Barnum council prepares for spring

EDITOR@MLSTARGAZETTE.COM

Residents of Barnum will soon be able to sign up for an email or text message alert system.

The council approved spending $295 annually for the service. A water main break last week in town that caused some residents to be without water for an estimated six or seven hours would have been an ideal use for this system according to Brett Collier, public works supervisor.

As Spring approaches the council is beginning to plan for large scale construction on the City Hall, Municipal Liquor and Community Center construction project as well as the upcoming camping season at Bear Lake Coordinating construction, demolition and events in the city was discussed as a future area of coordination between the council, clerk and construction committee. An estimated start time for construc-tion is April 15. Within the next few months the council will need to be ready for large forward progress on the project. Clerk, Shelley Hagen, and Kris Asperheim, Deputy Clerk, are also looking into possibly having area events to boost city income. These events will need to be carefully coordinated around construction and demolition schedules.

Mayor Jason Goodwin brought the issue of Hanging Horn Public Access up for review. Previously the city was reviewing ways they could get rid of the property, but the issue was forgotten. Hagen and Asperheim are reviewing details about the property for the next council meeting. Confusion over the cost of maintenance for the property, including portable bathroom facilities and garbage removal will also be reviewed.

Finding a supervisor for Bear Lake Campground and approving a contract for that position was reviewed by the council. Two parties are interested in running the campground for the upcoming season, additional discussion between the two interested parties and the council will be taking place. Seasonal Recreational Vehicle sites have already been reserved for the

County approves new round of money for business relief

DAN REED

EVERGREEN@MLSTARGAZETTE.COM

Fifty-four local small businesses and non-profits were approved by the Carlton County Board of Commissioners using $691,466.50 of COVID-19 County Relief money provided to the County from the State of Minnesota Legislature. All grants must be awarded by March 15 and the funds distributed by April 1.

71 proposals came in for review. After a recommendation from the CARES ACT committee, the County Board approved the plan at their Regular Meeting on March 9.

Legislative intent was to customize grant recipients on impact/loss and need. The focus on this round of awards was for business es that had fallen through the cracks of the earlier Department of Revenue/local economic development efforts to fulfill the guidelines of the earlier Federal CARES ACT funding or now needed more financial help.

Non-profits that did not depend on a business for income and that received a grant in the first round of funding were not given money this time. A local VFW that runs a bar to fund their organization, for example, would be eligible this

A review group of Commissioner Bodie, Donna Lekander, Mary Finnegan, Brenda Nyberg, and

of time in the process.

Labor negotiations continue for the current fiscal year. Upon recommendation from County Coordinator Dennis Genereau and the negotiations team, the County Board approved a 1.75% salary increase for non-represented and confidential staff and a 1.75% increase for those County employees represented by two local union bargaining units. Increases are to be paid from the first pay period in January of this 2021 budget year.

Commissioner Gary Peterson voted no on the labor settlement. After the meeting he said via phone, "My goal has been since I was elected to the Board to try to hold spending increases to a minimum. In this time of COVID-19 much of our local economy and the lives of our local citizens has been disrupted. People are hurting out there. We must look at every way we can keep the burden off the local property tax levy.

Zoning Administrator Heather Cunningham presented her annual departmental report. 55 new houses were built in the County, up from the preceding year at 45. In overall inspections of existing systems, failed septic system inspections fell from 17% to 10%. Overall, there was $14.5 million in new construction in 2020.

The Minnesota House of Representatives Tax Committee is having hearings on local governments that want to raise funds for local projects using the local sales tax option. The Carlton County Board gave the Economic Development Director Mary Finnegan permission to request ½ % sales tax authority for 30 years and raise \$60 million for a new jail complex adjacent to the Carlton County Courthouse. The authority to levy the $\frac{1}{2}$ % sales ends when the jail proposal bonding is paid for.

This doesn't mean that the project is going to cost $60 million but instead makes sure enough funds are available for whatever the plan for a jail chosen does cost. The local voters of Carlton County must vote on the levying of the ½ % sales tax before it becomes a reality. The jail construction would otherwise be paid for by a property tax levy increase. The Minnesota Department of Corrections is sun setting the current County jail in the summer of 2023.

