RUST IS VERY ACTIVE DURING SUMMER.

Corrosion's chemical process happens under warm temperatures, not during cold weather. Since moisture is a key element in rust development, hot and humid summer days are very «corrosive» because of all that extra humidity. Also, since heat provokes expansion of the metal, it offers more grip for moisture... but fortunately, also more adherence for our rust proofing product! The heat also increases the fluidity of our product, which makes it easier to reach and penetrate metal pores of every area of your vehicle.
