Downtown flooding

When the Charleston peninsula floods, it’s a reminder that much of the present-day downtown is built upon filled-in creeks and marsh. City officials say a huge drainage project will be finished by 2021.

NOTE: Historic elevation details from a map created by A.O. Halsey in 1949.