Organizer: Hazel, Bill (GOV)
Required Attendees: Hare, Keith (GOV); Cobb, Matt (GOV)

When: Thursday, November 04, 2010 9:00 AM-10:00 AM (GMT-05:00) Eastern Time (US & Canada).

Where: Dr Hazel's Office

Note: The GMT offset above does not reflect daylight saving time adjustments.

At the request of the Governor

Hi Elaina,

Jonnie will be the only one attending the meeting. Jonnie spoke with the Governor recently about a new product that Star Scientific, Inc. is developing that has the potential to save Virginia citizens money on health care. The Governor told Jonnie he needs to speak to Dr. Hazel in reference to this. Jonnie said it shouldn't take anymore than an hour. Again, Thank you for the meeting on such short notice.

Perfect for what you have. And let's hope this convo is a waste of time and that we will never need them – but either way we are prepared. I think things (i.e. dress and cake topper) that don't really involve mansion should be fine. The main things that would likely be in question would be things that are mansions that you could have used (alcohol, food, state chef, etc.). So, really I think we are fine – just keep that in the back of your head.

Right now they are asking about types of food, colors, how many people attending. So very general questions – hope it stays that way!

But it really will be cool too look back in 20 years and see newspaper articles on your wedding!

Subject: RE: Reminder

I have receipts for the photographer, rehearsal dinner, DJ, liquor, and beer so far. We'll be sure to get one for the jewelry. Do you think we need receipts for everything, down to the dress or the cake topper? There's so many, we couldn't hardly track all of them. I'll have emails with my account info on it though.

Subject: Reminder

Keep copies of all invoices and checks in case something comes up (i.e. FOIA request) – Tucker already got the question of who is paying and the response is “McDonnell family” – but you never know what will brew and grow over next couple days/weeks....

I have the copy of the check for the wine, and the Celebrations ad in the RTD...those are the only 2 I have.

The most important one (I think) will be your parents check for the catering – that's a huge chunk and it will eventually come out that it's Todd's company (we are trying to keep quiet and not release right now), but if it comes up, then we think they will want to see proof of payment by family and not state.

Thanks Tucker.

A couple of other things:

- Who is Cailin marrying?
- Are the McDonnells/groom's family covering all of the costs -- I believe the caterer is the mansion chef, is he on the clock or off, etc?
- St. Patrick's in Church Hill?

Thanks
Olympia

Past weddings/receptions at Mansion:

Evelyn Hoge Tyler, sister of Governor James Hoge Tyler (1898 - 1902) married a Mr. Miller at the Mansion.

Robert M. Hughes of Norfolk, Virginia, reported to the Richmond News Leader in February 1931, that his parents had been married in the Mansion. Robert W. Hughes and Eliza Mary Johnston were married at the Governor's house on June 4, 1850. Reverend Jones from St. Paul's Church performed the ceremony. The event was recorded in the family bible. John M. Daniel, editor of the Richmond Examiner during the Civil War, was mentioned as a groomsman.

During the administration of William E. Cameron (1882 - 1886), his niece, Miss Freeman, married W. G. Forbes, a Richmond attorney. The couple later moved to Farmville, Virginia. [

Richmond News Leader, Jan. 27, 1931.]

Miss Ann Willing Carter, the youngest daughter of Colonel Thomas M. Carter of King William County, married Roger Dulaney on November 22, 1888 during Fitzhugh Lee's administration as governor (1886 - 1890). Ann Carter was a cousin of Governor Lee's. [

Richmond News Leader, Jan. 20, 1931.]

Prior to the departure of state troops to the Spanish-American war, Miss Kate Vaughn and Oscar Wright were married at the Governor's Mansion. Miss Vaughn's father was a classmate of then Governor J. Hoge Tyler (1898 - 1902). [

Richmond News Leader, Feb. 11, 1931.]

Winston Edmunds, who served as a butler at the Mansion from Fitzhugh Lee's administration until his death in 1933, was also married at the Mansion to one of the maids in 1893. The ceremony took place in the dining room. Governor Philip Watkins McKinney then let them go to Chicago for a wedding trip. [

Richmond Times Dispatch, Dec. 16, 1933.]

