In countries with a rate of primary & secondary syphilis among women aged 15-44 years greater than 4.6 per 100,000 in 2022, providers should offer syphilis testing to all sexually active people aged 15-44 years.

In countries with a rate of primary & secondary syphilis among women aged 15-44 years less than or equal to 4.6 per 100,000 in 2022, providers should continue to assess individual risk factors to determine screening needs as outlined in existing screening guidelines.

Based on 2022 data: Virginia counties/cities where syphilis screening is recommended for all sexually active people ages 15-44:

- Alleghany County
- Augusta County
- Buena Vista City
- Campbell County
- Chesapeake City
- Chesterfield County
- Culpeper County
- Cumberland County
- Danville City
- Floyd County
- Fluvanna County
- Frederick County
- Fredericksburg City
- Greene County
- Hampton City
- Harrisonburg City
- Henrico County
- Lynchburg City
- Nelson County
- New Kent County
- Newport News City
- Norfolk City
- Petersburg City
- Prince Edward County
- Radford City
- Richmond City
- Roanoke City
- Roanoke County
- Rockbridge County
- Rockbridge County
- Rockingham County
- Russell County
- Spotsylvania County
- Staunton City
- Suffolk City
- Tazewell County
- Virginia Beach City
- Waynesboro City

* In counties with a rate of primary & secondary syphilis among women aged 15-44 years greater than 4.6 per 100,000 in 2022, providers should offer syphilis testing to all sexually active people aged 15-44 years.
 In counties with a rate of primary & secondary syphilis among women aged 15-44 years less than or equal to 4.6 per 100,000 in 2022, providers should continue to assess individual risk factors to determine screening needs as outlined in existing screening guidelines.