

CORNHUSKERS OVERWHELM NOTRE DAME

JOHN A. M'SHANE DIES FOLLOWING 2-MONTH ILLNESS
 First Nebraska Democrat to Enter Congress—Was Elected in 1886.
 ACTIVE IN BUSINESS, POLITICS MANY YEARS

John A. McShane, 73, former congressman and state senator and a leading business man of Omaha since 1874, died at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in a local hospital. Mr. McShane had been ill since early in September when he returned to Omaha after spending the summer at Atlantic City.

Surviving are the wife, one daughter, Mrs. W. D. Hestor of Omaha; a brother, Felix, of Long Island, N. Y., and a sister, Mrs. Ellen Cannon of Omaha. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Mr. McShane was the first democratic congressman ever elected in Nebraska. This was in 1886. He served two terms in the Nebraska state senate, from 1882 to 1886. The session before he had been a member of the state house of representatives.

Had Heavy Cattle Interests.

Mr. McShane was a native of Ohio. He went to Wyoming in 1871 where a profitable cattle investment brought him to Omaha in 1874. His cattle interests continued to grow and in 1883 he united with the Union Stock Yards company which then owned over 100,000 head and vast tracts of land. He was for a number of years general manager and a heavy stockholder.

The Omaha Herald was owned by Mr. McShane for two years, and he is the one who sold it to Gilbert M. Hitchcock. In 1889, Mr. Hitchcock then consolidated it with the World and established the World-Herald.

Mr. McShane was one of the chief promoters of the Omaha National convention.

Mr. McShane had been president of the Union Stock Yards company from 1884 to 1894, a director of the South Omaha Land company, president of the Union Stockyards bank, and a director of the First National bank.

Helped Packing Industry.

In 1888, he lost a race for governor. He was defeated by Thayer, and never again ran for public office, but he retained his interest and activity in politics, and in the silver campaign led the bolt from Bryan in the state convention.

To Mr. McShane is given a great deal of the credit for interesting foreign capital in the stockyards company when it needed money to secure establishment of the big packing plants here.

Mr. McShane embarked in the lumber business in 1894 and bought 60,000 acres of pine land in Texas. He retired from active business six years ago. He had lived at the Blackstone hotel for the last year.

He was a nephew of Count John A. and Edward Greighton.

He served as one of the three executors of the estate of Count Greighton, and was a trustee of the Greighton working girls' home when it was built.

Mrs. McShane's first wife died in 1894, leaving two children, Edward L. McShane who later died, and Mrs. Hestor. His second marriage took place some years ago in Chicago to Miss Kathryn Loneragan.

PRAYER IS OBSERVANCE HERE OF ARMISTICE DAY
 Fifth Anniversary Finds Omaha Not Disturbed by Moves of Ex-Crown Prince.

HOLIDAY IS TOMORROW
 Omaha, observing today the fifth anniversary of the armistice that brought the world war to an end, read with little interest story of the crossing of the German frontier by the former crown prince, whose flight five years ago signalled the complete capitulation of the German army.

Five years ago the streets were jammed with joy-mad mobs; today there promised to be little outward evidence of a holiday. The anniversary falling on the Sabbath, however, meant that in practically every church of the city, prayers for continued and more secure peace would be offered, and many pastors had planned special services for the occasion.

Hear Wilson Address.
 Last evening Omahans who had radio receiving sets listened to the Armistice day message of Woodrow Wilson, war president, whose words went from Washington and New York to Schenectady before reaching a station powerful enough to transmit them to Omaha.

The American Legion, veterans of the world war, held its annual banquet, Saturday night and at the Auditorium the armistice carnival of the Women's Overseas Service league drew thousands of merry-makers. The business world observes the holiday Monday, when banks and public offices will close. The schools will also have their Armistice day program tomorrow.

Many Other Services.
 At Grace Baptist church the Rev. W. E. MacNeill, pastor, will preach on "The Clashed Hand of the Mallet." At Central Park Congregational church the Rev. W. D. Klug's morning sermon topic will be "The Significance of Armistice Day."