Susan Pollard, daughter of Governor John Garland Pollard (1930 - 1934) was married to J. Lee Boatwright in the Mansion in 1931. The sideboard and the dinning room table were removed and the altar was placed against the back wall. The house was candle-lit for the ceremony, and lighted tapers lit the bride's procession from the wide stairway to the altar. Dr. Goodwin of Williamsburg was the officiating clergyman. On the bride's prayer stand was placed a piece of real lace from a parasol belonging to Marie Antoinette. [Holton Tour Script.]

Governor and Mrs. Albertis S. Harrison Jr. held a wedding reception for their daughter, Antoinette, in the Mansion in 1963. There were so many guests that the bride did not cut the cake until close to midnight!

Katherine Dalton, daughter of Governor John Dalton (1978 - 1982) held her wedding reception in a yellow and white striped tent in the garden of the Executive Mansion in 1980.

Governor Douglas Wilder's youngest daughter, Loren, was married to Dr. Edward James at St. Paul's Episcopal Church on Saturday, April 24, 1993. The couple rode in a horse drawn carriage from the church to the Mansion for the wedding reception.

In December of 2006, the niece of Governor Mark Warner and Lisa Collis was married in the Executive Mansion.

In October of 2010, Mary Shea Sutherland, First Lady Maureen McDonnell's Chief of Staff, had her wedding reception at the wedding.

I really do not know anything about tomorrow's lunch – that's Mary Shea's deal – she's cc'ed on it, so I will have her respond, or get the info from her and send your way shortly.

I can do a short briefing for Wednesday, but not sure of all the details – Martin just emailed and said Gov wanted to do small reception...but not sure purpose, etc. Still trying to get through emails from when I was gone...have some RSVP's for Wednesday in email – so once I get through those, I will send briefing and list of attendees!

Hi Sarah!

I was wondering if it would be possible to send over any briefing information you have for the Virginia Researchers' Lunch tomorrow at the Mansion? I know it was a recent addition to his calendar!

Also, do you have a briefing for the Cabinet Reception on Wednesday? Just so you know, he will be arriving a little after 5 because he has a meeting at the Suntrust building that goes until 5:00.

I'm sure that things are a little crazy for you since you are just getting back from vacation, but I wanted to touch base with you about these events!

Thanks,
Emily

Dear Maureen,

it was a pleasure talking to you on the plane yesterday about your longstanding interest in public health.

At Jonnie's request, we I sending you a short summary of our discussion yesterday.

In public health, it is widely accepted that the best medical systems are in Scandinavian countries. There are several reasons for excellence in public health, but a very important one is their epidemiological data about their populations' health. They have good estimates of how any people have particular diseases, and can, therefore, take corrective action to lessen the medical burden related to those diseases. In the US, a similar epidemiological approach is available only for a limited number of diseases, mainly for cancers (through the SEERS database) and for infections (through the CDC). In contrast, for autoimmune and chronic inflammatory conditions, available data are scanty. We do not know, for example, how many people in Virginia have autoimmune thyroiditis or rheumatoid arthritis.

Consequently, it would be of value to perform a study of Virginia government employees of to determine the prevalences of autoimmune and inflammatory conditions. This information could be derived from their medical histories and blood tests, such as the C reactive protein marker that was discussed yesterday. If a sufficient number of employees agree to participate in this cross-sectional study (like a snapshot), then one could extrapolate this information to the adult population of the entire state of Virginia (and perhaps the US). We believe that this would already be a unique epidemiological study, which, I think, has never previously been performed in the U.S.

Next, to tie in Jonnie's anti-inflammatory product, one could add a follow-up data assessment, say 6 months after the initial screening, to assess whether the inflammatory markers screened for at the initial visit have been decreased in employees who have taken anatabine. This second part would, of course, more involved and require additional an informed consent. Nevertheless, the initiation of such a screening program for inflammatory conditions would be of great value for a state and for the scientific community as well.

Kind regards,

Thanks Mario! Thanks for your email and I printed your it out and shared it with my husband. He said he'd like to talk to some people to look into it and discern what the best approach for Virginia would be. See you in CA!! ~mm

Hey Elaina,

We have a reception scheduled on February 29 for the healthcare industry. I hope this works for you all's calendar. Can you please confirm.

