WATERTOWN — From music festivals, to boat shows, to plays, there are no shortage of events taking place during the last full month of summer.

"August brings a mix of those longtime annual festivals that have been going on for decades, but then we also see a few new ones show up on the calendar when it gets a little softer, if there is an opportunity for that," said director of the 1000 Islands International Tourism Council, Corey Fram.

One of the many events include Thompson Park's Brew at the Zoo on Aug. 6.

Pirates Weekend will take place in Alexandria Bay from Aug. 12-14, which has recently been a popular event drawing people to the Bay.

AnchorCon, which dubs itself as being "the north country's largest ComiCon," will be back for their second yearly event at the end of the month on Aug. 20 and 21.

Mr. Fram said the end of the month is a good time for newer events, such as Alex Bay's Rockin' the Bay event because he GOUVERNEUR — The Gouverneur and St. Lawrence County Fair returns Aug. 2 to 7 with rides, exhibits, a Sawyer Brown performance, a talent show, harness racing, a demolition derby and other events.

“Opening night is our Sawyer Brown concert, a country and western group popular back in the ’90s,” said Fair President Donald A. Peck.

Tickets for the Aug. 2 grandstand performance at 8 p.m. are $30 for festival seating and $50 for reserved seating. Strollers aren’t allowed on the grandstand. Tickets are available through a link on the fair’s website, www.gouverneur-fair.net, under the events/tickets tab. The carnival portion of the fair, with rides and games, opens Aug. 3. The carnival opens at 2 p.m. Wednesday to Sunday.

“There’s the same amount of rides, about 18 to 20 rides for adults and children. There’s games. There’s going to be 15 to 18 food vendors. There’s a lot of commercial exhibits,” Mr. Peck said.

The commercial exhibits are hosted by any business, political group or indepen-

Remington, Antique Boat Museums offering joint partnership through Oct. 14

OGDENSBURG — The Frederic Remington Art Museum in Ogdensburg, along with the Antique Boat Museum in Clayton will offer a joint partnership through Oct. 14.

The Frederic Remington Art Museum and Antique Boat Museum have entered into a partnership for the summer season that provides visitors with the opportunity to experience two of the region’s cultural assets at a discounted rate.

“I am very pleased that once again this summer season two of the North Country’s most popular museums have agreed to offer free admission to visitors from the partner Museum. This arrangement, now several years old, benefits both institutions as well as visitors,” said Douglas McDonald, interim Director of the Frederic Remington Art Museum.

Visitors have the option of purchasing a ticket at either location and visiting the other museum free of charge.

The Antique Boat Museum, at 750 Mary St., Clayton, will close for the 2022 season on Oct. 31, while the Frederic Remington Art Museum, located at 303 Washington St., is open year-round.

The Frederic Remington Art Museum expands and deepens appreciation and understanding of Remington’s work by engaging contemporary audiences and keeping his legacy relevant. It is dedicated to collecting, exhibiting, preserving and interpreting the art and archives of Frederic Remington, and contains an unmatched collection of his works.

Oswego Dragon Boat Festival set for Aug. 6

OSWEGO — The Oswego Dragon Boat Festival, Saturday, Aug. 6 is one-day festival which takes place in Oswego's Breitbeck Park with boats competing in the adjacent Oswego harbor. The daylong event is free to spectators and will be filled with Dragon Boat racing, the colorful team tent city, food, games, and the midday Heroes Challenge — a race between area law enforcement. In addition, there will be live music with the band "Off the Reservation" from 1-4 p.m., sponsored by Mayor William Barlow Jr., and the city of Oswego.

Cheryl Baldwin Oswego YMCA Executive Director, said that the event requires professional coaches and special equipment to bring this event to Oswego. "It really is a one-of-a-kind event for this area and a terrific opportunity for businesses and friends to spend an exciting day together," she added. Baldwin noted that the Dragonboat Festival is one of the Oswego YMCA's fundraising events. All financial support from this and other YMCA events goes into the programs and services with the most urgent need.

Trish Levine, Oswego YMCA Director of Health and Wellness helps to coordinate YMCA special events. Levine noted that the Dragonboat Festival would not be possible without the financial and in-kind support it receives from the community. Team recruitment is the most challenging part of the event, and Levine noted that this year the Y received outstanding support and enthusiasm from volunteer Emily Lukowski of the Fitzgibbons Agency. "Emily knows the Y and wanted to help, and she has worked tirelessly. We are an organization of men, women and children joined together by a shared commitment of nurturing the potential of kids, promoting healthy living, and fostering a sense of responsibility," noted Levine. "Our volunteers, staff and community partners are what help us to strengthen our ability to positively impact people's lives."

