

DRAWING WITH MARK!

Get a pencil and use the grid below to draw the snowman as shown. The grids will help you line everything up. Keep practicing and having fun!

Watch Drawing with Mark!

- Check your local listings at www.DrawingwithMark.com
- Find the award-winning "Drawing with Mark" DVD episodes at Amazon.com and www.moviezyng/DWM.aspx

WORD FIND

Snow	Summer
Winter	Bikeride
Outdoors	Bonfire
Fort	Games
Hike	Seasons

Q	O	X	M	E	K	I	H	B	S
H	U	X	Q	R	M	Q	L	I	I
E	T	H	D	G	D	R	S	K	V
R	D	W	S	S	U	H	R	E	Y
I	O	U	O	E	F	O	H	R	A
F	O	S	R	N	M	Y	H	I	S
N	R	K	P	E	S	A	D	D	T
O	S	P	F	U	T	D	G	E	T
B	M	H	F	U	P	N	X	U	R
V	S	U	M	M	E	R	I	C	O
S	J	U	M	Y	I	I	M	W	F
M	Z	N	S	E	A	S	O	N	S

Let it snow!

BIGSTOCK/FREEPIK

By Erika Enigk
More Content Now

It's winter, and in a time when you've probably been indoors a lot more than usual, you might be itching to get outdoors. Chances are you're not doing too much swimming or playing outside for hours like you would in warmer seasons, but even if you live where it's really cold, there's plenty you can do, as long as you're dressed for it.

Play in the snow

If you live in a place where it snows, there are tons of cool things to do. Chances are you've built a snowman before, but have you ever built a snow fort? This could be really fun if you have a lot of snow to work with, especially if there's a spot where shoveled snow is piled high. Shape it using a bread pan to make bricks, or simply use your hands to form long walls. Pour cold water over your finished fort so it will freeze in place. You can even spray water with food coloring to give your fort a fun look.

You can also play snow games like making a target in chalk on your garage (ask an adult first) or the driveway and throwing snowballs to try to hit the target.

No snow? No problem!

There's plenty to do outdoors in the winter even if you can't have snowy fun. Bike riding can be fun all year long. You could take a hike and see what looks different from summertime. You might see different animals or notice that your view has changed because the leaves have fallen off the trees. And you won't even get left out of fort building. While you're on your hike, collect some sturdy twigs and build a stick fort. You can work with a tree as the base and lean your sticks up against it, or ask an adult to help bring some heavy logs to provide the bottom of your fort and lay some sticks on top to provide the shelter. You can pile leaves over your sticks to keep your fort hidden.

And there's nothing wrong with a good winter picnic or outdoor movie. Bring some soup, curl up in a blanket and maybe even ask an adult to build a bonfire so you can toast marshmallows for dessert.

Activity: Hot chocolate time

Want to warm up after your time outside? Try some homemade hot chocolate.

You'll need:

- 4 cups of milk
- ¼ cup unsweetened cocoa powder
- ½ cup hot water
- An adult to help

In a medium saucepan, combine the cocoa powder, sugar and water. Cook and stir until smooth, then add milk, not letting the mixture boil. When the mixture is warm, remove from the heat and pour into mugs. If you want variety, you can stir it with a candy cane for a minty taste or add marshmallows.

ANGELS FROM THE ATTIC By Mark Marderosian

Watch our cartoons on batteryPOP.com