Auditor/Treasurer Kathy Korteum is retiring this year, she announced to the Board. She asked that the job be posted to find a new person by May. After the new person is hired, Korteum will over lap her job duties to help smoothly transition the changes in staffing.

Six myths about physical therapy

"I've been exercising less." "I spend so much more time sitting than I ever used to." "I stopped exercises last year when the gyms closed and have not resumed." "I used to be more active for my job, but now I work from home and sit all day." These are the statements I hear on a daily basis since the onset of COVID-19. The severe lack of physical activity is a national health crisis too. As a Doctor of Physical Therapy, this is something I am passionate about addressing in our greater commu-

Whatever barriers prevent you from enjoying the many critical health benefits of physical activity, physical therapists and physical therapist assistants will partner with you to get you moving. Let's take a brief look at what physical therapy is, and then shatter some common myths and assumptions about physical therapy.

Physical Therapy is treatment provided by a licensed physical therapist (PT) or physical therapist assistant (PTA) that helps people improve their movement and physical function, manage pain and other chronic conditions, and recover from and prevent injur and chronic disease. Physical therapists are movement experts who improve quality of life through hands-on care, patient education, and prescribed movement/exer-

6 ASSUMPTIONS ABOUT PHYSICAL THERAPY:

Physical Therapy is only needed after an injury.

While it is common to have physical therapy after an acute injury, or surgery such as a total knee replacement, that is not the only time to seek treatment from a physical therapist. Did you know, PTs also treat diagnoses such as vertigo and pelvic health concerns like pelvic pain, urinary incontinence, and constipation. Or, maybe, like the opening statements of this column, your physical condition has changed over the past year, and exercise has become painful, or your mobility is limiting you from doing the activities you enjoy- these are perfect reasons to seek physical therapy treatment.

Physical Therapy is just exercise.

Physical therapy consists of a variety of treatment interventions. Once you are evaluated by your physical therapist, you and the PT will work together to determine a treatment plan that consists of personalized exercises, education, hands on treatment (manual therapy) and occasionally, modalities. All of these interventions work together to help achieve your goals for therapy.

Physical Therapy is painful.

PTs work alongside you to minimize your pain and discomfort. They work within your pain threshold to help you heal, and restore movement and function. Your PT can help you learn to

March antique appraisals

ROSS ANDERSON EVERGREEN@MLSTARGAZETTE.

Antique Appraisals, with Steve Wesely of Cresent Auctioneering were held on Tuesday. March 2 in the Soo Line Event Center at the Moose Lake Area Historical Society. Sixteen participants attended the event.

The first "Star of the Show" was a pair of Springfield muskets with bayonets. The first was from 1818 and the second from 1873. They were both in remarkable condition. The owner indicated that they were still fireable. Steve valued each of them at $1,000 + The 1873 rifle was fitted with a sheathe over the bayonet that Steve valued at $250.

The second "Star of the Show" was a book "Deeds of Valor" A Civil War History, published in 1916. The book had some conditions issues. but was still valued at $50-100.

The third "Star of the Show" was a Zenith portable radio, housed in a suitcase, circa 1930. There were some minor condition issues with the case. It plugged in, no batteries. This item was valued at $60-100.

The fourth "Star of the Show" was a crystal, hand carved water pitcher. This item, circa 1920, or earlier, was made in a mold. It would have held a quart ous of liquid. It was valued at $60-80.

A display rack for a shirt or a blouse was shown along with a manakin bust that also fit on the rack. Steve had much fun with these items. The rack was valued at $15-20 and the bust at $50-60.

A large galvanized tapered metal container was shown. It was quite large. The placement of the handle, quite near the top would have made pouring something from it difficult. No idea what it was meant to be used for. Current use is a vase for cat tails. This item thought to be circa 1900 was valued at $40-50

A brass padlock and key, in working order was shown. This item thought to be circa 1920 was valued at $40.

A padlock and Key, circa 1860 was shown. This was also in working condition. Estimated value to be $50-60.

