New York State Fair to reopen at 100% capacity

People ride the gondola ride at the Great New York State Fair in 2019, in Syracuse at the New York State Fairgrounds. The 2021 state fair will go on with no capacity limits after the 2020 version of the event was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic. SYDNEY SCHAEFER/WATERTOWN DAILY TIMES

Governor Andrew M. Cuomo today announced the 2021 New York State Fair, an end-of-summer celebration at the New York State Fairgrounds from August 20 to September 6 in Syracuse, will increase capacity to 100 percent and reopen many popular buildings with additional vendors, given the significant progress New Yorkers have made against COVID-19. In accordance with the State's evolving health guidelines, indoor spaces will be subject to capacity limits to allow attendees to be socially distanced within each building.

"The State Fair is New York's signature end-of-summer fest, and thanks to our ongoing efforts to follow safety guidelines and get more people vaccinated, the 2021 New York State Fair will be even bigger and better," Governor Cuomo said. "This is a testament to our remarkable progress against COVID, making it possible for thousands more visitors from across the country and all over the world to enjoy the Fair's unique attractions and experience the best of what New York has to offer. I congratulate New Yorkers for having made this possible, and I encourage everyone to make the trip to Central New York this summer and support our New York vendors as we continue to reopen our economy and bring back beloved big events across the state."

In the days since the Governor announced the return of the State Fair on April 26 at 50 percent capacity, the public health condition has dramatically improved with more New Yorkers vaccinated and far fewer new COVID-19 cases. This progress has allowed for the State Fairgrounds to be prepared to reopen many indoor buildings, allow more vendors to return, and increase the number of attendees while still adhering to the State's health guidance.

Under the expanded State Fair model, more New Yorkers will be able to enjoy the State's best live music and entertainment, Midway amusement rides, agriculture education and awareness, as well as food and drink, including the Fair's most iconic culinary experiences which include the Pizze Fritte, 25-cent New York

“Rock the Docks” concert series at Wright’s Landing Marina

OSWEGO - Mayor Billy Barlow announced the creation of a new mini-concert series to be held at Wright’s Landing Marina called the “Rock the Docks” concert series.

“Rock the Docks” brings live music to the new and improved Wright’s Landing Marina following the city of Oswego’s $3.5 million upgrade to the marina area in 2020 and 2021.

The concert series intends to entertain docked boaters and tenants of Wright’s Landing with the stage positioned to provide prime viewing and listening by boats in the marina area and harbor. Attendees from land may also use a small seating area available in the west end parking lot.

“Our new “Rock the Docks” mini-concert series gives boaters a great opportunity for free, live music while they lounge on their boat in the docking space or boating around the marina and harbor,” said Mayor Barlow. “Bringing live music to the marina adds to the improvements we have recently completed and makes our marina a more viable place for both boaters and residents to visit and spend some time during the summer months.”

2021 “Rock the Docks” mini-concert series at Wright’s Landing Marina Schedule

Friday, Aug. 6 – Domicolo – Barlow Band – 7-9 p.m.

Friday, Aug. 13 – The Mix Tapes – 7-9 p.m.

The open container ordinance will be lifted in the marina area during the concerts. The stage for DirtRoad Ruckus will be positioned in the west end parking lot while the remaining acts will be staged at the new marina scenic overlook seating area on the west end hill.

Barlow says if both boaters and residents enjoy the 2021 program, the mini-series will be brought back in 2022 and beyond.

For more information regarding Wright’s Landing Marina, call 315-343-8430 or follow Wright’s Landing Marina on Facebook.

Malone Chamber hosting airport festival and fly-in

The Malone Chamber of Commerce is holding a two-day festival and fly-in at the Malone Dufort Airport on September 18 - 19. Pilots, tourists, and community from all over are invited to visit our great Village and North Country area. The festival includes educational presentations, vendors, live entertainment, and food. It is an opportunity to see a charming, historical village and meet great people.

Malone is just south of the French-Canadian border, a mere 60 miles from Montreal. Largely an agricultural area, it has many points of interest. Since the festival is a family affair, the Chamber will organize a bus to take folks to the Wilder Homestead (the home of Farmer Boy and the location that book describes), only 5 miles outside of Malone. We also have a 36-hole Robert Trent Jones golf course to which transportation will be available. Visitors can take a stroll down Malone's residential historic home district or Main St. business district, recently placed on the National Register of Historic Places.

