

With Summer Olympics postponed, local marketing campaign still a go

David Hayes
Staff Writer

On March 24, Japan's Prime Minister Shinzo Abe and International Olympic Committee president Thomas Bach agreed to postpone the Tokyo 2020 Summer Olympics due to the COVID-19 coronavirus pandemic.

The event, which organizers were holding out hope to begin July 24, will now start around the same time in 2021.

According to Cindy Vosburg, Executive Director of the Crescent City-Del Norte Chamber of Commerce, the delay does not alter the "Go for the Gold" project here.

Vosburg said NBC Sports has been in contact with Del Norte County officials and said while they will be re-filming some of the Olympic athlete interviews, they still plan to air the support stories they have been working on. One of which is the sister city relationship between Crescent City and Rikuzentakata, Japan, the origin of the student boat "Kamome" which washed ashore locally after the 2011 tsunami.

"Although there are no guarantees in life, everything we are hearing from NBC Sports is that the coverage will still happen," Vosburg said.

What will change, Vosburg added, is the timeline for the coverage.

"When COVID-19

is under control and the CDC once again opens up travel in the country, there will be a rush for the economic upswing from the tourism dollar, and we want to be positioned to pull those dollars into Del Norte County," Vosburg said. "Additionally, we have been in conversation with 'Visit California,' one of the largest tourism organizations in the country, which is recommending we wait until the CDC gives the all-clear for travel again within the United States."

Vosburg said the delay could position local efforts even stronger than originally.

"We were working within a very tight timeline and this gives us more time to gain even more of the earned media, which is so valuable in driving the tourism economic engine," Vosburg said. "Additionally, the travel writers are going to be hungry for 'feel-good' stories and we have plenty of those."

The "Go for the Gold" campaign is funded by the City of Crescent City, Del Norte County, Crescent City Harbor, Crescent City Harbor Fishermen's Marketing Association, Yurok Economic Development Corporation, Elk Valley Rancheria and the Tolowa Dee-ni' Nation as a joint effort to capitalize on the NBC Sports coverage of Crescent City during the 2020 Summer Olympic games.

Crescent City closed playgrounds this week, like the Kids Town at Beachfront Park, due to social distancing rules during the COVID-19 pandemic. However, city parks remain open. Lance Nichols, eighth grade home-schooler from Castle Rock Charter School, tries to get out to the Crescent City Skatepark on 5th Street every day. He said being home while schools are closed, 'It was nice at the beginning, but it's starting to get boring. Nothing to do.' Photos by David Hayes.

Local leaders provide updates during COVID-19 pandemic

David Hayes
Staff Writer

Leaders from all levels of local government on Monday, March 23, participated in a video presentation on Youtube to update the community on efforts being taken during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Del Norte County Board of Supervisors Chair Gerry Hemmingsen kicked off the presentation, assuring viewers that the government at both the state and federal levels are doing everything they can to ensure both the economy and the people will be taken care of during the crisis.

"We need to do our part. We need to continue social distancing, washing your hands, self-quarantine, all the things you can do to help the cause," Hemmingsen said. "Please be a part of the solution. This is a very serious pandemic, and we all need to do our part to make this as minimal as we can."

'Everybody should assume they're sick'

Dr. Warren Rehwaltd, Del Norte County Public Health Officer, said the take-home message is the need to slow this virus down to an absolute crawl.

"We have no reason to believe it will not arrive. We don't have proof that it's here, it may already be creeping into the community as I speak. We are aware of cases in the surrounding counties that have shown up in the last week. So, we have to presume it will get here if it's not here already," Rehwaltd said.

"So, people have to be mindful of that, to take these precautions seriously, do everything they can to distance themselves, stay home when they are sick. If you're elderly or at risk, otherwise stay home when you're well away from people who carry a virus you could get."

Rehwaltd explained Gov. Gavin Newsom's shelter in place order creates the safest environment through public health measures, adding this community mitigation strategy is very important for people to abide by because it's the best defense against the virus right now.

"Everybody should assume they're sick and everyone else around them is sick and behave that way because that's the best way to prevent transmission," Rehwaltd said. "We are very hopeful by doing this and continuing to do it, we'll create the environment that when the virus arrives, it will not spread very easily. If it does spread, it will spread very slowly, in a way we can manage."

Going forward, Rehwaltd said the health department will be changing its testing strategy for the virus, prioritizing tests for those who need it most. For now, most people don't need a test.

