

Population growth

The number of people who have moved from the northern part of Virginia to the Richmond region has been steadily growing, according to census data.

Lee Enterprises graphic