

Coming up – a mystery and a musical

Aida, 2023

The 37th STAGES season is underway with Broadway-quality theatre at The Ross Family Theatre in the Kirkwood Performing Arts Center at 210 E. Monroe Ave. in Kirkwood.

The season began in June when STAGES presented Tim Rice and Elton John's timeless love story, "Aida". Upcoming productions include the first play at STAGES in over 30 years based on the whodunnit board game, "Clue" which runs from July 21- August 20. After the mystery is solved, get ready for the rock-n-roll smash hit featuring the music of Elvis Presley, Jerry Lee Lewis, Carl Perkins, and Johnny Cash in "Million Dollar Quartet" (September 8-October 8). For details on show times and tickets, visit stagesstlouis.org.

To date, STAGES professionals have produced 106 musicals with nearly 3,600 performances, playing to more than one million patrons.

"STAGES is proud to present productions that employ both Broadway actors as well as some of the best local talent St. Louis has to offer," said Executive Producer Andrew Kuhlman. "We pride ourselves on being a community-based organization first and foremost.."

All productions are fully accessible to individuals with disabilities, and each season, STAGES provides hundreds of complimentary tickets to underserved populations, including low-income seniors.

STAGES St. Louis also houses the STAGES Performing Arts Academy, which offers courses and camps for students ages 2-18, as well as adults. Unique to the St. Louis region, the Performing Arts Academy also offers the Access the Arts program, which enables neurodiverse youth and adults, as well as students living with disabilities, to fully participate in musical theatre arts.
