CHARLOTTESVILLE — A rally that drew white nationalists from around the country to protest the removal of a Confederate statue from a city park here quickly devolved into hectic brawls Saturday, later giving way to terror and death when a car plowed into a crowd of hundreds of anti-racist counterprotesters. Officials said a 32-year-old woman was killed and 19 people were treated for injuries suffered during the crash, which took place just off a popular pedestrian mall in
