Inaugural Act 425 Report

Gentlemen:

Attached, you will please find the inaugural Act 425 report from the Capital Area Ground Water Conservation District ("CAGWCD").

This report is quite comprehensive, except for two important areas of information. We have not, as of the preparation date of this report, received water usage breakdowns from several of our smaller permit holders, nor have we received this information from the Baton Rouge Water Company. In addition, we have not received information from the Baton Rouge Water Company on water that has been pumped from wells within the District and then subsequently transported and sold out of district.

In the case of the smaller permit holders, this lack of response has been, for the most part, due to oversight and a lack of understanding of the new data reporting requirements. We are working with those permit holders to help them comply. In the case of the Baton Rouge Water Company, they have simply refused to comply. Because of their refusal, CAGWCD has issued a subpoena to compel the disclosure of the required data. A copy of that subpoena, and a letter that accompanied it, are attached to this cover letter as well. We will pursue whatever legal action is necessary to compel the disclosure of the required data.

Once all the data has been received, we will amend our report accordingly, and then re-submit it to all parties.

With best regards,
