Foundry Art Camp provides children ages 6 to 14 the opportunity to engage with art and participate in activities that encourage creative collaboration, develop artistic skills, and showcase the innovative ways that art impacts the world. From painting in plein air to creating native gardens to tie-dyeing, campers will make individual works of art to take home and share with family and friends. The Foundry's week-long, full-day art camps foster self-expression through social and environmental engagements. Each session features its own theme and creative outlet. Register for more than one session for a fun-filled summer!
