Metcalf expected to play vs. Dolphins on Monday hospital visit won't keep Pittsburgh Steelers wide receiver DK Metcalf from playing next week against Miami.

Steelers coach Mike Tomlin said Metcalf was hit in the abdomen at some point during Pittsburgh's 27-22 victory in Baltimore on Sunday and remained behind when the issue persisted after Metcalf was treated with over-the-counter remedies during the game.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A brief worse after the game and and so I'm cial teams ace Ben Skowronek exit- was placed on injured reserve two fortune is another man's opportunity appreciative of our medical experts," Tomlin said. "We just exercised an abundance of precaution. We didn't want to get him in the air without having a complete understanding about what he was dealing with and they did a good job of that."

Metcalf finished with season highs in receptions (seven) and yards (148) as Pittsburgh regained control of the AFC North. The two-time Pro Bowler also filled in as a gunner on punt "It got probably progressively coverage late in the game after speed with an injury, something Metcalf hadn't done since high school.

"I just think that's what time of year it is, that's what type of game it was," Tomlin said.

Tomlin added that Metcalf is "moving in the right direction" and he doesn't anticipate the issue jeopardizing Metcalf's availability when the Steelers try to win their 23rd straight home Monday night game.

The news isn't as promising at left tackle. Starter Broderick Jones weeks ago. Andrus Peat, who filled in for Jones, is in the concussion protocol and backup Calvin Anderson is out after getting injured in practice.

Dylan Cook took over for Peat against Baltimore and would get the nod if Peat doesn't exit the protocol in time.

"He certainly has worked hard and has been professional," Tomlin said of Cook. "I loved his his mindset when when he went in. Happy for him. Oftentimes one man's misand he may get another opportunity this week. We'll see where the week leads us.'

Rookie defensive lineman Derrick Harmon could return after missing two games with a knee injury unrelated to the knee injury that forced him to sit out Weeks 1 and 2.

Linebacker Malik Harrison and tight end Darnell Washington are also in the concussion protocol. Cornerback James Pierre is dealing with a calf injury.

White Sox win MLB draft lottery; Pirates to pick fifth

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The the top pick in 1971, and he played Chicago White Sox won Major League Baseball's amateur draft lottery Tuesday and will have the top selection for the first time since taking Harold Baines in 1977.

Coming off a 102-loss season, Chicago had the highest odds to win the weighted lottery at 27.73%. The White Sox will have the No. 1 selection for the third time when the draft starts on July 11 in Philadelphia ahead of the All-Star Game.

Baines became a six-time All-Star and was inducted into the Hall of Fame in 2019. Chicago selected first baseman Danny Goodwin with in parts of seven major league seasons.

Baines represented the White Sox on stage for the lottery at baseball's winter meetings.

"I'm still learning more and more about the draft. I'm getting familiar with some of the top names," White Sox general manager Chris Getz said in an interview on MLB Network. "It looks like, at the top of the draft, that it's a really impressive one.

"But on top of that, when you look at the pool space that you're given and a chance to really walk away from a draft class and do some damage, bring in some real talent. ... I'm just excited for our fan base and the people that are working for the Chicago White Sox."

UCLA shortstop Roch Cholowsky is currently projected as the top selection, followed by Fort Worth Christian High School shortstop Grady Emerson.

Tampa Bay will pick second, followed by Minnesota, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Kansas City, Baltimore, the Athletics, Atlanta and Colorado.

MLB and the players' association established the lottery in the March 2022 collective bargaining agreement. The union pushed for the innovation to encourage teams to compete for wins rather than trade off players at the deadline in an attempt to get a higher draft choice.

Pittsburgh won the lottery the first year and chose right-hander Paul Skenes, the 2024 NL Rookie of the Year and 2025 NL Cy Young Award winner. Cleveland went first in 2024 and selected second baseman Travis Bazzana and Washington picked shortstop Eli Willits this July.

Colorado, the Los Angeles Angels and Washington were not eligible for this lottery. The Rockies, a big league-worst 43-119. were excluded because a team can't receive a lottery pick in three consecutive years. The Angels and Nationals were blocked because teams that receive revenue sharing money can't get a lottery pick in two straight

After the White Sox, Minnesota had the second-highest odds of the top pick at 22.18%, followed by Pittsburgh (16.81%), Baltimore (9.24%) and the Athletics (6.55%).

The New York Mets, the second-biggest spenders this year behind the Los Angeles Dodgers, had a 0.67% chance and will wind up drafting 27th after missing the playoffs.

Sennecke beats buzzer, Ducks top Penguins in shootout

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Beckett Sennecke scored a short-handed goal with 1 second remaining to force overtime, Leo Carlsson scored in the shootout and the Anaheim Ducks beat the Pittsburgh Penguins 4-3 on Tuesday night for their fifth win in seven games.

The 19-year-old Sennecke eluded three defenders and his shot deflected off the glove of Pittsburgh's Erik Karlsson and into the net. A replay review confirmed the shot beat the buzzer.

Ville Husso made 45 saves, including seven in overtime, and stopped all three shots in the shootout.

Jackson LaCombe and Troy Terry also scored for the Ducks. Noel Acciari, Tommy Novak and Anthony Mantha scored for the Penguins, and Arturs Silovs stopped 25 shots as Pittsburgh suffered its second consecutive shootout loss.

Mantha put the Penguins ahead 3-2 on the power play with 3:55 remaining. Sidney Crosby won a faceoff and assisted on Mantha's goal for his 1,717th career point, moving him within five of Mario Lemieux's franchise record.

Novak poked in a rebound of his own shot with 19 seconds left in the second period to tie it at 2-all, extending his goal streak to four LaCombe scored from a nearly impossible angle in the second period to make it 1-all. He was nearly parallel with the goal line when he flicked the puck between Silovs' head and the near post.

Terry put the Ducks ahead 2-1 later in the second when he secured a bouncing puck and slammed it past Silovs.

Sennecke assisted on La-

Combe's goal. The rookie has 26 points in 30 games, becoming the fastest teenager in Ducks history to reach 25 points. Mason McTavish took 40 games to reach the mark in 2022-23.