Also, can you all please start putting together the list of who you would like invited. Attached is the template for you to use when compiling the list. Would love to get the invites out by February 1, so if you can have the list back to me in 2 weeks (January 31) that would be wonderful.

I can give you all an estimate of the cost once I see how many are on the list. However, for an event with 150, it will be around $3,000.

Thank you!

Sarah

I'm confident your office is 'powered' for defining the study's straightforward outcomes. Glad to hear that you could proceed with the study based on Essex IRB approval alone. The company has just been concerned about delays if local hospital IRB approval was also required.

By a copy of this message, I am asking the trial coordinator Amy Cohen to get in touch with you directly to share the full protocol. Then we can talk some more.

Best regards

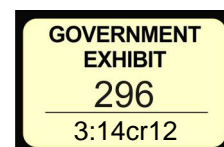

Paul

Dear Paul,

As an office clinical trial first timer, I truly don't know what is required for approval by Essex IRB but would be happy to have you look into what is necessary. As you know, both Mark and I hold academic appointments through Georgetown. We maintain a licensed in house lab for thyroid function studies, but I would assume that testing would likely be centralized. We have in house ultrasound available, but could also have all studies done by one of our radiology colleagues. Bob O'Connell is still a friend and colleague.

It's possible that it will be easier for you to go through someone who specializes in doing large numbers of office-based clinical trials. If so, no harm -no foul.

Since Mark and I are in no way employed by INOVA (Fairfax Hospital's parent group), I don't think their approval is necessary if the study has other institutional approval.

Dear Frank,

Thanks for your message and interest in the trial.

Before we move ahead with further discussions, I wondered if your office would be able to carry out the study based on its approval by Essex IRB, a highly reputation commercial IRB with a 25 year history of reliable performance—or whether the study would have to be approved by your hospital/health system as well.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Subject: Yesterday's discussion

Dear Paul,

I had the chance to speak with Mark Tanen concerning the research protocol for treatment of early Hashimoto's disease. The agent and the protocol sound interesting. While Mark and I have been reluctant to do clinical research in the office for the reasons I discussed with you yesterday, the chance to offer a possible intervention for early Hashimoto's is somehow different. Many of my Haashimoto's patients immediately ask, "what can I do to improve the situation?" I really haven't had much to offer them up to now, save for selenium.

Mark and would love to learn more about the "nuts and bolts" of the study so that we can take things to the next level. I really don't think that it would be difficult to recruit 20 patients for the study from within our practice.

Best wishes,

Frank

Hi, Maureen!

I hope you are doing well! Jonnie Williams, Sr. has asked me to compile a list of MD's in the area for you to include on your invitation list for the event coming up the end of February. I have attached a list of about 35 MD's in the Richmond area for you to invite. Just in case they do inquire, is there any way I can get a copy of the invitation that you send out?

Let me know if you need anything else from me! Thanks!

PS: I saw the Governor live on Fox the other morning... He did such a great job!

Dear Amy,

I've had the chance to review the information you forwarded to me. I don't think we would have any problem completing the protocol in our office. We have the space and the personnel. While we may well be able to recruit a sufficient number of study subjects from our own practice, there is never a guarantee, and we may need to look at the most effective way of recruiting study subjects quickly.

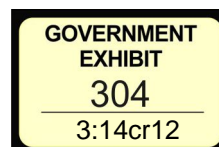

Best wishes,

Frank Crantz

Subject: More names

The First Lady and Governor were going over list last night for the healthcare industry event. The Governor wants to make sure the people below are included in the list. Can you tell me if they are already on there. If not, do you have information on who these folks are that you can send me?

- Head officers at VCU/MCV, UVA, EVMS, Massey Cancer Center
- President and Chief Medical Officers at top 10 health systems in VA (he specifically mentioned Sontera, Riverside, and Bon Secours, but wants the top 10).

The First Lady just sent a list of about 50 docs to be added to the list, so we are sending those out today. The other invites went out yesterday!

Thanks for your help!

Sarah

Kristen,

Can you please print the list below for FLOVA?

