

MYCHARLESTONQUARANTINE

BY LIZ FOSTER || lfoster@postandcourier.com

In keeping with Charleston Scene’s cover story on local musicians relegated to outside stages and live-streaming because of the COVID-19 pandemic, this week’s word search is all about outdoor (non-socially distanced) music festivals from the late 1960s to today. Well, until this past March. Included are 39 of the biggest festivals in history and, yes, Sasquatch is a real one — it was an indie alternative/experimental music fest typically held on Memorial Day weekend in George, Washington (that’s real too). The 14 hidden words are performers from the 1969 Woodstock Rock Festival. Some are just first names, as I couldn’t make everything fit, but you’ll know them when you see them — it’s not like I just put “Bob” or “David” in there. One hidden band is its acronym. Rock on, y’all!