Spectators will be able to watch the authentic 40' Hong-Kong style dragon boats as they race in the Oswego Harbor channel behind the park. Evening practice sessions will begin on Wednesday, Aug. 3 and continue through Friday, Aug. 5, with the main event taking place Saturday, Aug. 6, from 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

For more information or to register a team, call the Oswego YMCA at 315-342-6082.

Guest artists will be Debra Monteith and Melanie Pyke Hertzog.

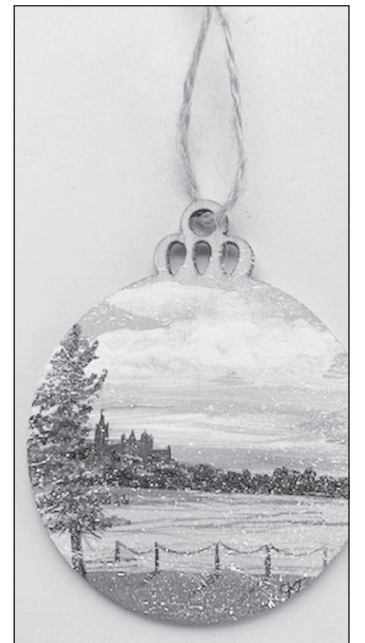

Ms. Monteith resides along the St. Lawrence River and her passion to create pieces that are unique stems from generations rich in art. Debra's River Jewelry ranges from classic to funky, taking her style from the city and combining it skillfully with her love of the river. She hand paints copper and aluminum into pieces that reflect her love for the water.

Ms. Pyke Hertzog was raised in Oswego and thrived during her summers as a third generation "river rat" at the family cottage on Wellesley Island. The river has long inspired her creativity in art and writing. She completed her first oil painting when she was 12, and sold her first painting during a high school art show. She earned her degree in fine arts at SUNY Oswego, with a dual concentration in painting and photography, along with additional studies in writing. Her images of the Thousand Islands and portraits of pets and children have become treasured heirlooms for a growing number of collectors.

The public is invited to meet and talk with the artists. Original work and new limited-edition prints will be exhibited and for sale. At 4 p.m. on Sunday, July 31 at each artist's studio, a drawing of names of all those attending during the day will be made and the winner will be awarded a piece of art.

Gallery offers 'River Treasures' through August

Times staff report

ALEXANDRIA BAY — Orion Art Gallery & Studio will present "River Treasures" as the featured gallery exhibition for July and August.

This dual exhibition will feature the paintings of noted St. Lawrence River artist and Grindstone Island resident Wendy Matthews and the handcrafted woodworking creations of Clayton residents Tim and Tracie Bond.

The gallery's opening reception for "River Treasures" was July 23 from 2 to 5 p.m.

Ms. Matthews's acrylic and oil paintings are inspired by the natural beauty of the St. Lawrence River, its wildlife, the large ships of the seaway and spectacular sunsets and sunrises. She received her master of fine arts degree from the Rochester Institute of Technology in 2000. While her degree and career emphasis were on multi-media development and computer design, she began actively painting after she turned 60 years of age. Her medium of choice is acrylics due to its fast-drying ability and vibrant colors.

Ms. Matthews considers herself a good example of finding a hidden talent later in life, and she hopes her work encourages people to try new things and discover new talents within.

The Bonds, both born and raised in Clayton, have been married for 34 years and have two daughters and five grandchildren. Both retired, together they design beautiful pieces from local aged hardwood. Turned and carved using a lathe and woodworking tools, Tracie adds finishing touches including accessories and final polished finishes.

River Treasures will remain on display until Aug. 14 during regular open hours. Orion Art Gallery & studio is open daily from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. and noon to 3 p.m. on Sundays. The gallery features the works of 20 regional artists and artisans, maintains a fully equipped ceramics studio, and offers classes in ceramics, painting, drawing, stained glass and more throughout the year.

The gallery and studio is at 42901 State Route 12. For complete information on gallery events schedule, and class registrations, visit www.orion-artgallery.com, or call 315-215-4099.