FLOVA, this is RGA's list (plus Paige), if you'd like to review it and put a check next to who'd you like to invite for the health care reception at the Mansion. RGA said if we send them an invitation, via email, they'll send it out to those attendees your approve. They'd like to do this in the event they get questions about follow-up not related to just the Mansion event, but RGA, since RGA is meeting at the end of this month in DC during NGA. Once invites are sent by them they'll work with your staff to give them all RSVP feedback for the Mansion event.

They're trying to limit your office from having to deal with follow-up.

The attached list is not yet formatted but please see the following guide for reference

In the "attend" column:

2 means attending with guest

1 means attending

0 is not attending

No entry means no response

I have sorted the spreadsheet so that those attending are listed first.

Thanks!

Better late than never ☺ Attached is the healthcare event invoice. I took off the cost for the 25 people who came b/c the First Lady invited them (which brings 'your guest count' to 100 people)!

Thanks and have a great weekend!

Hi guys--

During his Monday gaggle, Gov. McDonnell told Olympia that there have been 225 or 230 events for businesses held at the mansion since he was elected. Could I have a list of those events, as well as an indication of which were paid for by Opportunity Virginia and which were paid for by the state?

Is that something that you need a FOIA for or can it be handled as an informal inquiry? I'm going to have a couple of FOIAs for you shortly on other topics. (I'm sure you're shocked, just shocked.)

Donor gave McDonnell and family a lake-house vacation

This photograph shows a Ferrari owned by Star Scientific Inc. CEO Jonnie R. Williams Sr. parked at Virginia's historic governor's mansion. A spokesman for Gov. Robert F. McDonnell said that at the conclusion of a vacation provided by Williams in July 2011, the governor and his family drove the car from Smith Mountain Lake to Richmond as a favor to the CEO. Virginia Gov. Robert F. McDonnell took a lake-house vacation in 2011 courtesy of the same major campaign donor who paid for the food at the wedding of the governor's daughter that summer.

When the July vacation ended, the McDonnell family borrowed a Ferrari owned by Star Scientific's chief executive Jonnie R. Williams Sr. for the three-hour ride back to Richmond. The model had a retail price of $190,000.

McDonnell's spokesman said the governor and his family have taken a vacation at Smith Mountain Lake near Roanoke every summer since he took office in 2010 — each time as a gift from a donor.

McDonnell (R) referenced the 2011 trip on his mandatory financial disclosure forms, spokesman Tucker Martin said. The form includes a line indicating that the governor received $2,268 in “lodging and entertainment” that year from Williams, but it provides no details about the gift.

Under Virginia law, elected officials are allowed to accept gifts of any size, including vacations, provided they are annually disclosed.

The vacation at Williams's lake house adds new details about McDonnell's relationship with the donor, which has been under scrutiny since The Washington Post reported that Williams paid $15,000 for catering at the June 2011 wedding of McDonnell's daughter, Cailin. The gift came as McDonnell and his wife Maureen worked to promote the company, which was introducing a new product.

It also highlights the lack of specificity required of gift disclosures in Virginia. The law sets virtually no requirements for what level of detail needs to be revealed.

McDonnell's 2011 form provides no indication that the gift from Williams was a vacation, nor does it provide the date of the gift. It offers no breakdown to indicate how he determined what the gift was worth.

There is no ethics panel or other entity in Virginia to review the forms for accuracy.

During his 2009 campaign for governor, McDonnell called for the creation of an ethics panel, but after his election he decided one was unnecessary after the establishment of a new inspector general charged with investigating fraud at state agencies.

Martin, the governor's spokesman, confirmed the gift from Williams. He said McDonnell and his family stayed for four days at Williams's home at Smith Mountain Lake, a popular vacation destination.

Martin said that as a favor to the executive, the family drove one of Williams's cars, a Range Rover, to the lake house and drove the Ferrari back to Richmond from Franklin County.

"There was no recreational use of vehicles," Martin said. "The family was simply helping Mr. Williams get one car to his Smith Mountain Lake house and return another to Richmond."

Jerry Kilgore, an attorney for Williams, declined to comment.