A U.S. Forest Service compass in a wooden case was shown. This item still in working condition, circa 1900 was valued at $40-60.

A potato planter, circa 1900 was shown. This item is still being used by the presenter. It was not in the greatest condition, but still usable. It was valued at $10-15.

A hammered aluminium salad bowl was shown. This item. circa 1950 was "cast", not pressed as most other aluminium tableware was at the time. Its value is

A mink coat was shown. This item, circa 1935, was in pretty good shape, but hadn't been worn for 60+ years. Lining was very decorative. Estimated value $20-25.. Ladies just don't wear fur any more.

A Jensenware creamer was shown. The sugar bowl has been "lost" Estimated value was $15-17.

A Stanley eight inch plane, circa 1940 was shown. It was in very good condition. Estimated value $50-70.

A nail puller was shown. Still in very usable condition. Estimated value $15-20.

An interesting group today. We gained two new memberships. The next appraisals will be on April 6.

Rebels hit 20 three-point shots in Aurora

MARY ELLEN DEWEY
RECIPE@PINECOUNTYCOURIER.COM

It was Spring Break at school this past week and the Moose Lake Willow River boys' basketball team (12-3) had three games, all on the road. Monday, March 1, they traveled over two hours to Melrose, Thursday, March 4, they were at Duluth Marshall, and Saturday, they made the long trip up to Mesabi East in Aurora.

The Melrose Area Dutchmen (15-0), ranked number three in the state, made an amazing 62% of their two-point shots and 60% of their three-point shots Tuesday night. It's hard to beat a team that shoots that high. Melrose didn't have to go inside to their big guy much, because they were not missing their outside shots. They came out with pressure defense, diamond and one (1-2-1-1 press), full-court trap. The Rebels are really good at seeing the open guy and getting the ball to them. It was difficult to throw over the tall players Melrose had without it getting picked off. The press caused many turnovers and Melrose executed it very well. The Rebels got trapped in the back court in the corner and didn't have a play to counter the trap.

The game was tied 15 all into the first half but Melrose gradually pulled away. At the half, Melrose led 53-41. Melrose won the game 104-82. In the expansive gym, there are banners on the wall proclaiming Melrose as West Central Conference Champions the last eight years and they are again this year.
Mason Olson led in scoring

Mason Olson led in scoring with 22, Brady Watrin had 15 and Sam Dewey 13. Logan Orverdahl had 7, Phillip Sheetz, Landin Kurhajetz, and Chance Lunde each had 6, Duane Broughton had 4, Drew Danielson with 2 and Alex Watrin with 1. For Melrose, Grant Moscho had 29, Mason Heidgerken

Moose Lake Willow River boys' basketball won one out of their three on the road games this weekend. They lost to Melrose with a score of 104-82, they lost to Duluth Marshall with a score of 70-69 and won against Mesabit East with a score of 103-59. The Rebels play again on Friday, March 12 against Cook County, away.

24 and Rowan Nelson (6'5") had 18.

Duluth Marshall's (12-3) Thursday's game allowed Marshall Hilltoppers' parents and Marshall students but no MLWR fans. Will Carlson was filling in for Head Coach Wes Cummins. The Rebels were in the lead by 13 points (59-46) when Marshall's Oscar Timm scored on a steal, hit a pair of free throws, scored off an inbounds pass and connected on two three-pointers to take the lead 68-65 with about a minute left in the game. Carter Johnson put in a layup and Mason Olson drove in for a layup to cut Marshall's lead to one with 10.7 seconds left in the game. MLWR forced a five second call on Marshall's inbounds play and then missed a quick three-pointer. Marshall missed their free throw. Olson's layup to win the game rolled out of the basket, Johnson's rebound and put back missed as well at the buzzer. Final score was Duluth Marshall 70, MLWR 69.

Olson led the team again with 26 (6 threes), Sheetz 11, B. Watrin 10, Johnson 9, Danielson 6, Kurhajetz A. Watrin and Lunde 2, and S. Dewey 1.

