

Successful moves for seniors with less stress

Stephanie Parson

Mature Move Solutions can make a senior's next move easy peasy. The company's focus is helping older adults take the next step to downsize, find the perfect place and move smoothly.

It was an idea owner Stephanie Parson had because of a need she saw.

"I've been selling real estate for 19 years now, and I found myself working with an older population. They were telling me 'I need to move; I can't do the stairs for the laundry anymore; I don't need all this space,'" Parson said.

But they don't know where to start.

"It's overwhelming to move no matter what age you are," Parson said.

Mature Move Solutions helps older adults get unstuck. They help place seniors in their next home, whether that is a smaller house, a rented space or a retirement community. They help sell their home and assist with the task of downsizing their belongings.

"As Americans, we are big consumers, savers and fill the space we have," Parson said. "Now they have to decide what to take and what to leave behind and what to do with the things they are leaving behind."

Mature Move Solutions helps them make those decisions, works on space planning for their new home to decide what furniture to take and where the things they leave behind are going to go. They get movers lined up and arrange an auction or estate sale to sell those things they no longer need.

The result is making a difficult transition into a smooth one and giving seniors a new clean start for the next chapter, Parson said. Give Mature Move Solutions a call, and find out how easy moving can be. They also sponsor a free, monthly educational seminar, The Seniors Empowerment Truth Series to help Seniors stay informed on senior topics.