"The young folks who get this are going to mostly do very well, it will feel like a cold or a flu. And when they've recovered, life goes on," Rehwaltd said. "We may be able to test them after the fact to prove they had the virus. We'd like to do that because we'd like to find out how much of an immunity we're building up in the community over time."

He added the health department might change that message in a few weeks when it has better testing.

Rehwaltd pointed to some potentially good news as evidence is starting to grow that people are trying drugs elsewhere in the world that might have a good effect.

"I suspect by the end of this week, or the end of next week, we'll have some proof, one way or another. And I think that's an encouraging thought," Rehwaltd said.

City Council finalizes mobile vending ordinance

David Hayes
Staff Writer

In a time when many restaurants are scaling back operations due to a ban on dine-in eating to prevent the spread of the coronavirus, one entrepreneur has finally debuted his food cart this week.

Dave Gearhart applied for a mobile vending permit under the city's previous ordinance but had to wait months while officials hashed out new regulations.

The path has been cleared for mobile vendors to take to the streets and sidewalks in Crescent City after the City Council approved a new ordinance on March 16.

Gearhart said he and his wife Suzie have since received a letter from the city authorizing them to begin operations March 26. They await official paperwork because city offices are closed to foot traffic due to the COVID-19 social distancing rules.

"They didn't want to hold me up anymore," Gearhart said.

He said Dave & Suzie's Grub Hut will operate from the CVS parking lot, located at 657 U.S. Highway 101, Fridays and Saturdays tentatively from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Their 28-foot trailer, a Class 4 kitchen will feature gourmet hotdogs, chips baked potatoes, sodas and water and much more.

He added they don't have to worry about social distancing rules as their truck has a 14-inch screened window separating them from customers.

"We're not going to be in anybody's face," Gearhart said.

The Gearharts had been eagerly awaiting a final version of the city's mobile vending ordinance as it went back and forth between the city's Planning Commission and the City Council. Ironically, they were not present on March 16 when it passed.

Public Works Director Jon Olson, reporting to the council meeting via Zoom, explained in August 2019, the City Council directed staff to work with the Planning Commission on updating the mobile or temporary vending operations ordinance. A first draft was brought to the City Council on Nov. 2 and was sent back to the Planning Commission with questions and issues addressed by council members.

Olson said this final draft, approved by the Planning Commission on March 12, brings Crescent City into compliance with California State Bill 946, the Safe Sidewalk Vending Act. Olson added the new language relaxes what mobile vendors can sell and how they can conduct their business.

"One of the biggest changes is allowing mobile vending, as suggested in the current version of the ordinance, in residential districts — on city streets and on private property in residential districts through a use permit. I could potentially set up a hot dog stand that was mobile in my sideyard or backyard that would be subject to a use permit," Olson said.

Olson added that the ordinance also allows vendors to operate within the city's commercial zones, waterfront district and residential-professional district.

In city streets or public parking lots, it will be a by-right permit — city issues a business license, check a box that says mobile vending, comply with other ordinances that go with sales, such as safety inspection by the fire department and by County Health Inspector, then allowed to vend on public property.

"The application is really intended to reduce barriers to gaining a permit. The business license and the mobile vending permit would be transferable from one business owner to the next," Olson said.

The mobile vending ordinance outlines the following regulations:

- No drive-thru situations for cars, unless a patron has accessibility needs.
- Business and advertising signs will be limited being placed on the business cart, vehicle or trailer.
- The vending area will be limited to 400-square feet in public parking areas, but not private property.
- Mobile vending does not supersede special permits, such as First Friday. Vendors that are a part of that activity are preferred.
- Restrict distance between special events, such as the Farmer's Market, to 300 feet.
- Time of operation shall be generally between 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., except around schools.
- No operating within 300 feet of school before 4 p.m. on a school day.

- Vendors can sell any product or craft, except used goods, alcohol, tobacco or cannabis.

Sidewalk vendors would have the same time of operation restrictions and distance to other special events.

The earliest it would be implemented is May 6.

Crescent City Attorney Martha Rice addressed concerns of mobile vendors setting up near brick and mortar stores or similar businesses.

The original wording of "substantially similar" business was too vague and would require the city to sharpen the definition of what that meant.

Also, to impose a distance requirement, the city would need to have "legitimate governmental concern." She added any specific concerns could be addressed after the ordinance was implemented.

