About Josh

I am a dedicated real estate agent with deep roots in Northeast Nebraska, proudly calling Norfolk home. Being married to my wonderful wife Paige and having two boys of our own, my family is at the center of everything I do. Being family-oriented drives my approach to helping clients find not just houses, but places where they can build their own lasting memories. After graduating from Wayne State College, I developed a strong interest in real estate that has only grown stronger over the years. That passion, combined with my commitment to honesty and respect in every interaction, forms the foundation of how I serve my clients.

What sets me apart is my ability to build genuine, long-term relationships and my thorough understanding of the Northeast Nebraska market. Whether you're buying your first home, selling a family property, or looking for investment opportunities, I leverage my local expertise to guide you through every step with transparency and care. I know the neighborhoods, the communities, and the nuances that make this region special because I live and raise my family here.

My clients can always count on me to listen carefully, communicate clearly, and work tirelessly on their behalf. Rooted in Norfolk and guided by values of family, honesty, and respect, I am committed to making your real estate journey smooth, successful, and rewarding. Let's connect and find the perfect fit for your next chapter.