Public invited to visit the Ice Cream Trail in Lewis County

By Annie I. Cayer

acayer@lowville.com

LEWIS COUNTY — I scream, you scream, we all scream for ice cream!

Ice cream is a favorite treat especially in the summertime and to spotlight the dairy industry product, area ice cream shops are joining the Lewis County Ice Cream Trail organized by the Cornell Cooperative Extension.

The extension is looking forward to “supporting the local businesses and promote the dairy industry” said Mellisa M. Spence, CCE sustainable agriculture educator.

The public is invited to visit the Lewis County ice cream shops, make a purchase of an ice cream product and receive a stamp on the trail map which is available at any of the stops. Once at least six shops have been visited and stamped the trail map can be left with the last shop or turned in at the CCE office, 7395 East Road, Lowville, by Sept. 5.

“You can enter as many times as you want” said Ms. Spence, the organizer of the activity, noting she hopes to “see everyone out on the trail.”

She emphasizes this is an enjoyable event for both young and old to “explore Lewis County and see what we have to offer.”

This is the first year the event is being held but Ms. Spence is hopeful it will continue annually.

There are 14 Sweet Stops around the county to be visited, including the Dairy Industry

Building at the Lewis County Fair.

“It is unique we have 14 places for being such a small area” said the organizer.

Stops include:

■ Treats and Tiques, 44028

State Route 3, Natural Bridge

Fly-in Festival makes August return

MALONE AIRPORT: Event includes food, music, presentations

By ALEXANDER VIOLO

aviolo@mtelegram.com

MALONE — After hosting the first Fly-in Festival since 1994 at Malone-Dufort Airport in September 2021, the event will make its return and is scheduled for two days in August.

Malone's chamber of commerce is holding this year's festival on Aug. 27 and Aug. 28, according to a prepared statement from Mary E. Scharf, president of the local chamber.

"Pilots, tourists, and citizens from all over are invited to visit our great village and North Country area. The festival includes educational presentations, vendors, live entertainment and food," Scharf said, "It will be a great time for all and the chamber hopes to see many come from your town to ours. It is an opportunity to see a charming, historical village and meet great people."

According to Scharf, the Fly-in Festival will have several bands, vendors with food and farm produce for sale, in addition to craft wine, beer, and cider tasting.

On Saturday, Slab City will play from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., and the Durham County Poets will play from 4 to 8 p.m., and on Sunday, the Busco Bandits will play from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

"It will be a fun day and the chamber encourages you to participate with your family and friends to enjoy the changing fall foliage and the activities in Malone," Scharf said, "There is free admission because of the generous support from local businesses."

In addition to business sponsors the fly-in is sponsored in part with funds from the Franklin County Development and Marketing Program, according to the press release.

"The chamber is thankful to receive this funding because it allows free admission to all," Scharf said. "Don't forget to shop local."

Attendees can bring chairs and there will be a designated area with a cash bar, according to a press release, which states people are asked to not bring coolers to the festival.

Vendors can still sign up for this year's fly-in festival, said the release, which states more information is available on the chamber's Facebook page, Malone Chamber of Commerce, and on the organization's website, www.malonechamberofcommerce.com.

Scharf said she hopes visitors from the North Country, nearby regions, and neighboring states attend this year's festival.

"The chamber encourages visitor and pilots from the northeast to come to Malone and see why it's a great tourism destination," Scharf said, "The Malone area is rich and rivers and the fishing is great."

According to the press release, trout fishing is prevalent in the Salmon River, while the nearby Deer River Flow has bullhead, and the St. Lawrence River, on the Canadian border, boasts muskellunge.

Northern Franklin County also has hiking opportunities, canoeing sites, and several campgrounds.

"It is truly a beautiful area of flowing meadows, old forests, the St. Lawrence River valley, and the foothills of the Adirondacks," Scharf said, adding Titus Mountain is another tourism site in the vicinity of Malone.

"While there is no skiing in August, it is a great place to visit when there's snow as well as green grass," Scharf said.

Last September Citizen Advocates provided transportation to the Wilder Homestead, near Burke.

This year, upon pre-arranged reservations, the chamber will organize transportation to again take visitors to the homestead, which is located approximately five miles from the village, according to the press release.

Information on discount lodging or reservations for Farmer Boy tours, historical tours, and rounds of golf can be arranged by calling 518-483-3760 or by email at director@malonechamberofcommerce.com.

