You know, as tired as I am, my brain won't let me sleep.

I can't stop wondering why there are old white male politicians, who aren't qualified educators, who feel that they must provide "guidance" to our teachers... you know, the trained professional educators...

I can't stop wondering why I heard Hensley say (on his "weekly" radio program that magically allows him to appear live on air nearly every day of the week- including Sundays before he hosts his secretive meetings with other elected officials in his million dollar home in his gated country club neighborhood) that he and Levy and Holmes have the support of almost every teacher... yet public school advocates are being asked to give voice to the words of teachers too afraid to speak out in their own defense...

I can't stop wondering why these old white male politicians feel it's appropriate for them to decry that we can't allow a divisive theory in our schools... while anyone who offers a dissenting opinion is immediately treated as an enemy...

The Purple Haired Mayor of Whispering Pines is a racist heterophobe.

She is one of the leaders of the people opposing me and when she looks at the School Board, she sees it full of "old white male politicians".

Really? A bigot who judges people based upon their race, age and gender is one of the leaders of the hard left who oppose me?

I wonder if that is how she judges her fellow board members, her constituents and/or the employees of Whispering Pines.

You can't make this up.
