Orthopedic surgery with commitment, precision and technology.

Barbara Beggs' active routines came to a halt when she tore her meniscus. She consulted with Matthew Varacallo, MD, MBA, FAAOS, a board-certified orthopedic surgeon at Penn Highlands DuBois, and was impressed.

“Dr. Varacallo listened to my concerns and respected my wishes to repair the meniscus rather than clip it. The surgery went great. I’m a perfectionist and I wanted to ensure that the degree of bend in both knees was equal – which it is. I cannot be more pleased with the results.”

Six months following surgery Barbara was back to enjoying her favorite activities!
