Brett Black

My name is Brett Black and I am a Shoals area native who grew up in Florence, AL. While studying full-time in college, I jump started my real estate career, and successfully became a multi-million-dollar producer in my first year in the business.

After graduating from the University of North Alabama, I kept my momentum in real estate going and continued my business full time.

I have paired my knowledge of the business and my degree in business management and I am able to provide extensive knowledge in this area, along with an enjoyable experience in buying and selling real estate.

I have set myself apart by creating long lasting relationships with each client. It is not just about chasing a commission check for me. It is about taking care of people. I know if I focus on this, the rest will come.

Outside of school and work, I am a captain at a local USTA tennis league, and I am an active member of Underwood Baptist Church in Florence.

My hobbies include playing tennis, boating the Tennessee River, and enjoying all the Shoals has to offer.

If you are ready to make a move and sell your current property or are in the market to buy a new home - I would love the opportunity to help get you to the closing table.
