

Corporations provide relatively high percentage of Plant Sciences funding

Compared to other CAFNR departments, Plant Sciences receives less funding proportionally from the federal government, but more funding from private corporations.

Note: These figures do not include funding given to MU Extension. The figures are totals for fiscal years 2009 to 2018. Plant Sciences, Natural Resources and Animal Sciences are departments within CAFNR. Finally, the federal category denotes only money directly received from the federal government; other federal funds may have been received through organizations in the other categories.
