Leon Guerrero-Tenorio Administration Names Chief of Staff Jon Junior Calvo as Executive Transition Director

Hagåtña, Guam — Following the incoming Ada-Calvo Administration's announcement of its transition leadership, Governor Lourdes A. Leon Guerrero and Lieutenant Governor Joshua F. Tenorio have designated Chief of Staff Jon Junior Calvo as Executive Transition Director to coordinate the orderly transfer of executive branch responsibilities.

Calvo will serve as the outgoing administration's primary liaison with the Ada-Calvo team, working with government agencies, departments, and Executive Office staff to facilitate briefings, respond to information requests, and provide essential records and resources.

He will work directly with the incoming leadership to establish a transition process that reflects its priorities, preferences, and objectives while ensuring continuity of government operations and public services.

"The peaceful and orderly transfer of government is an essential responsibility of public service," said Governor Leon Guerrero. "We are committed to providing the incoming administration with the information, resources, and support it needs to prepare for the responsibilities ahead and serve the people of Guam."

Lieutenant Governor Tenorio emphasized the importance of cooperation and continuity throughout the change in leadership.

"Good government requires us to put the people we serve above politics," said Lieutenant Governor Tenorio. "We have a responsibility to share our experience, preserve institutional knowledge, and help position the next administration for success. The people of Guam deserve nothing less than our full cooperation and support."

The Leon Guerrero-Tenorio Administration remains committed to a professional and cooperative transfer of leadership that puts the interests of the people of Guam first.