Other pastors who have announced sermons based on the armistice anniversary are H. W. Whitcomb, Calvary Baptist; H. H. Hawkins, Hillside Congregational; A. S. Buell, Trinity Methodist; Arthur Atack, Hancock Park Methodist; R. B. Vandeville, Clinton Hill Presbyterian; F. H. King, Hartford Memorial United Brethren.

COUE IS COMING BACK FOR LECTURES IN U. S.
 Special Licensed Wire.
 New York, Nov. 10.—Emilio Coue, noted exponent of healing by suggestion, whose first visit to this country was an event of national importance, will return January 12, according to an announcement today by Captain J. Stewart Rogers, director of the National Coue Institute here.

Mr. Coue will lecture and hold clinics under the supervision of the institute, which numbers many wealthy persons in its membership. Demands for more than a score of cities in this country have been received in which those interested that Mr. Coue lecture and hold clinics in those places during his second visit.

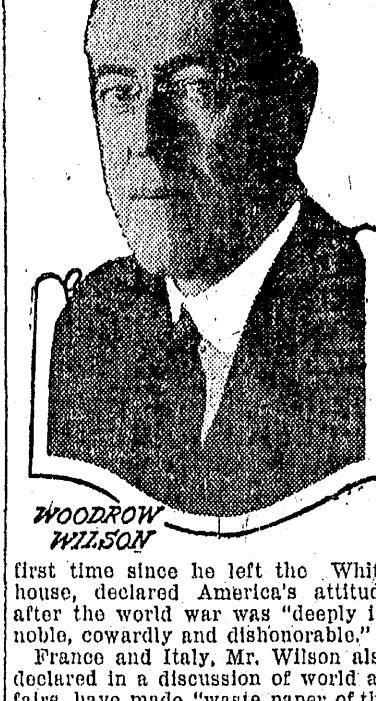

FIRE DAMAGE IS SMALL AT OMAHA STEEL WORKS
 Fire starting when an oil burner in annealing oven exploded at the foundry of the Omaha Steel works, 4802 Leavenworth street, shortly after 9 o'clock last night, blazed brightly for twenty minutes, but did slight damage. An oil tank and a small frame engine house burned before firemen extinguished the flames.

Two unmasked bandits who entered the J. E. Danielson drug store, 2802 Farnam street, as Danielson was closing for the night at 11:35 last night, robbed him of $1 and a gold watch. One searched the cash register, but the money had been put away. Danielson explained that he had banked the day's receipts and they accepted his explanation and fled from the store.

Held on Liquor Charge.
 Ellis E. Hahn and Joan Massey, 2724 Hamilton street, were held on charge of unlawful possession of liquor after the police morals squad had raided the house last night and seized a quantity of alleged beer, wine and whisky.

Two men were held on charge of holding a public house when it was found that they had been drinking. One was held on charge of holding a public house when it was found that they had been drinking. One was held on charge of holding a public house when it was found that they had been drinking.

WILSON DEPLORES AMERICA'S COURSE AFTER WORLD WAR
 "Deeply Ignoble, Cowardly and Dishonorable," Says Former President.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—Woodrow Wilson, addressing the American people directly tonight for the first time since he left the White house, declared America's attitude after the world war was "deeply ignoble, cowardly and dishonorable."

France and Italy, Mr. Wilson also declared in a discussion of world affairs, have made "waste paper of the treaty of Versailles."

The former president said the only way in which the United States could show its true appreciation of significance of Armistice day was by resolving to put self-interest away, and to formulate and act upon the highest ideals of international politics.

Mr. Wilson spoke exactly five minutes into a radio instrument at his home here, and his message was broadcast to every section of the country.

