was disabled, and explained about the "Wood Angels" and how it worked, and that Ryan was the co-founder of that organization. also disclosed that her uncle's chimney was clogged, and offered to help find a chimney sweep for her uncle. told how long she had lived in Amador and that she was a fourth-generation resident and where her family came from. invited and her son to a baseball BBQ, but could not make it do to custody arraignments with dad. said she had never been invited to the BBQ before because it was first year.

said Coach Ryan had never had any conversation with her and did not see Coach Ryan the day of the incident because he rarely attends games or practices. She had seen Coach Ryan twice since the incident and he did not try and speak with believed that was more concerned about Coach Ryan's career or his standing in the election

I asked why she waited for so long to come forward to make the report. said whether it was her own state of mind or not, she felt intimidated. She did not want her son to pay for it. said she believed that play time had been cut back since the incident occurred. She gave the example that would play the infield for the whole game. Now he was put in left field for two or three innings. She said has not been happy. said she had not noticed any changes at school.

End of Statement

I asked that if she was willing to speak with Coach Ryan while we listened in by phone since she had not spoken to him since the incident and now might be a good time. She agreed and I had her briefly step back out of the room. She returned and using her cell phone dialed Coach Ryan Gillaspie's telephone number that she already had listed in her contacts. The following is a synopsis of the audio recorded conversation she had with Coach Ryan which was later loaded into Evidence.Com at the El Dorado DA's Office.