The Malone area is rich in rivers and the fishing is great. Perhaps you are fishing for trout in the Salmon River, bullhead at Deer River Flow or muskies on the St. Lawrence River. The Malone area has hiking, canoeing and a slew of campgrounds. It is truly a beautiful area of flowing meadows, old forests, the St. Lawrence River valley, and the foothills of the Adirondacks. In Malone, Titus Mountain Family Ski Center was named the second-best family ski resort in the US. While there is no skiing in September, it is a great place to visit when there's snow.

The festival itself will have several bands playing, vendors, food, farmer's produce and craft wine, beer, and cider tasting. It will be a fun day and the Chamber encourages you to participate with your family and friends to enjoy the changing fall foliage and the activities in Malone.

For more information visit Malone Chamber of Commerce's Facebook page or website. For information on discount lodging or reservations for Farmer Boy Tours, Historical Tours or rounds of golf, call 518 483-3760 or email: director@malonechamberofcommerce.com. It will be a great time for all and the Chamber hopes to see many come from your town to ours.

HIGHWAY MEMORIAL

SET TO DEBUT

Governor Andrew M. Cuomo today announced a new memorial honoring fallen highway workers across New York is currently under construction and will be unveiled at the 2021 Great New York State Fair. The memorial, which will be located near the midway entrance and west of the Horticulture Building on the fairgrounds, is meant to honor all transportation workers killed while performing their job duties on or near New York's thousands of miles of highways, including State Department of Transportation and Thruway Authority employees, municipal highway workers, contractors, consultants and towing service employees.

"These hardworking and dedicated New Yorkers routinely put their personal safety on the line to build our bridges, pave our roads and maintain a safe, reliable infrastructure, so that all New Yorkers can reach their destinations as safely as possible," Governor Cuomo said. "We are grateful for the work that these women and men perform year-round and this new memorial, which will be ready in time for the 2021 Great New York State Fair, will serve as a lasting tribute to all the workers who lost their lives while performing their duties."

According to the federal Bureau of Labor Statistics, from 2003-2017, 1,844 workers lost their lives at road construction sites across the United States, averaging 123 per year. The State Department of Transportation alone has lost 56 workers during its existence.

The new memorial will include a centerpiece featuring a bronze sculpture of shovels, hard hats and boots on a platform surrounded by four bronze traffic cones and a dedication plaque. It will include paved walkways and seating for respectful reflection. Shrubs and trees will be planted around the centerpiece and along the outside of the memorial.

The Highway Memorial will debut at the 2021 state fair.

Military appreciation luncheon & fishing event Aug. 13 at Wright's Landing in Oswego

OSWEGO - City of Oswego Mayor Billy Barlow announced a partnership with the Oswego-based veterans' charity, Thank A Service Member, Inc (TASM) to offer a military appreciation luncheon and fishing trip for active members of the military and veterans living in the City of Oswego. Through a $15,000 grant from the City of Oswego, TASM, in partnership with the Oswego City Veteran's Council, will host local veterans and guests at Wright's Landing Marina for a luncheon and fishing excursion using local charter boats, followed by a closing ceremony with awards and gift bags on Friday, August 13. TASM will reach out to local veterans' organizations to select veterans to participate in the event.

"I am honored to partner Thank A Service Member, Inc, and Executive Director Peter Allen, to offer veterans a great get-away on the water to fish and enjoy themselves as a way for the community to honor their service and support their needs," said Mayor Billy Barlow. "Our funding will allow for a well-organized event that gives our veterans a much-needed break, brings people to our improved marina and promotes our local fishing and charter businesses right here in Oswego. I thank Mr. Allen and TASM for partnering with the City of Oswego to host this event and for all the great work they do for veterans living in our community," Barlow said.

Thank A Service Member, Inc is an approved 501(c) 3 not-for-profit organization dedicated to working on behalf of America's military veterans and active-duty service members. TASM frequently creates educational programs, support initiatives, and venues designed to show appreciation and gratitude for military per-sonnel's service and sacrifices. "We are grateful to Mayor Barlow and the city of Oswego for this partnership and the generous funding commitment," said TASM Executive Director Peter Allen. "This meaningful event is a terrific way to engage and promote local businesses while showing appreciation to the military veterans in our community," Allen said.

The city of Oswego's $15,000 grant will fully fund the luncheon and fishing excursion as part of a $200,000 funding commitment from Mayor Barlow and the Oswego Common Council to not-for-profit organizations in the city of Oswego following the COVID-19 pandemic. Several not-for-profit organizations received grants from the City of Oswego to offset fundraising and revenue shortfalls caused by the pandemic, using funding the city's allocation from the Federal Government's American Rescue Plan package.

