Vernissage:

Sunday, January 25, 2 p.m.

This exhibition unites the work of two Montreal artists, Julie Lequin and Adrian Norvid, whose drawings, paper sculptures, bookworks and animations transform episodes from everyday life, with a comic sensibility that resonates with long traditions of caricature and social satire. Lequin and Norvid are both committed to the expressive power of drawing, and this exhibition will allow their artworks to be shown together for the first time – inviting visitors into a world of curious characters, objects, and scenes.

Adrian Norvid, Cat, 2021.