Destination on Saturday was Mesabi East High School in Aurora for an afternoon game. The team was ready for a win following two losses. They scored 20 threes, 14 in the first half. Olson had 8 threes, Orvedahl 5, Sheetz 3, S. Dewey 2, Welch and Danielson each with 1 three. Measabi East Giants shot 25 free throws, making 20 of them. Hunter Hannuksela was 11 for 12. S. Dewey was the only Rebel to shoot free throws and was 1 for 2. The team was having fun. At the end of the half, MLWR led 64-37 and went on to win the game 103-59.

Olson led the Rebels with 26 points, Orvedahl 21, Sheetz 17, Kurhajetz 10, S. Dewey 9, A. Watrin 8, B. Watrin 4, Welch and Danielson 3, and Johnson 2.

Lady Rebels ending season at home on March 15

PEGGY GRANQUIST

EVERGREEN@MLSTARGAZETTE.COM

As the season winds down for the Moose Lake/Willow River (ML/WR) Lady Rebels, the girls played three games this past week against their rival Barnum, Eveleth-Gilbert and North Branch. The Rebels played three tough games but unfortunately were only able to pull out a win against Barnum.

The week started out with a game on Monday, March 1 as the girls traveled up to Eveleth to take on the Golden Bears. Both teams were evenly matched to start out the game but the Rebel shooting went cold and the Golden Bears took advantage of that and the lack of Rebel defense and started to pull away. E-G went on a 10-0 run before the Lady Rebels were able to answer with a basket of their own. ML/WR went into the locker room down 30-22.

The Golden Bears continued to have the ability to work the ball in under their own basket to get the high percentage shots as the Rebel defense had a hard time defending the E-G basket. The Rebels were able to pull within three but that was the closest ML/WR was able to get. The Lady Rebels lost 67-60.

The Barnum Bombers came to town on Thursday, March 4. As always, the game played with intensity and emotion. ML/WR quickly found themselves with a 16-0 lead and extended that lead 24-5 before the Bombers mounted a small comeback. The Lady Rebels were able to squash the attempted comeback to maintain and further extend their lead. ML/WR took a 39-21 halftime lead into the locker room.

The Rebels continued to play team ball making good passes and taking good shots. The ML/WR 3 point game heated up as well as they comprised of the first nine points of the second half and continued throughout. Rebels win 82-43.

On Friday, ML/WR traveled to North Branch but once again the Rebels had a tough time making their shots and defending the basket. Rebels lost 77-64.

ML/WR finishes out the regular season this week in Two Harbors, Cook County and Mesabi East before they play Cromwell at home.

Finally, mass vaccination rolls into our neighborhoods

DAN REED

EVERGREEN@MLSTARGAZETTE.COM

It has been a year - yes a whole year – since we have heard of this plague of COVID-19. We Americans are an independent lot and there are some, after 500,000 deaths, still insist that masks and social distancing are not necessary.

I was a product of a Minnesota education that celebrated the wonders and power of science and trusted our doctors and scientists when they said we should do something. I was in an elementary Kalevala school line that first got polio shots and other immunizations that surely protected us to lead productive lives.

The Old Ones told of death from small pox, cholera, tetanus, tuberculosis, and scarlet fever. Brothers, sisters, parents, and neighbors had been lost to these diseases and still pained the people that survived that period that remembered these dead loved ones.

I was surprised when a vaccine was available so soon. even on an emergency basis. Again, science had succeeded crafting vaccine from extensive research that had done on human cells and specifically human RNA. A major discussion on how that was done is way beyond my pay grade. Yet, as I was taught as a child to trust science and doctors, I knew I would get vaccinated to protect from the first major scourge on this country since the Spanish flu of 1918-9.