For more information on TASM, visit www.thankaservicemember.org or contact Peter Allen at 315-402-5915 or tasm09@gmail.com.

Foothills Art Society has exciting plans

Foothills Art Society continues to advance artistic awareness and creativity in our community with their many art offerings. The Board of Foothills Art Society recently became aware that the location, beauty and size of St. Joseph's Church on Main St. could lend itself not only to representing the Visual Arts but the Performing Arts as well. It has been a busy summer for Foothills as they began the process of negotiating and purchasing the property. A capital campaign has been started and the community is being invited to help fulfill the dream of creating an Art Center in Malone.

With the purchase of the property set for September, Foothills has been encouraged by the amount of support received so far and would like to thank everyone who has helped in any way. To complete the purchase and renovation of the building additional support is needed. Fund raising events are being planned and individuals, businesses and organizations are encouraged to be part of this exciting new addition to Malone. To understand more about what Foothills Art Society is all about check out our website foothillsartsociety.com.

FAS has a number of fun art activities planned for this summer. On July 24th, a group of local woman artists gathered at "The Farm" of Rick Auger and Beth Mosher in a once popular annual event "Whimsical Woman Creation Day" which has been re-introduced. The ladies spend the day, in a beautiful outdoor setting, creating in

During the summer months, a Foothills Art Society initiative, Art to Market, will begin. Several Malone business store windows will be painted by volunteer artists. Foothills Art Society, in partnership with the Malone Chamber of Commerce and a grant from Adirondack Frontier of $500 for paint and supplies have made this possible. The following businesses are participating: Serendipity Salon & Day Spa, Elite Nutrition, Fountain's Enchanted Florist, Fleming's Fine Furniture, Tiffany's Dance Studio, Pediatric Dentistry of Malone, Nelson's Flower Shop and Focal Point. FAS would like to thank the following volunteer artists for donating their time & talent: Whitney Reuss, Susan Skinner, Marie Engels, Amanda McCaffrey, Carter Beitz, Jennifer Hathaway and Maya Massaro. Thanks also to The Hearth for donating a full dinner for two including drinks to the winning artist and to WICY for donating $500 of free advertising to the winning business.

In August a mural will be painted at 410 East Main St. Mural artist Brendon Palmer-Angel will depict the take-off of geese from the Malone Rec Park as they head South. The project is funded by Adirondack for Kids through Foothills Art Society and coordinated by Jen Bilow from Downtown Artist Cellar and local artist Michael Hart. Jennifer Hesseltine, a K-12 Education Consultant and Strategist will collaborate to connect students with the community through education. Age appropriate projects in science, social studies and art will be created.

Fore the Arts Golf Tournament is being re-scheduled for Sept 12th on the beautiful East Course of the Malone Golf Course. All proceeds from the tournament and other Foothills events will be used to further Foothills Art Society's dream of purchasing St. Joseph's Church and transforming it into an Art & Cultural Center. Several exciting activities are being planned including an auction of donated items, including a week at Bolton Valley in Vermont.

Stay tuned as plans are finalized and made public. Sign up for the tournament can be at the Golf Course or at info@foothillsartsociety.com Looking for sponsors!

Thanks to the generosity of Dan & Brandyn Prairie, Prairie's Orchard will be the location of an Arts & Crafts Festival, Art @ the Orchard, on Sept. 25th. The Orchard, located at 111 Cty Rte 24 (Brainardsville's Rd) in Malone, will provide a day full of wholesome fun for Usually performing as a small combo (trio, quartet or quintet), the group has been described as providing a 'chamber music-like' jazz setting, creating a pleasant atmosphere that is comfortable for the listener to be absorbed in the music.

Dingman Point artists open studios for tours

Times staff report

ALEXANDRIA BAY — The 24th annual Dingman Point Open Art Studio Tour will be hosted Saturday, July 31 and Sunday, Aug. 1.

Guests are invited to meet the artists and tour their galleries, studios and workshops. Art will include paintings, ceramics, sculptures and decoys.

There will be an art raffle at each studio at the end of the day. There is no cost for the tour.

Participating artists:

Cecilia Thompson specializes in miniature original watercolors. She also enjoys other creative outlets such as hand-painted ornaments and silk scarves. Her miniatures aim to draw the viewer into fine art that is 1-inch-by-1½ inches in size. The intense natural beauty of the north country landscape inspires the artist.

