

A Message from Lancaster Newspapers

Lancaster Newspapers' mission is to provide a means to communicate news and information directly to all residents of Lancaster County. We recognize that while our readers have many different interests and values, every reader looks to us to weave news and information of Lancaster County's people into a daily chronicle of our community.

Engagement, marriage and anniversary announcements are meaningful expressions of love and caring and deserve to be published. We have reconsidered our previous position on this issue and we will publish all such announcements within our Celebrations pages in the Sunday News. We are publishing these announcements without passing judgment, in an effort to fully serve our community and all of our readers.

We appreciate the many comments we received on this issue. Interacting with our readers has been and will continue to be very important to us.
