“Sip & Smile Auburn Style” welcomes visitors

BY KATHRYN BASSETT

kbassett@kpcmedia.com

AUBURN — Time travelers, apes, honey bees and fallen heroes are among the themes and subjects depicted on patio bars around downtown Auburn as part of the Downtown Auburn Business Association and Auburn Main Street summer art exhibit.

“Sip & Smile Auburn Style” is made up of 20 wooden patio bars featuring art created by local and regional artists. The bars were built by local carpenter Craig Presley from 4 Quarter Wood Products of Pleasant Lake. The exhibit has been sponsored by individuals, businesses and organizations and will remain on display through Labor Day.

This is the 15th outdoor summer art exhibit DABA and Auburn Main Street have presented.

An art walk took place July 11 when artists share the inspirations for their work and the techniques they used to create their bars. The walk is free and open to the public.

enforcement in their bar, “Cheers to the Heroes.” The bar is dedicated in memory of Indiana State Police Master Trooper James Bailey of Auburn, who was killed in the line of duty on Interstate 69 in March 2023.

The bar top features a display of patches from DeKalb County police and marshal’s departments, as well as casings and a pair of handcuffs. The front of the bar shares the message, “In VALOR There is HOPE.” One side of the bar pays tribute to Indiana fallen officers of 2023, listing each by name. The other side of the bar is dedicated in memory of fallen K9s, which are described as partners, friends and family.

The bar is sponsored by the Auburn Police Department and is located outside of Auburn City Hall.

In her bar, entitled “Playstation,” artist Alisha Getts Murphy features popular family and children’s games, such as Mousetrap, Trouble, Monopoly, Sorry and Clue. A side panel of the bar offers an interactive version of Plinko. The bar’s top is decorated with two checker boards.

Sandy Cisco used bottle caps to create an image of two hands toasting with drinks on the patio bar entitled “Cheers!”

Artists Jim Littlejohn and Kendyl Smith reflect on the pastime of fishing in “A Good Morning Catch,” while Tia Hackbush pays tribute to nature’s workers, bees, in “The Bumble Bar.”

Nature trails of DeKalb County are featured on “Hike DeKalb County” by Tara McClure Shrock. “It’s My Party” by Paige Marks shows a woman in a wide-brimmed hat with a cocktail in hand.

Tiny solar lights are used to illuminate night stars featured on Jeremy Miller's patio bar, "Evening Under the Big Sky."

Artist Crystal Suttle uses bold greens and bright orange and yellow on her patio bar, "Mid Modern Emerald Oasis." A bright floral motif with flower coasters inviting guests to "drink here" are featured on "Rae of Sunshine" by Bethany Crowe.

Artists Jessica and Shaun Green include interactive activities on their bar, "Art Central," with visitors invited to use paddles to hit the tops of pipes to make a song, open windows to see various works of art and use pages to learn more about the works and artists.

John Platt IV spells out "cheers" in many different languages on his bar, "iubentium."

end of the exhibit. The University of St. Francis Art Department will select its choices for the top three bars, based on artistic criteria. Members of the public are invited to use a ballot included in an exhibit brochure to vote for their three favorite bars. The People's Choice scores will be combined with the university's scoring to determine the winners. Completed ballots should be turned in to Carbaugh Jewelers in downtown Auburn by Sept. 1.

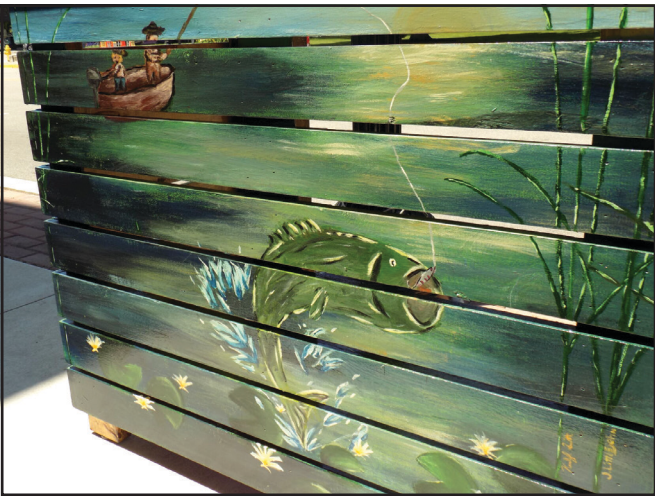

The patio bars will be available for purchase at the "Sip & Smile" annual "FUNdraising" dinner auction on Sept. 11. Proceeds from the event will go to fund future summer art exhibits and other events and activities throughout the year in downtown Auburn.

Participating artists and their works are: "It's My Party," by Paige Marks; "The Curse of the Kraken," by Cassandra Shulenburg and Allison Hale; "Cheers!" by Sandy Cisco; "Time Travelers," by Kathy Minnich; "Art Central," by Jessica and Shaun Green; "Evening Under the Big Sky," by Jeremy Miller; "Hike DeKalb County," by Tara McClure Shrock; "Rae of Sunshine," by Bethany Crowe; "Honky Tonk," by Michael Marks; "Paradise by Jenny Huth; "A Good Morning Catch," by Kendyl Smith and Jim Littlejohn; "Suds & Sunsets," by Shellie Bellinger; "Tailgaitin' & Tales," by Sonia J.
