The Sylvan Lake Improvement Association, Inc.

– Since 1908 –

The origin of Sylvan Lake dates back to the 1836-37 Indiana Legislature’s authorization for construction of a ship canal from Michigan City to Fort Wayne, passing through the Elkhart River. This canal, by agreement with Ohio and Pennsylvania, was to connect Lake Michigan and Lake Erie. To provide a navigable feeder, a dam was built across a tributary of the Elkhart River, forming the lake now known as Sylvan Lake at Rome City. The work on the canal was abandoned after the state had expended $200,000 and found they had undertaken too much due to the railroad procuring a charter to build in this part of Indiana.

Rome City is the largest community in Orange Township, Noble County, and encompasses Sylvan Lake with a shoreline of 16 miles and covering some 640 acres, making it the largest of the 147 lakes in Noble County.

The Sylvan Lake Improvement Association was officially incorporated on August 19, 1908 by Fred A. Sims, Secretary of State. The officers were William J. Hosey, President; John A. Jennings, Vice-President; Robert S. Moses, Secretary; J.B. Niezer, Treasurer; and Peter Hekenuis, Director. The original by-laws called for five members of the board of directors.

As stated in the 1908 State Charter, the object of this incorporation is "to improve and conserve generally the natural beauty and facilities for recreation and advance the welfare of SYLVAN LAKE, to cooperate in and contribute to any program designed for further sanitation, wildlife conservation, highway improvements, utility service and any other move toward our mutual benefits..."

Since its formation in 1941, H.B. 273 was passed by the Indiana legislature, which prohibits the lowering of Sylvan Lake. Prior to 1941 it was custom to lower the level of Sylvan Lake each fall and raise it each spring. This practice resulted in much controversy among landowners around the lake. As a result H.B. 273 was passed making it unlawful to lower the water level of any lake containing more than 20 acres more than 12 inches below the high water mark established by the dam creating the lake.

In the early 1960s it became apparent that the association was facing a much more serious problem than the yearly posting of speed limit signs and warning buoys or removing debris. The growth of algae had become so abundant that it was killing Sylvan Lake. The Board of Directors and the membership were determined to save the lake. The directors sought guidance on how to fight the algae problem. The course of action presented to them by the Sanitary Engineering Division of the State Board of Health was the use of copper sulfate.

In 1965, Sylvan Lake was again lowered at the request of the association for a period of 30 days. The lowering was done for clean-up and beach maintenance and to check for septic systems flowing into the lake. It was hoped that lowering the water level would also help control the algae problem.

During 1963-64, Dr. Wetzel, of Indiana University, conducted studies of Sylvan Lake. Dr. Wetzel spoke to the association at the 1966 Annual Meeting and described the lake as one of the most productive lakes in the world. He termed it "hyper-eutrophic." In 1967, the DNR conducted the first fisheries study.

Between 1962 and 1972, the association was given dedicated service by many directors, four who took on added responsibility as president. Those men included Matthew Junk, Keith Marks, Samuel Adams and Loy Reitz. Others served before them, unnamed here, but equally deserving in recognition. Joe Costello served as president from August 1972 until March 1985. From 1985 until 1992 the association was presided over by Dennis Parr and John Kessen. With Mr. Kessen's resignation in 1992, Joe Costello was again asked to serve as president and he agreed to serve a one year term.

On April 11, 1974, Sylvan Lake was hit by a tornado, causing severe damage to property and resulting in the lowering of the lake from July 1974 to March 1975. The association worked hard to remove debris left by the tornado. Also in 1974, the town of Rome City began planning a wastewater collection system and treatment facility, at a cost of nearly three million dollars. It was completed in 1975. Lake residents who formerly had individual septic systems were connected to the municipal facility and Kendallville upgraded its wastewater treatment facility to reduce nutrient inputs into Sylvan Lake.

On December 3, 1975, the first meeting was held to explore the possibility of a research-based experiment to lower the lake for a couple of years to improve water quality. The project was headed by Dr. David Eberly of Manchester College. During 1976-77, efforts to secure funds from the EPA for the project were unsuccessful. In 1978, funds became available and the project officially began.