Hans E. Junga, who died in 2000, left a large volume of prints. Since 1982, he had been a full-time professional painter, winning over 60 awards from regional and national competitive shows. An outstanding watercolorist and teacher, Mr. Junga studied commercial and fine art in the U.S. and Germany. He enjoyed teaching watercolors and holding workshops for over 20 years in central New York and the Thousand Islands Craft School in Clayton.

Ingrid Junga, a 35-year member of the Syracuse Ceramics Guild, has participated in many competitive exhibitions and participates in many workshops in the Central New York area. Mrs. Junga produces high-fired porcelain pottery. Her work will be showcased at the Hans Junga Studio.

Michael Ringer took an early retirement from teaching in 1990 to pursue his art full time. He owns two galleries in the 1000 Islands area that showcase his work. He paints extensively in oil, watercolor, acrylic and pastel and has created over 3,000 paintings of the St. Lawrence River and Adirondacks. Over 500 bronzes of his 14 sculptural works have been cast and he prints all of his own reproductions at his gallery.

Mr. Ringer also prints works for over 50 local artists. His Alexandria Bay gallery on Dingman Point Road houses his painting studio, two large showrooms, a custom frame shop and printing studio. His work has been published in eight books and his artwork can be found in private and corporate collections globally.

Guest artist at the Ringer gallery will be Debra Monteith. She resides along the shores of the St. Lawrence River and her passion to create pieces that are unique stems from generations rich in art. Ms. Monteith's river jewelry ranges from classic to funky, taking her style from the city and combining it skillfully with her love of the St. Lawrence River. She hand paints her copper and aluminum into pieces that reflect her love for the water.

Mary Compeau was born in Ogdensburg and moved to Alexandria Bay when she was 17 years old. She has painted professionally for the past 35 years and she considers herself a Northern New York Artist. She has been an art educator for the past 40 years and teaches art in the Carthage Central School District. The natural landscapes of the Adirondacks, rustic homes, the St. Lawrence River and wildlife typical of the New England states are common subject material of her artwork. Ms. Compeau paints primarily in watercolor and oils and has two new prints this year, "untitled" at this time. Both paintings will be available as gi-clée prints on both canvas and paper during the tour.

The guest artist at Compeau Studios will be Gayle McGregor from Carthage. She's a veteran potter with over 50 years' experience in her field and recently retired from the Carthage Central School District. Ms. McGregor works with a variety of natural influences to enhance the unique pieces that she produces. "One of kind pieces" may be obtained during the studio tour.

Melanie Pyke Hertzog was raised in Oswego and thrived during her summers as a third generation river rat at the family cottage on Wellesley Island. The river has long inspired her creativity in art and writing. She completed her first oil painting when she was 12, and sold her first painting during a high school art show. Melanie earned her degree in Fine Art at SUNY Oswego, with a dual concentration in painting and photography, along with additional studies in writing. A degree in forest technology helped to sharpen her understanding and appreciation of the natural environment. In 1985 she earned her master's degree from Syracuse University and pursued her professional career as a clinical social worker, interweaving the creative arts into her interventions with troubled children and families.

Ms. Hertzog's images of the Thousand Islands and portraits of pets and children have become treasured heirlooms for a growing number of collectors.

Linda Toomey, a Buffalo native, began her painting career in earnest after retiring from a 28 year art teaching career. She is a resident artist at Buffalo Arts Studio. Her landscapes are about tranquility and peacefulness as she hopes to take the viewer back to the natural world of quiet solitude, contemplation, and regeneration.

Ms. Toomey is most interested in landscape and uses gouache (opaque watercolor) for her paintings. Her mixed media work is made up of pieces of paintings, photographs which inspire paintings, copies of paintings and handmade papers. Her inspiration comes from the play of water, light, reflections and sky on inland marshes, salt marshes and the labyrinth of waters in the 1000 Island area.

Glenn Sweet was 10 when he made his first decoy, a small whistler about 6 inches long, done with his grandfather, Ed Sweet. He's a third-generation carver. All his decoys are made for hunting purposes but are also popular to display as collectables. Mr. Sweet is owned of Thousand Islands Decoy Company.

Robert Decker is a teacher, illustrator and fine artist living in Russell. Much of his work focuses on wildlife and sporting art, pulling inspiration from his love and many experiences in the outdoors. He received a bachelor of fine arts degree in illustration in 2008 and a master's degree in art education in 2011 from the Rochester Institute of Technology.

Mr. Decker teaches high school art at the Gouverneur Central School District while also pursuing his own fine art career. He offers a number of original paintings, limited edition giclée prints and commissioned pieces.
