

Empty your closets. Fill someone's New Year with HOPE.

Give Your
GOOD

January's a great time to get organized, and that includes finding a place for all the gifts you got over the holidays.

While you're making room in your closet, find room in your heart to donate your old belongings to Goodwill. The proceeds will be put to good use, supporting local job training programs. And what could feel better than giving your neighbors a brighter new year?

Donate today. Whatever you give, you'll get back more in return.
