City makes Bonds official manager

By JIMMY DANIELS ISAAC

Keith Bonds is no longer acting but officially the city manager. By unanimous vote, Longview City Council extended an employment contract to Bonds, who has held the title of “acting city manager” since the departure of former Manager David Willard on Jan. 1.

“I’m honored for the opportunity,” Bonds said. “I have a great council and great mayor to work with and that’s what makes it so easy, it’s just an addition to our staff which is terrific to work with.”

Also, the council granted a license to tonight’s gun show. Thursday gives supporters of the century-old Youth Scout Troop 217 permission to use the log Scout cabin that they own but is located on city-owned park land.
