Central Texas Votes for the 100 Best businesses and services of 2018

Central Texas communities are extremely involved with their neighborhood businesses and understand quality, which is why nearly 40,000 votes came in for this year's Central Texas' 100 Best reader's poll.

Each year, we at the Daily Herald look forward to the Central Texas' 100 Best reader's poll and publication. From receiving ballots to announcing the winners, we enjoy the opportunity to interact with our readers and Central Texas neighbors.

The process was initiated in August when we began publishing the official ballot in the Daily Herald. The ballot asks our readers to tell us where to find the best businesses and services in 100 different categories.

As part of the procedure, ballots are only counted if a name, address and phone number is provided. Ballots that do not have this information are discarded. We uphold this policy in an effort to prevent ballot box stuffing and to ensure the most accurate results to our survey.

Daily Herald readers were able to submit ballots through September 17. Once the polls are closed, we begin to count the submitted votes.

Winners are placed into two categories: "Best" and "One of the Best." The first-place winner in a category is named "Best", and the three runners-up are named "One of the Best."

Every business that wins is given a certificate of recognition and the opportunity to purchase a banner with the official "100 Best" logo, which changes every year.

As you shop around town, go out to eat, have your vehicle serviced, you will notice these certificates and banners displayed by the businesses that won.

This gives the business credibility since locals are the ones who voted for those establishments and made them the best in their category.

The Central Texas' 100 Best reader's poll is a unique opportunity for us at the Killeen Daily Herald to learn where our readers go to find the best products and services in the area.

We appreciate your participation and are amazed at the continued growth and interest in this poll. Each year, we receive more ballots than the last for this publication! With excitement, we now announce the results of the 2018 Central Texas' 100 Best reader's poll.

Thank you to our readers and congratulations to the winners! We look forward to counting your votes in 2019.

Congratulations to the following businesses!