"Sullen, selfish, isolation," he said, "should stir us to great exaltation of spirit because of the proud recollection that it was our day, a day above those early days of the new-to-be-forgotten November which lifted the world to the high levels of vision and achievement upon which the great war for democracy and right was fought and won, although the stimulating memories of that happy time of triumph are forever marred and embittered for us by the shameful fact that when the victory was won—won, he remembered, chiefly by the indomitable spirit and valiant sacrifices of our own inconquerable soldiers—we turned our backs upon our associates and refused to bear any responsible part in the administration of peace, or the firm and permanent establishment of the results of the war—won at so terrible a cost of life and treasure—and with drew into a sullen and selfish isolation which is deeply ignoble because manifestly cowardly and dishonorable."

"This must always be a source of deep mortification to us, and we shall inevitably be forced by the moral obligations of freedom and honor to retrieve that fatal error and assume once more the role of courage, self respect and helpfulness which every true American must wish and believe to be our true part in the affairs of the world."

Time Has Shown Truth.
 "That we should thus have done a great wrong to civilization, and at one of the most critical turning points in the history of mankind, the more to be deplored because every anxious year that has followed has made the exceeding need for such services as we might have rendered more and more manifest and more pressing as demoralizing circumstances which we might have controlled have gone from bad to worse until now—as it is to furnish a sort of sullen, selfish isolation and Italy between them, have made waste paper of the treaty of Versailles, and the whole field of international relationships is in perilous confusion."

"The affairs of the world can be set straight only by the firmest and most determined exhibition of the will to lead and make the right prevail."

Nation Dedicated to Peace Is Hope on Armistice Day
 Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 10.—A nation dedicated to eternal peace, but "peace with safety" is the hope of National Commander John R. Quinn of the American Legion, expressed today in an Armistice day proclamation to legionnaires and a message to the general public.

Commander Quinn requests that the people of America take example from the members of the legion at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning and pause a moment in their activities to pay tribute to the men who gave their lives for their country in the world war which ended five years ago.

"Eleven o'clock of the morning of November 11, this year, will mark the fifth anniversary of the Armistice which brought to an end the greatest war of all history," Commander Quinn's message reads.

"On that hour and day members of the American Legion all over the world will pause a moment and bow their heads in silent tribute to their comrades who gave their lives in the world war. Legionnaire buglers in thousands of places will sound 'taps' in final reverence to their dead. Is it too much to ask the entire nation to participate with the veterans in this simple tribute of silent reverence?"

"At 11 o'clock of November 11, 1918, most of us who were in the service believed we had brought to a successful end a war against war. In that belief we must confess a degree of disappointment. Is it then too much to ask also that on this, the fifth anniversary of the armistice, the entire nation dedicate itself, with us who know the real nature of war, to the ceaseless striving for perpetual peace—not to be gained by spineless pacifism or ignorant disregard for our national security, but by the promotion of international good will in any way that will not be incompatible with safety."

 Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—Business throughout the United States appears to have turned definitely toward the better during the past thirty days, according to reports on employment of workers received here this week by various government and trade organizations. The tendency toward slowing down in a number of lines has been checked, and except for the situation in the textile industry in the east and south, the country as a whole, in the light of these reports, was more active in October than in September.

Private observers here, coupled with the improved employment conditions the upswing in prices on the stock market.

Idleness among unskilled workers, which first became slightly apparent toward the end of summer, is on the decrease. In many cities, the reports state, the surplus of common labor has been absorbed, except in the larger cities where the negro workers who came north during the past few months now are finding themselves to a considerable extent, out of work.

Employment Is Upward.
 Nowhere does there appear to be as large a surplus of common labor today as there was ninety days ago, except in certain Pacific coast districts, and even there the trend is toward increased employment. In Oregon, for instance, where many common laborers are unemployed, many and other industrial establishments are reported to be running full time or overtime. The surplus is attributed to an unusual migration movement caused by the general belief that proposed big operations in the Willamette valley would give employment to many thousands of men. These operations, which will not reach that stage, it is thought, till next spring.