Those of us on Reed Lane in Automba above the age of 65 had been signed up for shots for some time. I was glad my 87 year old aunt got her vaccinations early in the cycle. Until now at the time of this writing, vaccine has been in short supply and demand came first come, first served. I heard people coming from Rochester. Mounds View, Forest Lake, Hinckley, and Meadowlands to get vaccinated in Moose Lake. Finally my sister and I got on a list through the Carlton County Public Health, and this last Thursday we went to the new Carlton County Transportation Building in Barnum for our first round of Moderna. It was an amazing process. In less than four hours 300 people, sitting in their cars, went through the protocol start to finish in 25 minutes per car. The longest we had to wait is 15 minutes to see if we would have a reaction to the immuni-

Transportation staff guided us through a route outside lined with reflective cones, just like a version of the vellow brick road. Just before our car moved inside the building I got a personal greeting from the County Foreman Rick Norgaard. Our cars moved down two lines in short convoys with lots of staff to guide us. We were checked and rechecked as you would be in any medical setting.

We never left our car. Seated, we put our arms on open car window cushions and we got our shot. Mine was painless. Each person got an immunization card with our next appointment. The car moved up to another place to wait 15 minutes for a reaction. We had none. Over the next two days we both experienced a little soreness around the administration area, but I thought it was nothing like those tetanus shots I have taken periodically over the years.

I did have a change of attitude. Somehow, although we need to get one more injection on March 31 at the same site, I felt somehow a peaceful feeling inside. It is comfort to have these shots and not struggle with possible infection, evolving into intensive care units and death. Even though we must still wear masks and do social distancing, a sense of hope came to me strong and

I had heard about the construction of the new Barnum garage facility from the early stages of planning at County Board meetings since I cover those as a local reporter. I was impressed.

The building glistened inside and I could see how it would aid in the service we get from the County Transportation Department. I came from a background of trucking and large woods harvesting equipment. I have seen the County equipment grow larger and larger. The days of the Oshkosh plowing out our country roads is long past.

The large bays for the trucks and equipment are needed for repair and changing attachments during the vear. In the old building, for example, the snow plows were put on outside, regardless of weather conditions. Such situations are tough weather

CARLTON COUNTY PUBLIC HEALTH I SUBMITT

A line of cars drives through the Carlton County Garage in Barnum so that passengers can receive their COVID-19 vaccines conditions to work under and opens the County for safety violations and possible insurance problems.

The new energy efficient lighting leaves no shadows in the building and as a former grease monkey, I know how poor it is to see fixing equipment in those dark places. Attachments had room enough to be stored inside the complex along the walls.

The older section of the complex was gutted and new wiring, plumbing, and insulation were installed to make the building safer and more efficient to run. Cleaning the equipment periodically will be done inside the heated building. Regular scheduled cleaning will prevent extra maintenance costs for rusted out oil pans, corroded hydraulic and air lines, and electrical service that traditionally run under equipment and in boxed in areas.

In my lifetime County garages were upgraded from frame structures spread throughout the County, to more centralized locations in the 70's, and now the Transportation Building at the Carlton Junction, the Barnum facility, and two outpost garages in Kettle River and Cromwell. And one thing for sure, the County equipment for roads will get bigger, more high tech, and more costly.

Besides being glad to get a vaccination in the Barnum Garage, I was happy for the County workers that can work daily in that facility and work for us more safely.

All PTs are the same.

While all PTs receive the same education and have to meet the same requirements to obtain their degrees and licenses, so many different factors play into each individual Physical Therapists' treatment style and areas in which they specialize, have clinical experience or have continuing education. Because of these differences, it is important that you find a PT who is a good match for working alongside you. After all, you are the most important part of your healthcare team, and it is always your choice who you see for therapy.

Your PT will tell you to stop doing what you love.

We have all heard, "if it hurts, don't do it." Often times, people are worried that if they go to physical therapy, they will be told they need to stop running, stop kneeling in the garden, stop shooting their bow and arrow or any other type of activity they enjoy The opposite is actually true, PTs strive to get you back to the activities that bring you joy by restoring movement, reducing pain, improving strength, and finding modifications for movement when needed.

Physical Therapy is expensive

One of the major reasons people don't follow through on physical therapy is due to the belief that it will cost more money. On the contrary, most people save money in the long run when they choose physical therapy first. Choosing conservative care can often allow you to avoid costly imaging, procedures/surgery, and pain medications In fact, recent research shows that therapy is just as effective or more effective than surgery to treat knee and back pain and is significantly more effective at treating chronic pain than medications. Ultimately, our goal is to help you become independent in managing your symptoms or progressing your treatment, so you don't find yourself returning for treatment over and over again.

