

MEDICAL DIRECTORY 2017

A guide to physicians and healthcare providers
serving Lancaster County

This is where I live.
And now it's where I'll live
in health and harmony.

— Mike, Primary Care Patient

When I turned 50 my doctor noticed some changes in my health. Not big things, just small stuff. I was glad I had the LG Health Physicians' team as my partner. They help me make the right choices — from preventative care and screenings to next-day appointments. Now I spend less time worrying about my health, and more time doing what I love. And that's the most beautiful sound in the world.

SPINE SURGERY: Should I Get a Second Opinion?

Dr. Louis A. Marotti
Answers Your Questions.

QUESTION: Why should a patient get a second opinion?

ANSWER: Surgical decision-making can be complicated, and not all surgeons see things the same way. Also, if you do not feel you "click" with a surgeon's bedside manner, a second opinion is a good idea.

QUESTION: When should I get the second opinion?

ANSWER: Anytime! Never feel as though you are hurting the surgeon's feelings. Second opinions are common and highly recommended. If a surgeon takes offense, consider that a red flag. Also, if a surgeon tells you they cannot help you or that nothing else can be done to help you, you should certainly get a second opinion.

QUESTION: What symptoms should cause me to seek a second opinion?

ANSWER: If you are experiencing ongoing pain, numbness, tingling or weakness after a previous surgery; if your surgery did not produce the desired outcome; if your surgery made you worse than you were before; or if you are confused or frustrated by the answers your surgeon is giving you, getting a second opinion would be warranted.

QUESTION: Which doctor from Argires Marotti Neurosurgical Associates of Lancaster would I seek an appointment with for my symptoms?

ANSWER: You would make an appointment with the same type of provider you were seeing before. Our neurosurgeons would offer you a second opinion if you saw a neurosurgeon or spine surgeon previously. If you have any questions or are not sure who to see, simply give us a call; we would be glad to help you.