The Malone Golf Club is located south of the village, and visitors to the fly-in can also visit the village's historic residential district and nearby business district on Main Street, which was recently placed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Historic tours are dependent upon pre-registration, according to the release.

OSWEGO - Mayor Billy Barlow announced that the city of Oswego will host a new summer event called "Oswego Family Fun Days" from noon-6 p.m. each day on Saturday, Aug. 6 and Sunday, Aug. 7. The free event will feature plenty of children's activities including several inflatable water slides, an outdoor laser tag play area, large zipline, live animal display, live motorcycle stunt show, mechanical bull, and the Children's Museum of Oswego hosting a STEM program, in addition to small business craft vendors. The event will take place in Breitbeck Park next to the city's outdoor water splashpad, mini-golf course, basketball courts and snack shack.

"The Oswego Family Fun Days will provide an exciting opportunity for young children and families in our community to get outdoors and have plenty of fun activities throughout the weekend," said Mayor Barlow. "My administration has worked hard to put on several new, fresh events to give Oswego residents different things to do throughout the year. gellan. An expedition of five ships, of which only one was the protagonist of the greatest maritime adventure in history: the First Round the World Race. This replica is a beautiful life-size ship of 200

t., 29 m. long and 8 m. wide, four masts, five sails and five decks, built with exquisite work in iroko and pine wood by the hands of master craftsmen and master carpenters of the riverside. A ship that sails as a floating museum of Spanish maritime heritage and has already visited dozens of ports in Spain, Mexico, the United States and Europe" reads the website for the ship.

The St. Lawrence County Chamber of Commerce and Greater Ogdensburg Chamber of Commerce in partnership with the city of Ogdensburg pursued the opportunity to host the ship several months ago and confirmed dates and times last week. Summer said the end of August doesn't have as many travelers as other times during the summer.

He says this is because people are doing back to school shopping.

"The last week of August tends to be a week where folks stay home and then they show up for Labor Day," he said.

The town of Henderson is hosting many events throughout the summer, including Henderson Heritage Days which will take place on Aug. 13.

Heritage Days will begin with a ceremony at 8:45 a.m. at the Henderson Historical Society's Arthur Rice Memorial Flag Pole, and will end at 9 a.m. when the old church bell rings, signifying the start of the day.

Activities throughout the day include music, raffles, and what the secretary of the Henderson Historical Society, Elaine Scott called an all day "party-picnic," with the day culminating at 3 p.m.

"August is a time when you have the big kind of mainstay weekend festivals ... but then there's all sorts of midweek stuff," Mr. Fram said.

Henderson Harbor Performing Arts also has some events upcoming during the month of August.

On Aug. 6, a concert will be performed by the band named "RAJAH" which includes Tom Contino, who is described as "our very own 'home-boy.'" The concert is free to attend.

The Henderson Harbor Performing Arts the next day on Aug. 7, will have a play titled "While Shakespeare Slept." The play is listed as a comedy, and is not written by Shakespeare but instead by someone else, about the women of the Shakespeare family. The play will be put on by "The Butler did it Players," and according to Susan VanBenschoten with Henderson Harbor Performing Arts Association, some of the people involved are involved with Lyric Theater, Little Theater, and some are teachers. Included with the ticket is a glass of wine, and people can also bring their own as well.

The cost to attend the play is $15 per person, and the performers are local.

On Aug. 20 the festivities continue with the "Bad Husbands Club with Triple Shot Horns."

Ms. VanBenschoten said the main point for them to do the events is to bring people to Henderson.

"That's the whole point, is bring other people into the Harbor," she said. "And go and have a cocktail, maybe a good pizza, or go have dinner, whatever you want to do, but have some fun."

The Board of Trustees will also be hosting an Open House at the Henderson Free Library to celebrate it's 100th birth-

August 16 - Fritz Polka Band

August 23 - Due North

A new live music series this year is Croghan's Music on the Mound.

On five Sundays in July and August, local musicians will perform from the pitcher's mound at the Croghan Recreation Park baseball field, 8578 Park Drive, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The schedule includes:

The Lowville Village Band, shown practicing at the Veterans Park Pavillion in the village, will be performing throughout July. There are a number of free concerts in Lewis County with many different kinds of music scheduled for the summer. Photo provided

August 14 - Ben, Matt & Tam
August 21 - Fritz's Polka Band

Both series are funded with the help of a Pratt Northam Foundation grant. Americu Credit Union, the village of Lowville and Lewis County also contributed to the Music in the Park series.