The IDNR conducted seven fish population surveys by 1976. Fish harvest surveys were conducted in 1977 and in 1981. On September 19, 1984, the IDNR conducted a total fish eradication and restocking project at Sylvan Lake. This project, one of the largest of its kind ever conducted in Indiana, involved the application of a chemical fish toxicant called rotenone to the lake and to many of its incoming tributaries. Within a month after treatment, fish restocking was underway. During the fall of 1984 and the spring of 1985, bass, bluegill, catfish and walleye fry were stocked.

The fish eradication project was seven years in the making. Through the efforts of State Senator Bob Meeks, $200,000 was appropriated for the fish kill.

On May 17, 1988, Sylvan Lake Improvement Association was awarded $15,300 for a feasibility study on the Lake Enhancement T-2000 Program. Due to the efforts of State Representative Brad Fox and State Senator Robert Meeks, the Association has been assured of $100,000 toward the design and implementation of this water filtering system. The Association agreed to pay 25% of the project up to $25,000.

In December 1992, a couple owning property two houses from the spillway became concerned because the rear of their property was sluffing away. The town board determined there was nothing the town could do so the couple contacted state officials and the DNR and SEMA were brought in to look at the problem. In February 1993, the dam was considered unsafe and in May 1993, the DNR ordered the lake lowered 7.2 feet to relieve the stress to the embankments. State officials determined seepage from the dam posed a threat to area property owners. The state provided $200,000 to study the dam and assigned the engineering firm of Fisher & Lawson to the project. In February 1994, the state asked the court to temporarily allow the level of Sylvan Lake to remain at the lower level and the court ruled that water would need to begin returning to the normal level by May 15, 1995. In September 1994, the Governor declared the dam an emergency situation and announced $5.3 million was allocated to the project. A contract was awarded to Reith/Riley Construction, based on the engineering plan of Fisher/Lawson, for the rehabilitation of the earthen embankment, abandoning the existing spillway, and constructing a more adequate spillway system. The state went back to court and received an extension of the May 15, 1995 date for completion of the project to September 30, 1995. The dam was completed in September 1995, and the lake level was returned to normal after 2 1/2 years.

Construction of the Weir Dam, the Water Filtering T-2000 Project, had completed the design phase and was scheduled for construction in 1993, but was put on hold because of the lowering of the lake level. When the lake level was returned to normal in September 1995, the process for construction of the Weir Dam at the east end of Pit Basin began again. Approval to proceed was received in the fall of 1997 and the contract was awarded to L.L. Genes, Inc. Construction began in March 1998, and was completed in July 1998.

To enable the Association to raise the money for the T-2000, the Association began hosting bingo at the Rose Garden in Kendallville. In June 1994, the Association ceased bingo operations in Kendallville and began looking for an alternative site. The Masonic Lodge building on S.R. 9, south of Rome City, was for sale. The Association purchased the building for $110,000 and decided to add a 1,500 sq. ft. addition to the original 3,900 sq. ft. building. A new kitchen was installed, along with new bathrooms, storage rooms, game room and offices. Three smoke eaters were installed, exhaust fans, new furnace, air conditioning units, a new well, soft water system and sound system. Association members have benefited through completion of the Weir Dam T-2000 Project, the Reassessment Project, spraying the lake for weeds, providing the lake patrol and buoys, the annual Member Dinner, Christmas decorations and fireworks. In 1999, the Association and the town of Rome City entered into an agreement to pave roads around the lake and in town that normally would take the town several years to complete. By gifting the project approximately $65,000 and an interest-free loan of $171,000 to the town for 10 years, the roads were completed in the fall of 1999.

The Sylvan Lake Improvement Association has paid between $10,000 and $30,000 annually for weed control and water quality for several years. In addition, the association entered into a project with the Lare program. The Sylvan Lake Association received $20,000 in 2007, $26,000 in 2008, and $77,000 in 2009. Through the efforts of the Association volunteers, bingo continues to enable the Association to donate funds throughout the community.

Preserving Camp Big Island

In May 2007, the Association purchased CAMP BIG ISLAND, approximately 110 acres on the lake, for $1,250,000. This was known as BOY SCOUT ISLAND for many years. This culminated in 20 years of effort to acquire the island to keep it in its natural state and from being developed. Phase 1 has been successfully completed, and the Association retired the loan in order to save interest and in anticipation of receiving pledge money to pay the Association.

You are encouraged to continue your membership and support and encourage new residents to join our ranks. In this way, the Sylvan Lake Improvement Association will continue to provide the leadership to support the homeowners and the community.
