time together and daydream about the future they hope to build with each other.

Days of Our Lives

Abigail and Chad have an emotional reunion, and he tries to help her remember details of the night that Andre was murdered. As Abigail tries to cope with the realization that she caused Andre's death, Gabby and Dr. Laura take control of her body. Chloe stuns Theresa when she reveals the details of Eve and Brady's relationship. Together, they work to bring down their captor, but when a familiar face shows up, things get far more complicated. After Kate threatens to expose Vivian's plot to the DiMera board, and explosive showdown erupts between them, leaving Vivian's life hanging in the balance. Lani and Eli bond over their breakups, and Will and Paul follow some new leads about Dr. Rolf. Sonny has a blow-up after he learns that Leo is being investigated by Paul. Victor has trouble keeping quiet about the real reason Theresa left town.

General Hospital

Carly steps up to the plate and works on patching things up with Josslyn, but ends up thrown off guard. Ava's happiness is threatened when Nelle reveals her intentions. After setting Ava up, Nelle keeps her charade going. Jason and Drew run into each other, and Peter is crossed by Valentin. Lulu turns to Anna for some advice, and Franco suffers anxiety about his situation. Finn makes the decision to open up, while Joss begins pleading with his mother.

The Young and the Restless

Devon turns to his father for advice to help him navigate his relationship with Hilary. Neil advises him that, to be there for his child, he must also be there for the mother. When he tells Simone of his intentions to be there for Hilary, she insists that she wants to continue their relationship anyway, but he breaks up to her regardless to fully commit himself to Hilary and their child. Dina's interviews help Kyle bond with his family, but his guilt over the secret that's been let out deepens when his father recognizes him as a full Abbott. The family prepares a screening party in honor of Dina, but when premiere night comes, the event is threatened when Dina suffers a horrific episode. Nick teams up with Victor and Hilary to help him in his JT investigation, despite Sharon's best efforts to deter him. After Hilary's memory is jogged, Nick confronts Sharon and an argument ensues, ending with the two of them making love.

SpaceX is planning to build a Mars rocket right here in Los Angeles. The voyage to Mars will take nine months, but eight of those months will be spent just getting out of L.A.

This morning, Twitter went down for almost an hour. As a result, President Trump was forced to open a window and start yelling at people on the street.

Scientists have developed a robot that can assemble a chair from Ikea almost as fast as a human. Sadly, in the process of assembling it, the robot has a huge fight with his wife.

President Trump's new nominee to head NASA is a Republican congressman with no science background. Or, as that's called in the Trump administration: "Overqualified."

The Tonight Show With Jimmy Fallon

Congratulations to John Stamos and his wife, who had a baby boy this weekend! And somehow, the baby has already aged more than John Stamos.

I saw that "Survivor" is coming back for a 37th season. I think they're starting to run out of locations — they just announced that the next season is being held at Costco on a Saturday.

This week, the Senate confirmed Trump's pick to lead NASA, Jim Bridenstine. Yeah, "Bridenstine." It sounds less like a NASA official and more like a wedding show on TLC.

Former FBI Director James Comey was interviewed on ABC last night, and he said that Trump often changes his story and contradicts himself. In response, Trump said, "Yes I don't."
