

What would you tell your freshman self?

Through all the tears,
late nights and deadlines...

It was all worth it!

GRADUATION EDITION

Making it happen

Senior creates ringtone, social media app

The Shorthorn: Jessica Chapa

BY JASMINE FARONBI

The Shorthorn senior staff

Umair Ali has had some high and low points throughout his time in college.

Now, as the communication technology senior prepares to graduate, he is taking lessons learned and applying them to something he is passionate about.

“If you want to make a difference in this world, you have to do it now, ‘cause no one is going to wait for you,” Ali said.

Unexpected events in Ali’s life have served as extra motivation.

In 2011, Ali’s mother died. In March, Ali’s older brother died.

“If anything, it drove me toward my dreams even harder,” Ali said. “Even now with my brother passing away, it’s telling me even more that life is short.”

Ali said his older brother’s passion for computers and his own love of music ultimately ignited his production of an iTunes ringtone.

Part of the proceeds from his ringtone went to the Aga Khan Foundation, a place his mother wanted to him to give back to, Ali said. The foundation focuses on finding long-term solutions to poverty, hunger and illiteracy in poor places in Asia and Africa.

“She always believed in me and my music,” Ali said. “She told me to ‘Go and do what you love. Don’t go and sit at a desk for your whole life.’”

With the success Ali has already seen with the ringtone, he is now working on launching a new social media app for Apple devices.

With the help of his cousin and a longtime friend, Ali said he expects to release the app, named Otter, on his commencement day.

Finance senior Rahim Hussain said Otter is a conversational tool with more than 50 preset voice greetings and popular phrases that can be sent to other users.

“The cool thing about the app is you get to send sounds instantly and create a conversation without actually having to say a single word or type anything out,” Hussain said.

Hussain said the idea came to them about two months ago. Since then, they have spent countless hours detailing its format. He said they have more than 100 testers who provide feedback.

Ali first put his app-developing skills into practice his freshman year of college. He partnered with his roommate to create an app called Mavslis, which allowed students to buy and sell class notes.

“That actually kind of fell through because we couldn’t reach critical mass,” Ali said. “That’s when I realized that instead of just developing for one area or location, why not go global?”

Ali’s 14-year-old brother Saif Ali has produced the background music for Otter’s advertising video.

“I look up to him,” Saif

Ali said. “He’s the reason I started liking music. A lot of the things I do, I do because of him.”

MORE ABOUT THE COVER

Catch us at your commencement ceremony and tell us what you would have told your freshman self. View the gallery of photos at www.theshorthorn.com.

SPRING 2015 COMMENCEMENT PROCEDURES

All commencement ceremonies will take place at the College Park Center. Parking is available in the three College Park District garages: Park North, Park Central and Park South. Cameras and strollers are allowed in the center, but strollers will need to be checked in with guest services and are not allowed in the arena seating area. Food, drinks and weapons are not allowed in the center.

Graduating students should arrive one hour before the ceremony and should not bring purses or personal items. Families and guests should also arrive an hour before the ceremony to account for parking, ticket collection and seating. In addition, graduating students should follow protocol:

- Graduates should wear formal academic attire, which is available at the UTA Bookstore.
- Graduates who arrive after the check-in processes won't be allowed to participate in the commencement ceremonies.
- Those who arrive 10 minutes after the ceremony begins will not be allowed in the College Park Center, even if they have tickets.
- Attendees and guests must remain seated and stay for the entire ceremony out of respect for the other graduates.
- Cellphones and pagers need to be turned off.
- Guests may not bring noisemakers, firecrackers, balloons, flags, banners, alcohol or illegal substances into the College Park Center.
- Guests who are disruptive will be asked to leave.

For more information, visit the FAQ page at www.utacollegepark.com.

Q: I have a sweet midlife relationship with a man who wants to marry me. The only problem is that he has "episodes" where he turns into almost a child for three days at a time. (We are both retired and he is financially stable.) But now it's time to start with sexuality, as agreed, before marriage, and I'm put off by the "dullness" of his mind. (We were friends first.) I can't see the future clearly, and I love him in my own way. Any insights?

Dr. Ruth
 Send your questions to Dr. Ruth Westheimer c/o King Features Syndicate
 235 E. 45th St., New York, NY 10017

A: Has he seen a doctor about these episodes? If so, before you even think about getting married, I'd suggest he permit you to speak with his doctor to find out exactly what is going on. If he hasn't, then insist that he does. Love may be blind, but I suggest you not take the next step and get married unless your eyes are fully open and you know what you are getting into.

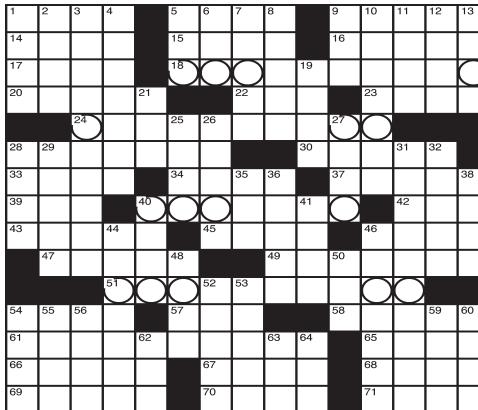

Q: I've been married for five years. My wife is a housewife at this moment, and we have a son together. Right after work I help take care of our son. My wife doesn't like it when I say to her, "Can we have sex tonight?" During the evening I'm always kissing her or hugging her, etc. I touch in both sexual and non-sexual ways to try to get her into the mood. I'm always the one who asks for sex, not her. I'm getting tired of this. Please advise what else I can do or say to get her in the mood.

A: It sounds to me like you two have a relationship problem, so what I would advise you to do is sit her down and ask her what is wrong. Don't bring up sex. If you repair the relationship, your sex life will perk up on its own, but as long as she is holding some other type of resentment, she's not going to be in the mood.