McDonnell is not the only elected official who has taken family vacations courtesy of donors. In 2005, Timothy M. Kaine (D) reported receiving an $18,000 gift from investor James B. Murray Jr., who had contributed $41,000 to Kaine's campaign. Kaine was serving as Virginia's lieutenant governor and was elected governor that year.

Kaine, now a U.S. senator, described the gift on his statement of economic interest as the "free use of Caribbean vacation home."

A spokeswoman for Kaine said the gift covered the family's lodging for a trip taken right after Kaine's election. She said it was the only donation of its kind Kaine received.

Virginia Attorney General Ken Cuccinelli II also reported receiving the free use of a lake house and boat from Williams in 2011, which he valued at $3,000.

Martin said McDonnell and his family have accepted lake-house vacations as gifts each year since 2010 — a fact that is not discernible from his disclosure forms.

In 2010 and 2012, the trips were funded by Delta Star, a Lynchburg company that manufactures power transformers and which has contributed $79,000 to McDonnell's campaign and political action committee. Steve Jones, Delta Star's chief financial officer, said the company is unrelated to Williams or Star Scientific.

"We have been friends of the governor for quite some time," Jones said. "Delta Star appreciates the Governor's pro-business stance on assisting small businesses in Virginia. We know as Governor, it may be hard to get away with family to rest, and our Company is pleased we were able to offer this to him during the summer months."

In 2010, McDonnell reported receiving $2,474 in "lodging, activities and meals" from Delta Star. In 2012, he indicated that the company provided him with $10,182 in "lodging and event expenses." There is no mention of a vacation or the lake house.

The 2011 trip, however, came as a gift both from Williams and from Delta Star, from whom McDonnell reported receiving $1,892 in “meals and entertainment.”

Williams’s vacation home is currently for sale, listed at $639,000. A Realtor handling the property said the home has a boat dock and especially good views of the lake.

Hemmed in by the picturesque Blue Ridge Mountains, the Smith Mountain Lake community offers golf, tennis, a country club and an executive chef, she said. A local ordinance forbids short-term rentals in the community, Realtor Vicki Millehan said.

The summer of 2011 saw intense interactions among the McDonnell family, Williams and his company.

On June 1, 2011, McDonnell’s wife Maureen flew to Florida, where she spoke at a gathering of doctors and investors interested in learning more about anatabine, the key ingredient in a nutritional supplement called Anatabloc that Star Scientific was introducing to the market.

She told the group that she supported the anti-inflammatory product and believed it could be used to lower health-care costs in Virginia, according to attendees.

Three days later, the McDonnells celebrated Cailin McDonnell's wedding at the governor's mansion in Richmond, where the food came as a gift from Williams.

McDonnell has said there was no need for him to disclose Williams's $15,000 check for the food because it was provided as a wedding gift to Cailin and her husband. The law does not require elected officials to disclose gifts to family members.

Advertisement

But documents obtained by The Washington Post show that McDonnell signed the contract for the catering, accepting financial responsibility.

McDonnell has refused to say whether Williams provided other gifts to members of his family.

In August 2011, McDonnell opened the governor's mansion to a luncheon hosted by his wife that marked the official launch of Anatabloc. A doctor who attended the event said it was intended to make a splash for the product.

The July 28 vacation took place between the wedding and the event at the mansion.

McDonnell has described his and his wife's efforts to showcase Anatabloc as part of a broad campaign to promote state businesses. He has complied with state gift disclosure laws throughout his time in public office, McDonnell has said. Through a spokesman, he has said he would be open to supporting possible changes in gift laws.

McDonnell daughter to hold wedding reception at mansion

Advertisement

By Anita Kumar June 2, 2011

RICHMOND — Virginia’s historic governor’s mansion has survived nearly two centuries, 54 governors and a Civil War. Now, it’s time for a wedding.

On Saturday, Gov. Robert F. McDonnell will walk his daughter down the aisle at St. Patrick’s Catholic Church before Virginia’s first family opens the doors to the mansion for a late-afternoon reception.

About 200 guests will wander the estate’s gardens and ornate rooms filled with art and artifacts dating to a bygone era as they celebrate the marriage of Cailin McDonnell and Chris Young. The couple met in college and have dated for six years.

