

LancasterOnline Comments Guidelines

We welcome your feedback. In an effort to maintain a civil forum for the exchange of opinions and ideas, we ask that you adhere to the following guidelines:

- Comments should be relevant to the article.
- Do not personally attack the subject of a story, other commenters and/or the author(s) of a story.
- Profanity, obscene photos/memes and disparaging remarks targeting someone based on their ethnicity, religion, gender, sexual orientation, appearance and medical condition are prohibited.
- Comments should not include anyone's personal information (i.e.: phone number, address).
- Do not incite other commenters.
- No spam.
- Comments using double entendre are prohibited.
- Avoid using all caps.

LNP/LancasterOnline reserves the right to remove comments and ban users who do not meet these guidelines.

LancasterOnline uses Facebook Comments Plugin, which means readers who would like to comment on our stories must have a Facebook account. Read Facebook's Community Standards.

If you have something to say or information to pass along to the author of a story but are not comfortable posing it in our comment section, just click on the story's author's name for information to contact them directly.