

Transform your concrete in just a day

Husband and wife Robin and Robin Brown (yes, they have the same name) are celebrating their fifth year as owners of Garage Force of St. Louis West.

Serving western St. Louis and St. Charles counties, the company specializes in the installation of polyurea coatings for floors, porches, patios, walkways and pool decks. Additionally, they offer garage storage solutions that include cabinets and slat walls. Garage Force was named the National Coating Company of the Year in 2024. Wife Robin explains one of the reasons why.

"Not only do we offer the highest quality coating systems, but we also have very competitive pricing and strive for 100% customer satisfaction. Our CycloSpartic Polyurea coatings have stronger adhesion, better bonding, and more flexibility than epoxy systems or even traditional polyaspartic coatings."

Garage Force offers the Full Chip System, which is what most people picture when they imagine a coated garage floor, as well as their trademarked Medici and Metallic systems. These are beautiful, upgraded systems that are a popular choice for basements.

"Often people think they may need new concrete, but we can very often repair the floor, install our coating system, and it looks beautiful. Plus, it's protected from further damage," Robin explained. Our floors repel all liquids, are easy to clean, installed in just one day, and come with a lifetime warranty."

Robin and Robin love working together in their community and prioritize personal connections with customers and providing top-notch customer service. They not only share a name but also a desire to ensure that every customer absolutely loves their new floor. To get the process started, simply call Robin to set up an on-site appointment, which will include a project site inspection, moisture reading, measurements and a discussion of options and pricing.
