Roe v. Wade:

“an exercise of raw judicial power”

-Supreme Court Justice Byron White

The Supreme Court's 1973 Roe v. Wade decision legalized abortion for any reason. Now, after more than thirty-two years under Roe more than 47 million unborn children have been aborted. The majority of those abortions were performed for social reasons.¹ Yet poll after poll continues to show that an increasing majority of Americans are opposed to abortion as a method of birth control.² And in 2000, the Supreme Court ruled that Roe v. Wade allowed and protected the brutal partial-birth abortion procedure -- a practice opposed by over 70% of all Americans.³ It's time to put an end to the barbaric legacy of Roe v. Wade and restore laws that protect the lives of unborn children.

Roe v. Wade:

*More than thirty-two years...
More than 47 million children dead and counting...*

1. Aida Torres & J.D. Forrest, "Why Do Women have Abortions?" Family Planning Perspectives (Planned Parenthood), Vol. 20, No. 4 (July/August 1988), p.170, reported 93% of women who have had abortions did so for "social reasons."
2. An April 2005 poll by The Polling Company found that 62% were opposed to abortions except to save the life of the mother and in cases of rape or incest.
3. A November 2000 poll by Wirthlin Worldwide found that 73% favored the ban on partial-birth abortion.
