

NICKOS CHIMNEY COMPANY

If you've had work done by Nickos before, there's a chance you got a chance to chat with Renee, the lady who helps make the magic happen. A staple at the company for 8 years now, she is the one who handles sales & scheduling of all their wonderful products and services.

Renee was looking for a different career path when she happened to see an available role with the team, and there was something about having memories of growing up with a wood burning fireplace that gave her a feeling that this could become her new home. She loves to learn new things, and this new venture gave her ample opportunity to do so. Even now, Renee says one of her favorite aspects of the job is that she still adds new information to that knowledge bank every day.

Beyond the excitement for the work itself, Renee loves her team at Nickos. They've turned into family over the years, which is a value she holds with high regard. Being a mom has always been her #1 role, and outside of her work family, you can catch her spending time entertaining and running her son around. They can find themselves doing all sorts of activities, including watching scary movies together.

Regardless of the task at hand, Renee takes pride in any work that she does, and she always gives her best efforts and maintains a positive attitude. It's helped her accomplish her goals thus far, and she hopes it takes her even farther, eventually on a dream trip to Ireland & Germany!

Until then, she's committed to making your fireplace dreams come true, so be sure to stop by and let her help you make it happen!