The Lowville Village Band will be performing every Wednesday until Aug. 3 in Veterans Park. All of their concerts will begin at 7 p.m.

The band is a voluntary group of local musicians — from teenagers to senior citizens — who have been combining their talents to entertain the community since 1826, making them one of the longest running community bands in the country.

Second Downtown Block Party in Oswego on Aug. 5

OSWEGO - Following a successful Independence Day Block Party in downtown Oswego, Mayor Billy Barlow has announced a second, similar styled block party event will take place from 5-10 p.m. on Friday, Aug. 5. The theme for the block party will be a country wild west theme, featuring live music from Dave Wolever with DirtRoad Rucks headlining.

Additional activities for families will include a zipline for kids and teenagers, live motorcycle stunt show, a mechanical bull, and local business Axe Chuckers will be in attendance, along with roaming characters, craft vendors and food vendors.

"The 2022 Independence Day block party was a huge success, drawing a large crowd downtown to enjoy live music, plenty of activities for kids, and support our downtown small businesses," said Mayor Barlow. "Our second block party will have even more fun activities, awesome music and plenty of dining options during the event."

The August Downtown Block Party starts a busy weekend in Oswego as Mayor Barlow recently announced a "Family Fun Days" weekend in Breitbeck Park with several different activities for young children and families. The city also plans to hold a third downtown block party event on Friday, Sept. 2.

Foothills Art going strong to finish summer

Foothills Art Society has a busy line-up planned for the end of summer in the North Country.

The Malone History Murder Mystery will be held Saturday, August 20th from 10:00 am – 1:00 pm in downtown Malone. Starting at the large parking lot on Pearl St, attendees will be given a set of instructions on how to solve a fictional murder (based on historical true life events) that has occurred within our village. You, as a "detective" will then follow clues leading to participating retail and business establishments where actors will tell their side of the story. Based on information they obtain, "detectives" will race against the clock, and each other, to solve the crime and figure out "Whodunnit." The first to solve the murder accurately wins the prize. Ticket prices are $10 per adult, $5 for children/students, and $30 for a family of 5 or more.

You are in for a real treat Saturday, Sept. 10, 2022 7:00 p.m. at the Chateaugay Town Hall Theater. Motown took a walk with the blues and had a soul child named Phoenix Mendoza. He will be here for a one night performance!

Come enjoy an intimate evening and an acoustic performance of music that honors those delightful days in the 70s when country-rock reigned. Hear the stories behind his original music and world travels while also enjoying the classic tunes of CSN, Dan Fogelberg, America, John Denver and more.

The second annual Art @ the Orchard will be a free, all day art, music and apple festival held at Prairie's Orchard, 111 County Rte 24, Malone, NY on Saturday, September 17 from 10:00 am to 6:00 pm, and will feature visual, performing and interactive art. Civil War Weekend set for July 30-31 at Fort Tribute

By BOB BECKSTEAD

bbeckstead@wdt.net

MADRID — Step back in time on July 30 and 31 when Fort Tribute hosts its annual Civil War Weekend on the grounds of the St. Lawrence Power and Equipment Museum on Route 345.

The event is sponsored by the St. Lawrence Power and Equipment Museum and the St. Lawrence County Historical Association.

Scott A. Wilson, Fort Tribute volunteer coordinator and a re-enactor who holds the rank of lieutenant colonel, said visitors will be able to enjoy battle skirmishes, demonstrations and other activities from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. July 30 and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. July 31.

On day one, the camps open to the public at 10 a.m. with infantry, artillery and cavalry drills, along with blacksmithing demonstrations. A medical demonstration at a field hospital will be held at 10:30 a.m., followed by a period cooking demonstration at 11 a.m., a talk on women's fashion in the 1860s at noon, Songs of the Civil War by Linda Russell at 1 p.m., an artillery demonstration at 2 p.m. and a battle re-enactment at 4 p.m. The camps close at 5 p.m.

On day two, the camps open to the public with infantry, artillery and cavalry drills, along with blacksmithing demonstrations at 10 a.m. That's followed by a medical demonstration at a field hospital at 10:30 a.m., Songs of the Civil War at 11:30 a.m., and battle re-enactment and closing ceremony at 1 p.m.

