

Experience counts

Jeff and Sharon Balleau, founders

Sharon and Jeff Balleau, along with their compassionate team of senior care advocates, understand how overwhelming the search for senior living can be. As a locally owned company, Transitions for Senior Living provides unbiased guidance at no cost to you, helping seniors and their families navigate every step of the journey with confidence, clarity, and compassion.

Their personalized approach takes into account each client's physical, cognitive, financial, and social needs to recommend the most appropriate senior living options. With over 14 years of experience and certification as dementia practitioners, the team helps families find the right fit—whether independent living, assisted living, memory care or skilled nursing.

Beyond personalized recommendations, Transitions for Senior Living educates families, connects them with trusted local resources and provides hands-on support throughout the decision-making process.

"We meet with families, narrow the search to the top three to five options, and accompany them on community tours, helping them ask the right questions and understand the level of care each community provides," said Jeff Balleau.

"Our services are free, because your peace of mind is priceless."
