

Tiffany Boyle

Metropolitan Business League's

MEMBER OF THE MONTH

Tiffany Boyle is a dynamic leader in business and government. As the Commissioner of Revenue for Newport News, Virginia, and CEO of Emerge Initiatives, LLC, she merges public service with entrepreneurship.

Emerge Initiatives provides business owners with essential resources, including documentation, social media management, and brand development. Tiffany also co-hosts the Emerge Radio Show & Podcast, where she interviews entrepreneurs and shares valuable insights for CEOs.

Elected in 2017, Tiffany made history as the first African American woman to serve as Commissioner of Revenue in Newport News. She manages a $2.8 million budget and oversees a team focused on tax assessment and compliance.

Tiffany's leadership has earned her recognition as one of 125 remarkable women selected from 12,000 nominees by NewNation, an award presented by Nexstar Media Group. Her community initiatives, such as the "Commissioners and Cans: Food and Fund Drive," have significantly alleviated food insecurity in Newport News. Additionally, she established Virginia's first Minority Business Commission, championing economic equity and opportunity, and leaving a lasting impact on her community and beyond.