Choose more move-ment. Choose better health. Choose Lake Area Therapy Services for physical therapy when barriers prevent you from doing what you enjoy! Our team is often the first choice for conservative yet effective treatment. Study finds pesticide widespread in Minnesota deer

MN DNR NEWS@MORAMINN.COM

Preliminary results of a study testing white-tailed deer spleens for presence of neonicotinoid pesticides show exposure of deer throughout the state, according to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

Further analysis is required to determine if the levels of exposure seen are high enough to adversely affect deer health. Additional study results related to exposure levels will be available this spring.

Neonicotinoids, often referred to as "neonics," are the most widely used class of insecticides worldwide and are found in more than 500 commercial and domestic products in the U.S. They are present in a wide array of products used for insect control in homes, gardens, yards, and crops, as well as on pets.

The DNR launched a research project in fall 2019 following a study conducted on captive deer in South Dakota that raised concerns about potential adverse effects of neonicotinoid exposure, including reduced fawn survival.

The DNR asked Minnesota deer hunters to submit spleens from their harvested wild deer. Nearly 2,000 people requested sampling kits to participate in the study and 800 spleens were collected from all areas of the

"We wanted to know if wild deer in natural settings are being exposed to neonics and if certain habitat types had a higher risk," said Michelle Carstensen, DNR's wildlife health program supervisor. "Minnesota is a great place to ask this question, as deer are dispersed across the forest, farmland, prairies, and urban landscape."

These early findings suggest concentrations found in the deer spleen samples were far below the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's allowable levels for consumption of other foods, like fruit or beef, that may have neonicotinoid residue.

The Minnesota DNR is planning additional sampling this fall and is exploring future research options on neonicotinoids in wildlife.

"We want to thank the hunters who participated in this initial study." Carstensen said. "Their contributions are essential to this important research."

Hunters who submitted samples in fall 2019 will be emailed the specific test results from their deer.

WHAT ARE NEONICOTINOIDS?

From the MN Dept. of Agriculture:

What are neonicotinoids?

Neonicotinoids are systemic insecticides with a structure and mode of action similar to nicotine, a naturally occurring plant alkaloid compound toxic to humans. Contact and oral exposures of neonicotinoids target the receptors on the nerve cells within an insect

Why do Minnesota farmers choose to use neonicotinoids?

Neonicotinoids are primarily used for seed treatment. Seed treatment provides efficient and prolonged control of insect pests at low dosages when plants are small and most vulnerable to pests. The neonicotinoids are systemic insecticides, meaning that they are absorbed into the tissue of the plant and can therefore impact feeding pests.

What levels of neonicotinoid residues have been found in plants and are they lethal to pollinators?

Neonicotinoid concentrations vary in the plants. Lethality of residues depends upon the pollinator species. Residue concentration of a specific active ingredient may be lethal to one species while sub-lethal to others or it may not show any observable effect on other species.

Essentia Helath has developed a new 24-hour hotline to connect patients with a substance use disorder provider near them. The hotline was created as a service to the communities that Essentia Health serves and is open to anyone. Services can be accessed by calling (833) 677-1262. "The purpose of the 24/7 substance use disorder hotline is to help remove barriers to connect patients suffering from a substance use disorder directly to an appointment with an Essentia Health provider for non-judgmental care," says Kelly Black, program manager for Essentia Health's opioid treatment program. "We've made great strides to increase the number of medical providers who can offer medication for opioid use disorder."

Known as Medicine for Opioid Use Disorder (MOUD), the program uses medicines, such as Suboxone, and therapy to reduce cravings and withdrawal. Essentia

Health currently has a staff of more than 30 trained providers across its service areas and plans to have an additional 40 trained providers within the next year. "Opioid use disorder

"Opioid use disorder is a chronic, relapsing condition, the treatment of which falls within the scope of practice for family physicians," Black explains. "With appropriate medication and supporting services, patients are more likely to enter full recovery."