Building construction is reported to have shown little, if any, let down. Reports from every large city in the country, with few exceptions, tell of a call for more skilled workers than can be found. In Philadelphia a large shortage of painters is reported. There, as in Detroit and Cleveland, the surplus of negro common labor is virtually the only surplus to report among skilled and unskilled wage-workers.

Throughout the United States.

OMAHA HEARS WILSON OVER THREE STATIONS
 Omaha radio listeners last night heard former President Wilson's voice after it had been broadcast through three stations. From his residence he spoke into a microphone and his voice was carried by land line to Station WOPR, at Washington, then by radio to station WEAF, New York city, whose wave was in turn picked up and broadcast from station WGY at Schenectady.

Mr. Wilson's voice was that of an old man at times during the five-minute period the static drowned out his words. He was easily understood when he wished to give special emphasis.

BAVARIA MAY SEE NEW REVOLUTION AGAINST VON KAHR
 Fatherland Alliance Demands Knilling Resign by Noon Today.

MUNICH CROWDS SHOUT DEFIANCE TO DICTATOR
 Special Licensed Wire.
 Berlin, Nov. 10.—The Fatherland alliance at Munich tonight gave Herr von Kahr an ultimatum, demanding the resignation of the von Knilling cabinet before noon tomorrow. This alliance of nationalist troops also demanded an amnesty for Herr Hitler's troops, excluding only Herr Hitler himself, and the dissolution of the Bavarian parliament.

The organization of former army officers demanded a court of honor to try General von Lossow and Colonel Sieffert.

The Austrian government today gave orders that all guards on the front arrest Herr Hitler should he attempt to cross the border.

 Berlin, Nov. 10.—"Down with von Kahr" is the cry that is shouted in Munich streets today. Angry, milling crowds that have been filling the streets since early this morning are calling the Bavarian dictator a traitor and are baiting mounted police who several times have been forced to charge mobs with lances.

Herr Kahr's position appears to be growing more impossible at every moment. For the first time since the announcement of the dictatorship, riots and plundering of food shops are feared. Adolph Hitler's program of bread and work has kept the jobless at bay.

Herr Hitler, after his abortive coup of Thursday night and his subsequent arrest by Dr. von Kahr yesterday, made good his escape to Trovum in a motor car during the night. At that point he is gathering troops, who will attempt again to seize the government.

In the eastern suburbs of Munich monarchist troops are being assembled, and the situation is far from clear.

Ludendorff Barred.
 General Ludendorff, who was arrested with Herr Hitler yesterday, was released this morning on his word of honor not to attempt another uprising against the government. He is more unpopular than ever in Bavaria, especially since his declaration yesterday that the attempt was made against his advice.

Premier von Knilling's government is holding its position today, but the political chiefs have decided for an entirely new government, with change in policy. On Monday a new cabinet will be formed.

The Bavarian peoples' party has declared itself loyal to the constitutional government at Berlin, and it is bearing the brunt in organizing the new government. One of its party chiefs probably will be named premier, and Bavarian dictator.

dads and departed from Lincoln tonight, a sadder and wiser crew. The Notre Dame, conqueror of Princeton, Georgia Tech and Army, came to Nebraska heralded from coast to coast as the "wonder" team. Tonight it departed, its banner smeared with a Nebraska defeat.

It was the second time in two years that Notre Dame has bowed to defeat. The other defeat was the 14 to 6 trouncing administered by the Cornhusker in the Thanksgiving day game last fall.

A crowd of 30,000, a record maker for Missouri Valley football, saw the Nebraska triumph.

The large gathering, prepared to see the Huskers battle a team game, went wild when Dwyer Noble, the "Big Moose" of the Nebraska backfield, scored the first touchdown, and when the whistle sounded for the end of the game, rushing out on the field in a frenzied dance of triumph.

The Nebraska victory should have been achieved by even a more decisive margin. Nebraska once carried the ball across the Notre Dame goal line only to lose it on a fumble. The Notre Dame touchdown came to last forty seconds of play when the Nebraska line represented mostly second-string players.