First lady Maureen McDonnell said her daughter fell in love with the house the moment the family walked through it shortly after McDonnell (R) was elected governor in November 2009.

“Ever since they are born, for every little girl, they start dreaming about their wedding day,” said McDonnell, her voice breaking. “We just thought this would be an amazing place. It’s always been a dream to live in a place of history.”

The butter-yellow Federal-style mansion is touted as the longest continually occupied governor’s residence in the nation. It has been home to three future U.S. presidents, visited by the likes of Charles Lindbergh, Queen Elizabeth II and Barack Obama — and featured on “American Idol.”

Records from the governor’s office indicate that only four daughters of governors have been married or held wedding receptions at the mansion, built in 1813. The last was the youngest of L. Douglas Wilder.

Loren Deane Wilder married Edward Joseph James 18 years ago in a white-tie wedding at St. Paul’s Episcopal Church and then rode in a horse-drawn carriage across the street for a reception attended by 450 guests.

“It just seemed like the perfect place,” said Loren James, who lives with her husband and two sons in Northern Virginia. “How many people can say they have done that?”

“It was a fairy tale,” said her father, the nation’s first elected black governor. “I was happy I was able to do that for her.”

McDonnell may have learned a thing or two from former governor John N. Dalton (R), who was criticized for trying to charge taxpayers for a $2,500 yellow-and-white tent for his daughter's wedding. McDonnell spokesman Tucker Martin said the family is picking up the tab for all wedding costs.

Over the years, a handful of governors' relatives have used the mansion for weddings. The first was at the turn of the century and the most recent was the niece of Gov. Mark R. Warner (D) in December 2005.

"It's your house," said Roxane Gilmore, wife of former governor James S. Gilmore (R), whose book about the mansion is set to be released in November. "You have graduation parties. Your children get married. You do the things you normally do. You just do it down there. You can't put your lives on hold."

The Gilmores — who raised two sons in the mansion — moved out for six months so the house could undergo a $7 million renovation that both restored its historic accuracy and made it more modern.

Advertisement

The house — once in the center of the capital of the Confederacy — has served as a gathering place for dignitaries of all sorts: queens, prime ministers, ambassadors, presidents and state lawmakers. It is estimated that at least 20,000 tourists visit annually and that 100 receptions, breakfasts, recitals and other events take place there each year. It still features a table from Patrick Henry and a china cabinet from Virginia's 24th governor, William Giles, who began serving in 1827.

Cailin McDonnell, 26, who works at the Henrico County Victim Witness Office, and Young, 27, an engineer, will marry at St. Patrick's before they retreat to the mansion for the reception. Guests will include House Majority Leader Eric Cantor (R-Va.) and his wife, Diana, chairman of the Virginia Retirement System board, who are former neighbors and longtime friends of the McDonnells.

Cailin is the first of the McDonnells' five children to get married. Her sisters, Jeanine and Rachel, will serve as two of six bridesmaids. Her twin brothers, Sean and Bobby, who attend the University of Virginia, will be two of six groomsmen.

McDonnell, a staunch supporter of Virginia wines, will serve wine only from the Old Dominion, including the Barboursville and Chatham vineyards.

The menu will include fresh poached jumbo Virginia shrimp, bruschetta made with Virginia tomatoes, stuffed free-range chicken breast with Virginia tomato pan sauce, sesame crusted chicken satay, marinated and grilled London broil served with fresh horseradish, as well as locally grown fruit, a salad bar, assorted cheeses and a smashed-potato bar.

The bride will wear a white strapless satin A-line Maggie Sottero dress with lace embellishments from Maya Couture Bridal Salon in Virginia Beach.

“She knows herself very well,” owner Maya Warburton said of the bride. “It’s classic, yet romantic and very soft.”

The top five vote-getters are listed alphabetically in each category.
Some categories may have more than five names or more than one asterisked name because of ties.
Fewer than five doctors are listed in some categories if votes did not reach the cutoff set by the magazine's staff.

Hey Sarah,

I hope I'm not losing my mind completely... do you know anything about a "Lunch with Virginia Researchers" scheduled at the Mansion for the 30th?