DEL NORTE COUNTY
BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

SUMMARY OF INTRODUCED ORDINANCE 2020-011

AN ORDINANCE REPEALING, UPDATING, AND ENACTING PARKING REGULATIONS

Pursuant to Government Code 25124, the following is a summary of an Ordinance introduced at the Tuesday, March 24, 2020 Board of Supervisors' meeting, Regular Session, by the following polled vote:

AYES: Supervisors Cowan, Howard, Hemmingsen, Berkowitz, Gitlin
NOES: None

This ordinance repeals and replaces the Del Norte County Parking Ordinance and updates and enacts a new parking structure to be codified under Title10 Chapter 10 of the Del Norte County Code.

The ordinance states that definitions shall be the same as those definitions in the Vehicle Code. The ordinance requires signage prior to enforcement and allows for specified county staff to place the signs. It further color codes curb markings in accordance with their meaning (ie red curb means no parking, yellow curb means freight loading or passenger loading). Times are specified for these markings. The ordinance provides that no person who owns or has possession, custody or control of any vehicle shall park or leave a vehicle upon any highway for more than a consecutive period of seventy-two (72) hours. The ordinance provides that blocking a highway as well as parking in closed county property after posted closing times, and leaving a trailer on a roadway where it is not physically connected to a tow vehicle except while loading and unloading is not permissible. The ordinance allows for establishment by resolution of parking and related rules. The ordinance requires CDD to designate disabled parking in applicable projects. It requires visual designation of disabled parking and creates specifications for such. It restricts special parking privileges only to the disabled and requires signage for disabled parking. It further allows for removal noncompliant vehicles from both public and private parking. The ordinance specifies that nothing in the ordinance shall affect privileges for veterans. The ordinance makes parking within 15 feet of an emergency vehicle driveway an violation when the curb or markings state "keep clear." Finally, the ordinance provides that violations are infractions and that vehicles may be removes and the owner charged for costs of tow and storage up to the confines of California law.

The ordinance is exempt from review under the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) pursuant to 14 California Code of Regulations Section 15321(a), as an action related to the enforcement of parking laws administered by the County of Del Norte. If any section of the Ordinance is for any reason held to be unconstitutional or invalid, such decision will not affect the validity of the remaining portion of the Ordinance.

The effective date of the ordinance is 30 days from passage. A full copy of the ordinance is available for review in the Board of Supervisors office at 981 H Street, Suite 200, Crescent City, CA during normal business hours.

A Public Hearing on this Ordinance will be April 14, 2020.

DEAR ABBY

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Couple's views on one issue threaten future

DEAR ABBY: After an abusive relationship ended 14 years ago, I stayed single and raised my small son to adulthood. I dated here and there, but never found anyone I had serious feelings for who also felt the same way about me until seven months ago.

My feelings for my boyfriend are strong, and it's mutual. He is giving, kind, caring, hardworking and protective. We are very much in love. He tells me he feels like he can be himself around me, something he has never had before. I've never had anyone care so much about my well-being.

We talk about everything and differ on only one point so far. I'm in education and an LGBTQ ally. He feels strongly that nature dictates that only a man and a woman belong together, and he says he hates gay people. (We both grew up in very small, conservative communities.)

Now that my son is older, I plan to use my experiences to be a stronger voice on education issues regarding tolerance and improving learning outcomes for all by instilling conflict resolution principles in my educational practices. I'm not changing my view on this, but I want to continue for us to love and support each other.

Should I tell my boyfriend I understand where he's coming from based upon where and how we were raised? Do you think down the road our basic principles will drive us apart? We have been talking about buying a house in the country together, although neither of us has intentions of marriage anytime soon. -- HESITATING IN ILLINOIS

DEAR HESITATING: You should absolutely talk to your boyfriend about your plan to become an outspoken LGBTQ ally and more active in your profession. When you become more visible, do you plan to separate your career and your personal life? It appears you are willing (and able) to respect him, and understand why he feels the way he does. But is he willing to do the same for you, and will his conservative convictions negatively affect how you plan to live your life?

It is VERY important that this issue be resolved

BEFORE investing in real estate with him -- as well as any more precious time. A professional mediator may be able to help with the conversation if you can't do this by yourselves.

DEAR ABBY: My two grandchildren, 12 and 16, used to spend a lot of time with my husband and me, staying overnight, going on trips, etc. As they have gotten older, I recognize that they will naturally want to spend less time with us old folks.

