ABOUT THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Ocean Community Chamber of Commerce represents a major portion of the area's business and professional community. The 950 members reflect many aspects of the business and non-profit organization world. From local retail trade and professional services to manufacturing and international exporting, to social services and health care, Chamber members provide goods and services, jobs, and tax revenue to benefit our residents, our community, and our world. Primary objectives of The Chamber include creating a strong business voice and improving the local economy while maintaining the area's high quality of livability. Focus areas include economic development, downtown revitalization, tourism marketing, workforce development and community event production. We specialize in small businesses marketing and programs to support sustainability and growth. The Chamber serves as a resource for every business regardless of membership. It operates the year round Town of Westerly tourist information center, and promotes the ocean community economy in general. The Chamber is in the business of building a better community. Our top priority is your bottom line!

The Chamber is governed by a 24-member Board of Directors. A paid staff implements the organization's policies and programs, supervise volunteer efforts, and manage membership services.

For residents, The Chamber is a reliable source of community information, and business referrals. During the summer, office hours extend to Saturday and Sunday from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Located at One Chamber Way, Westerly, RI it's stocked with free brochures, maps, and information about our area. We welcome visits from residents and tourists alike. We are always accepting volunteers and have internship opportunities available.

Anyone interested in community progress and economic prosperity is invited to join the members and volunteers of the Ocean Community Chamber of Commerce working to accomplish these goals. 401-596-7761, website: Oceanchamber.org.

TOWN OF WESTERLY, RI

Located in the southwestern corner of the State, the Town of Westerly has an atmosphere of a historic New England village that boasts a vibrant downtown. There are more than 50 structures on the national register of historic places.

Westerly was the first town incorporated in the King's Province on May 13, 1669, and the fifth town in the colony. On the 23rd of June 1686, the name was changed from Westerly to Haversham, but the former name was restored in 1689. The Indian name for Westerly was Misquamicut - a place for taking salmon. The Towns of Charlestown, Hopkinton and Richmond were later separated from the Town of Westerly.

In its early beginnings, Westerly was the frontier town of the colony. Out of this beginning, many diversified industries grew, but Westerly has been best known for the granite that was once taken from its quarries, for building purposes in neighboring towns and cities, and for monuments in Gettysburg and various parts of the country.

Westerly has long been known as a premier family vacation destination. The position of Watch Hill almost surrounded by the ocean and bay with beautiful formation of rocks and sand beaches all contribute to its beauty. The winds bring in the cool sea air and the temperature in the summer is rarely oppressive. Rowing, swimming, ocean sailing, jetskiing, fishing and hiking make this a favorite resort area.

Westerly's seven miles of sandy beaches are a mecca for tourism. The shoreline is composed of the Misquamicut State Beach, Westerly Town Beach, public and many private beaches. The State Beach is open yearround, while other beaches are open from Memorial Day through Labor Day. The town is located just minutes away from Interstate 95 and is divided by US Route 1. A five-mile portion of Route 1, comprised of Broad Street, Granite Street, Franklin Street and Post Road, runs through the heart of Westerly. It is ranked the 10th busiest street in Rhode Island with average daily traffic of 26,000 (both directions). Passenger and freight transportation is available via Amtrak Rail Service and the Westerly State Airport. The Town of Westerly is composed of seven villages, also known as fire districts: Westerly, Watch Hill, Dunn's Corners, Misquamicut, Bradford, Shelter Harbor and Weekapaug.

Currently, Westerly supports a population of over 23,000, although it nearly doubles during the summer due to the large number of vacationers and seasonal residences.

TOWN OF HOPKINTON, RI

This southwestern Rhode Island community sits along the Connecticut border and had a bucolic history, which is now being challenged by new developments. Hopkinton is a community of forests, state parks and management areas. Hopkinton's growth should continue as the town is bisected by I-95, giving it easy access to the growing southeastern Connecticut market as well as an easy 40-minute drive into Providence.

Hopkinton was established in 1669 as a part of the Town of Westerly, as were Richmond and Charlestown. However, after the people petitioned the General Assembly to divide it, the Town of Hopkinton was incorporated on March 14, 1757. Hopkinton was named in honor of Stephen Hopkins, who was then Governor of Rhode Island, and also a signer of the Declaration of Independence.

Similar to other Rhode Island cities and towns, the early settlements in Hopkinton were centered around its rivers. For example, one of the early trades in Ashaway was blacksmithing. This village is also known throughout the world because here is located the Ashaway Line & Twine Mfg. Co., a manufacturer of top quality sport fishing lines and products.

Today, Hopkinton is still a rural town. Recreation is highlighted in Hopkinton with fresh water fishing facilities, parks, and numerous campgrounds. Hopkinton is one of the popular vacation areas of southern Rhode Island and convenient to miles of ocean front beaches.

The center of Hopkinton is the little hamlet of Hopkinton City, designated as a state and federal historic district. Antiquities in the center of town include the 1861 town hall, the 1790 meeting house and the 1836 First Baptist Church. Antiques enthusiasts will relish discovering the many antique shops in town, and the Colonial Crafts Fair each September. There are also many challenging and picturesque golf courses in the region.

Hope Valley, a village in the Town of Hopkinton, has a small quantity of shops, all of excellent quality. Bakeries, clothing and outdoor sports retailers, quaint restaurants and a handful of other businesses are nestled along Routes 3 and 138 in this historic village.

TOWN OF RICHMOND, RI

The Town of Richmond, originally a part of Westerly, was incorporated August 18, 1747. It was probably named in honor of Edward Richmond, the Attorney General of the colony from 1671 to 1680, who took an active part in the original settlement of the area. A large portion of the town was included in the Shannock Purchase, a tract of vacant land sold by the Commissioners of the General Assembly to a company of purchasers in 1709.

Like many other communities in Washington County, 17th century Richmond was home for many early settlers. After purchasing land from the Indians, these wealthy Narragansett planters, who were educated, intelligent land gentry, settled in the South County area and brought an accumulated wealth to the area, making it the wealthiest area in Rhode Island for many years. The end of the plantation era also signaled the beginning of the early water-powered industry. The waterpower of Richmond's streams furnished the motive power for its sawmills and the textile industry.

Richmond is still a rural area. In fact, a large portion of the town (about 60 percent) is undeveloped woodland. It is still dotted with villages like Shannock, Kenyon, Alton, Wyoming, and Hillsdale; however, many of the mills that once activated these villages are now closed. One major exception is the Old Grist Mill in Usquepaugh.

Primarily a farming area, Richmond is known for untainted rural beauty. Hiking, fishing and canoeing the Wood River are all popular activities. But it's the golf courses in Richmond that are increasingly gaining recognition throughout New England. Richmond Country Club, Meadow Brook Golf Course and Beaver River Golf Course, and Preserve At Boulder Hills offer pristine, picturesque courses with excellent dining and banquet facilities. Richmond hosts the annual Washington County Fair in mid-August at the fairgrounds on Route 112. This is the state's largest fair, complete with crafts, food, an amusement park and performances by country music artists.

While the town prides itself on its rural charm, a business district on Route 138 has virtually everything one needs for modern, comfortable living. From financial institutions to grocery stores and retailers, residents have it all within reach.