Essentia's care team offers personalized care to patients and families suffer from the chronic disease of substance use disorder, including alcohol, tobacco, vaping, opiates, methamphetamine and marijuana.

The clinic-based program provides education and an individualized, patient-centered treatment plan to help with withdrawal symptoms. It also helps connect patients with community resources. Care is provide in a safe, supportive environment, and families can be involved in treatment plans, depending on the patient's preferences.

Stolen property found on Henriette Road

STAFF REPORT
NEWS@PINECOUNTYNEWS.COM

A man has been charged with two felony counts of receiving stolen property after he was allegedly found in possession of stolen items at a residence on Henriette Road just west of Pine City.

According to the criminal complaint filed in Pine County Court, on March 3, a Pine County Sheriff's Office deputy was investigating information that a stolen black Audi and a stolen CAT skidsteer were located at a property on Henriette Road in Pokegama Township, and were in the possession of Toua Fue Yang, age 40. The deputy confirmed that Yang had an active warrant for his arrest out of Dakota County on a motor vehicle theft case.

Two deputies approached the residence to make contact with Yang and arrest him on his warrant. While waiting, one of the deputies saw a black Saturn Vue leaving the residence and going eastbound on Henriette Road. The deputy confirmed the driver was Yang and stopped the vehicle.

The deputy noted that the North Dakota license plate was registered to a white Buick LeSabre, not the black Saturn Vue it was on. Yang's driving privileges are revoked. Yang told the deputy he had bought the vehicle and the title was at home.

The deputy checked the VIN number for the 2004 Saturn Vue and discovered it had been stolen from Eagan, Minnesota. Inside the vehicle, the deputy located a CAT skidsteer key on a lanyard with several other keys. The title for the Saturn was located in the glove box and did not have Yang's name on it. Yang asked to be able to return to his property to leave his dog that had been in the car with him. The deputy could see a CAT skidsteer on the property.

In reviewing the information about the stolen Saturn, the deputy saw that a Nintendo Switch had been in the car when it was taken but was not in the vehicle when he found it. A search warrant was obtained to search the property.

While searching the property, deputies located a backpack containing over 400 grams of marijuana in a room that also contained tax documents in Yang's name. They were able to confirm the skidsteer was stolen. They also located a stolen 2012 Audi, a stolen red Chevrolet Avalanche, a stolen construction trailer containing stolen tools and scaffolding, and a stolen black Honda motorcycle.

Honda motorcycle.
Yang has been charged with two felony counts of receiving stolen property and felony possession of a controlled substance. He is being held in Pine County Jail on $30,000 bail. The maximum penalty is five years in prison, a $10,000 fine, or both.

Lady Rebels Hockey blows past the Storm

DAN LINGLE

EVERGREEN@MLSTARGAZETTE.COM

The Lady Rebels Hockey team would head up the North Shore on March 2 to Silver Bay to take on the North Storm.

The Lady Rebels would set the pace of the game right off the bat as Gabby Gamst would score within the first 30 seconds of the first period with the assist going to Rachael Painovich, with 16:32 left in the period. The Rebels would continue to set the pace as Jorja Jusczak would score after Gamst. With 12:27 left in the first. The Storm would get their chance to get on the board with 1:52 left in the period. The Rebels however would not let that score go unanswered as with 11.7 seconds left on the clock Sandra Ribich would pop in the Rebels third score of the period. This score was originally marked for Gamst but she later informed me that it was Ribich that put the puck in the net. The first period would end with the Rebels leading 3-1.

The second period would start out a little slower, but the Rebels would still control the pace as Sandra Ribich would score her second goal of the night with the assist going to Jusczak, with 13:43 left in the second period. The second period would be a defensive show down as Ribich's goal would be the only one scored in the period. The second period would end with the Rebels extending their lead 4-1.

The third period it again would be Gamst night as she would score her second goal of the night a mere 30 seconds in, giving the Rebels a 5-1 advantage. From this point on it would be the defense and the strong presence of Mallory Hartl in goal that would prevent the Storm from scoring and giving the Rebels the win for the night.
