

To whom It Concerns,

During the Republican spring kick off I made two headline grabbing statements. The first was Socialist should be shot or imprisoned. The second was the Constitution authorized this response. Plainly my statement, which, review of the event video by unbiased observers would confirm, was a well received joke. Though delivered and perceived as a joke, my statement was totally inappropriate. Not offered as a defense. My voting record is 100% Pro-life and strictly conforms to the United States Constitution which protects political beliefs and speech.

Our President is daily called a racist. Congresswomen Alexandria Ocasio-recently said America was a Nation of fascists. Our nation was denigrated in the eyes of a hostile world as democrat "leaders", seeking political advantage, tried to build a case of treason against our President. Rep Llan Omar is consistent in her ant-Semitism. Pearl Jam has a poster of a dead- decomposing Trump and Sen. Tester jumping a tractor over a flaming White House. Tester decried the poster then brought a brick of tickets to the concert to use a fundraiser. Kathy Griffin used a picture of a decapitated Trump as a sight gag. Yes, my anger has been growing from examples like these for some time: also for the one-sided coverage of these events. I apologize for letting them influence me and for having sunk to their level.

When Rep. Rashida (d-Mi) called President Trump a Mother Fer Speaker Pelosi refused to censure saying she was not in the censorship business. Press coverage did not go on for days. A self proclaimed socialist was elected to the Montana Legislature. Republican ""leadership"" never mentioned that House Democrats voted lockstep with the socialist. House "" leadership"" never went on record criticizing the dozens of Republicans that joined the liberal caucus ensnaring 94,000 Montanas in long termed poverty through Enhanced Medicaid. Where was Republican leadership's united outrage when one Republican voted to not criminalize killing a baby that survived abortion? Please excuse me while, in light of your hypocrisy, I ignored your calls for my resignation. I have apologized, will you?