Mr. Wilson said this will be the second Civil War Weekend held at Fort Tribute after 19 years of staging the event on Barnhart Island.

"We had the grand ribbon-cutting in September of 2020. (Rep.) Elise Stefanik came out and cut it. Then we had our event last year," he said. "I'm very pleased with change we've seen for this."

Union units that will be represented this year include 12 U.S. Infantry, 157th New York Volunteer Infantry Co. G, 118th New York Volunteer Infantry, 115th New York Volunteer Infantry, 140th New York Volunteers, 148th New York Volunteer Infantry, 1st New York Light Artillery Reynold's Battery L, 2nd Vermont Cavalry, and 117th New York Volunteers Field Hospital.

On the Confederate side, units that will be represented include 15th Alabama Volunteer Infantry Co. E, 2nd Mississippi, 61st Georgia volunteer Infantry Co. A, 55th Virginia Volunteer Infantry Co. A, 27th Virginia Infantry Co. M, Alexander's Battery, Middlesex Battery, Ashland Battery, and 55th Virginia Volunteers Field Hospital.

Also part of the unit representation is Miss Susan's Sut-

Mr. Wilson said the grounds around Fort Tribute are perfect for the skirmish battle re-enactments.

"The nice thing about that is we have a good-sized field for it, and we have our own bleachers that we use at the museum for tractor pulls and horse pulls and stuff. So, we're able to move those over there," he said. "Dallas Robinson from Massena does the narration of the battle for us. He's been a re-enactor for a long time. So, it gives the public a general idea of what's going on."

Appearing this year for the first time is balladeer Linda Russell from New York City. Accompanying herself on hammered and mountain dulcimers, guitar and penny whistle, she will bring life to the 19th century with tunes of the era.

"She's had appearances at the Lincoln Center and Carnegie Hall. She's recorded eight albums and has had popular music in the past. She does music from the period. Hers is called New York Volunteer Songs and Stories from the Civil War," Mr. Wilson said. "She's going to put on a concert Saturday and Sunday. She'll also intermingle with the kids. Saturday night she's going to do a concert just for the re-enactors."

Visitors will also enjoy Civil War medical demonstrations, a period cooking demonstration called food of the enlisted soldier, infantry drills and artillery demonstrations.

"There'll be a children's muster drill where the kids get toy rifles," he said. "We get them out there and they do marching around and stuff like that. We get a pretty good crowd for that with the kids. They like that."

The blacksmith shop will be open, as well as the period schoolhouse and the 1800s log cabin.

"Anything that belongs to that period of time, we open those buildings up," Mr. Wilson said. "Blacksmithing was very key, especially for artillery and cavalry. The log cabin will have a talk on women's fashion in the 1860s, the layers of women's fashion."

It's also an opportunity to talk to living historians who will be present over the weekend.

"We encourage people to enter the camps and talk to the living historians," Mr. Wilson said. "Talk to those individuals and get a first-person perspective of what it was like. It's like this cooking demonstration. You're going to talk to individual soldiers who are telling you why they're doing what they're doing."

He said they also want people to visit the new Congressional Medal of Honor monument that's on display at the fort, recognizing St. Lawrence County residents who received that honor.

"The reason I did the monument is to have one central location where we recognize them," he said.

For more information, visit www.forttribute.org or the Fort Tribute Facebook page.

"Our annual Riverfest event is an opportunity for people who want to experience different sections of the Black River with the added benefits of transportation, food and beverage and support," said Kriten Aucter, Lewis County chamber director. "With upwards of 100 paddlers, it is a great opportunity to enjoy our great outdoors as well as network with other community members. As always, we couldn't do this event without the support of our partners, Lewis County Soil & Water and Lewis County Parks and Recreation and our sponsors."

Plein Air Festival on tap for Aug. 15-20

Forty artists will descend on the Village of Saranac Lake August 15 – 20, 2022 for the 14th annual Adirondack Plein Air Festival.

Saranac Lake ArtWorks, established in 2008 and incorporated as a not-for-profit in 2020, has a mission of using the arts to promote Saranac Lake and the surrounding community. The week-long event provides the opportunity for visitors to see the visiting artists at work as they paint the spectacular landscapes of the Adirondacks, an area which inspired the famous 19th century Hudson River School of painters. Artists scatter themselves throughout the local area so passersby may catch glimpses of them as they paint in town, along our roadways, and our parks.