My problem is, when I send them texts to invite them for lunch or out somewhere for the day, they don't respond or just respond with an IDK (I don't know). My question: Should I ask again to get an answer before the scheduled lunch or trip, or should I just forget it and assume they don't want to be involved with us? -- SAD MEMAW IN FLORIDA

DEAR SAD: You have asked an intelligent question, but you are asking the wrong person. The people you should be asking are your grandchildren, and when you do, it should be face-to-face.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE T.S. No. 53511 Loan No. 37363 NOTE: THERE IS A SUMMARY OF THE INFORMATION IN THIS DOCUMENT ATTACHED. YOU ARE IN DEFAULT UNDER A DEED OF TRUST, DATED January 9, 2007. UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDING AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (714) 730-2727 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this Internet Web site https://www.servicelinkasap.com/default.aspx for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case [53511]. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. On April 16, 2020, at 11:00 AM, Monroe Acceptance Company, Inc. as duly appointed Trustee under and pursuant to Deed of Trust recorded February 7, 2007 20070765 of Official Records of Del Norte County, State of California, executed by Isabel R. Budinger; WILL SELL AT PUBLIC AUCTION TO HIGHEST BIDDER FOR CASH (payable at time of sale in lawful money of the United States, by cash, a cashier's check drawn by a state or national bank, a check drawn by a state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, savings association, or savings bank specified in section 5102 of the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state). The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 125 Azalea Drive Klamath, CA 95548 APN-127-260-54 The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein. Said sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust, with interest thereon, as provided in said note(s), advances, if any, under the terms of said Deed of Trust, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust. SUMMARY OF INTRODUCED ORDINANCE 2020-010

AN ORDINANCE REPEALING, UPDATING, AND ENACTING PARKING ENFORCEMENT PROVISIONS

Pursuant to Government Code 25124, the following is a summary of an Ordinance introduced at the Tuesday, March 24, 2020 Board of Supervisors' meeting, Regular Session, by the following polled vote:

AYES: Supervisors Cowan, Howard, Hemmingsen, Berkowitz, Gitlin
NOES: None

This ordinance repeals and replaces the parking enforcement provisions and updates and enacts a new parking structure to be codified under Title10 Chapter 12 of the Del Norte County Code.

The ordinance states that definitions that shall apply. The ordinance provides that the Board intends to establish, by resolution, a schedule of penalties for parking and related violations, late payment penalties, administration fees, and other related charges for parking and related violations. The ordinance describes the purpose of implementing the requirements of Vehicle Code sections 40200 through 40230. It states the timelines and that waiver of the timelines will not be issued. The ordinance then summarizes the procedures including 1) an administrative review and 2) an administrative hearing. The first stage, administrative review, is initiated by a contestant's timely written, telephonic, or in-person request for review of the circumstances surrounding issuance of the citation. The contestant will be required to complete a review request form. The reasons for the contest must be specified in the form in order to focus the investigation. The review process consists of an investigation by the issuing agency staff, who will review the citation and the circumstances surrounding its issuance. The results of this process will be mailed to the contestant within fourteen (14) days of the request for review. The second stage, administrative hearing, is initiated by a contestant who is not satisfied with the results of the administrative review. To initiate this process, the contestant must, on the written request form provided by the county, indicate whether the contestant prefers a hearing by mail or in person. The reasons for the contest must also be articulated on the form. In order to perfect the appeal, the contestant must also deposit the amount of the parking penalty, at the time the administrative hearing is requested. If any of these requirements are not met within the prescribed time limits, the appeal will be untimely and will be rejected. The hearing will be conducted by an independent hearing examiner. The hearing will be conducted in accordance with the provisions of this procedure. A written determination of the contest will be provided to the contestant personally, or by mail. The following sections further detail the administrative review process and the administrative hearing process respectively. The ordinance provides that, appeal of the county's final decision on the citation may be made to the Superior Court. The ordinance also provides that partial payments may be accepted at the hearing officer's discretion.

The ordinance is exempt from review under the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) pursuant to 14 California Code of Regulations Section 15321(a), as an action related to the enforcement of parking laws administered by the County of Del Norte. If any section of the Ordinance is for any reason held to be unconstitutional or invalid, such decision will not affect the validity of the remaining portion of the Ordinance.

The effective date of the ordinance is 30 days from passage. A full copy of the ordinance is available for review in the Board of Supervisors office at 981 H Street, Suite 200, Crescent City, CA during normal business hours.

A Public Hearing on this Ordinance will be April 14, 2020.
