

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC OF THE APPLICATION OF VIRGINIA ELECTRIC AND POWER COMPANY, FOR APPROVAL OF ITS LARGE-LOAD CONNECTION QUEUE PROCESS STANDARDS CASE NO. PUR-2026-00011

On February 2, 2026, Virginia Electric and Power Company (“Dominion” or “Company”) filed an application (“Application”) with the State Corporation Commission (“Commission”) pursuant to the Commission’s Final Order dated November 25, 2025 in Case No. PUR-2025-00058 for approval of its large-load connection queue process standards. According to the Company, the purpose of the standards is to outline Dominion’s electric transmission planning process to evaluate and plan for delivery point requests (“DP Requests”) from electric distribution companies (“EDCs”) to serve data centers. An EDC is a utility company, cooperative, or municipality responsible for distributing electricity to retail customers within a specific geographic area. The standards are proposed to be applicable to DP Requests associated with large loads of approximately 100 megawatts (“MW”) or more, serving data center customers within the Dominion Zone, and individual DP Requests are proposed to be limited to a maximum of 300 MW each. The Company asserts that this framework would organize the DP Requests in batches, with each batch consisting of approximately 10 DP Requests representing between 2 and 3 gigawatts of aggregate load.

The Company asserts this process is needed due to the unprecedented volume of DP Requests representing approximately 70,000 MW of load advancing through the Company’s queue. The Company states it is currently processing DP Requests of approximately 25,000 MW of load, and these have already been assigned connection dates between now and 2031. For reference, the Dominion Zone’s current all-time peak load is 24,678 MW. The Company asserts that it continues to receive roughly 10 DP Requests each month, representing between 2,000 and 3,000 MW of requested load.

The Company proposes to manage DP Requests in four stages: (i) Project Initiation, (ii) Project Feasibility, (iii) Project Development, and (iv) Project Execution.

Interested persons are encouraged to review the Application and supporting documents for additional details.