The Festival kicks off with a FREE “Meet the Artists” reception on Monday night from 7 to 9PM at the Hotel Saranac, our partner and sponsor for that event. The completed artworks will be presented for sale beginning Friday, August 19th during the Friday Night Special Preview Party scheduled from 6 to 9PM, and at the Show & Sale on Saturday, August 20th from 12 -5PM in the Town Hall. The Show & Sale on Saturday is free and open to the public. Tickets for the Friday Night Special Preview Party are $20 each and may be purchased at the door or on-line by visiting SaranacLakeArtWorks.org/plein-air.

“We are thrilled to have such talented juried artists from around the country join us in Saranac Lake each year. Our ever-changing landscapes offer these artists endless inspiration. We love offering visitors the opportunity to take these timeless images home with them. We could not be successful without the hard work and dedication of ArtWorks members and the overall support of our local art and business community. The event means more than just bringing visitors in for the day. The week-long Festival gives them a reason to stay”, said Sandra Hildreth, President, ArtWorks.

'Get Into Your Sanctuary' helps spread the word about proposed Lake Ontario NMS

OSWEGO COUNTY – Calling all divers, boaters, anglers, paddlers, birders and photogs. Grab a camera and capture a summer of fun and recreation in the proposed Lake Ontario National Marine Sanctuary. Then, share adventures online in a nationwide photo contest.

The competition is an annual summer event hosted by National Oceanic and Atmospheric Association (NOAA)'s Office of National Marine Sanctuaries (NMS). It runs now through Monday, Sept. 5 and this year's theme 'Get Into Your Sanctuary' celebrates the 50th anniversary of the NMS system.

Photographers of all skill levels – aged 13 years and older – are invited to participate.

Pictures can be submitted in any of the following four categories:

- Sanctuary Recreation: shows responsible recreation on, in or near a sanctuary, such as swimming, boating or enjoying the beach. Follow public health guidance from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and local health departments.

NOAA's Office of National Marine Sanctuaries invites photographers to join a photo contest to celebrate its 50th anniversary. "Get Into Your Sanctuary" is the theme for this year's competition. Pictured is photographer Jill Wood's photo described as "chalk art of dreaming of diving the Christ of Abyss statue and the goliath groupers that lurk in Florida Keys National Marine Sanctuary," which won second place in the "Sanctuaries at Home" category in last year's contest.

- Sanctuary Views: shows the scenic beauty of the sanctuaries, such as sunrises, sunsets and weather photos.

- Sanctuary Life: shows sanctuary inhabitants such as birds, fish and marine mammals. Follow NOAA wildlife viewing guidelines at <https://sanctuaries.noaa.gov/wildlife-viewing/> to ensure inhabitants are not disturbed. Help NOAA highlight best wildlife photography practices by indicating what kind of camera/lens was used and the approximate distance from the subject.

- Sanctuaries at Home: shows the personal connection to sanctuaries, such as photos of stewardship activities or sanctuary-related artwork.

Photographers may use one Google form to submit up to 10 photographs. Find the form here: https://docs.google.com/forms/d/e/1FAIpQLSc5S9xxwpAJv1lFEnb7Q1zg3zfWszZrUCAfj6cBn_FojenknQ/viewform or send photos in an email to earthisblue@noaa.gov.

Each photo must be a minimum of 1200 pixels wide and contain no watermarks. They must also include the photographer's name, date and location of the snapshot, and a brief description of the image.

Winning photographs will be announced in October 2022 and featured in the "Earth is Blue" magazine and social media campaign in 2023.

Learn more about national marine sanctuaries by following NOAA's Office of NMS on social media. Photographers are encouraged to tell their friends about the contest on social media by using #ILoveMySanctuary and #RecreateResponsibly.

For more information about the photo contest, go to: https://sanctuaries.noaa.gov/photo-contest.html?utm_medium=email&utm_source=Gov-Delivery or email earthisblue@noaa.gov.

The proposed Lake Ontario National Marine Sanctuary encompasses more than 1,700 square miles in eastern Lake Ontario. It will protect and showcase dozens of shipwrecks and other historically significant underwater assets. NOAA announced its intent to designate the marine sanctuary in April 2019, and in mid-2021 released draft documents related to the proposed sanctuary.
