

Customized transportation for special needs

Ronda Meriweather,
owner

Sometimes people need a little help getting where they need to go. Whether it is a trip home from the hospital, a doctor's appointment, dentist appointment or any non-medical event, Transport-U can help!

"Transportation is what we do," said Ronda Meriweather, owner. "We are transporting people who are unable to drive themselves to non-emergency events, such as doctor and dentist appointments, the airport, family events or leisure trips,"

"We are not Uber; we are not Lyft; and we are not a cab company," Ronda said.

"The difference between Transport-U and those other services is that we are dedicated to handle a situation when someone has a medical issue. After a procedure, hospitals are restricted on who they can release patients to when they are medicated because patients may be sick, dizzy or nauseous."

All staff, drivers, dispatchers, office staff including Ronda are trained in CPR and AED and have taken special driving courses which educate drivers on how to handle passengers with special conditions that need customized care like people who are visually or hearing impaired.

Transport-U's vehicles are wheelchair and gurney accessible.

"We love our seniors," Ronda said. "Most of our customers live in senior communities and do not live close to family who can help."

Family members who live outside of Missouri often rely on these services, entrusting their loved ones will be safely transported to their destination.

Transport-U is a private pay company located in the Chesterfield area and provides transportation in a 30-mile radius as well as rural communities.
