SERVING DEL NORTE COUNTY SINCE 1879

The darker side of law enforcement rears its ugly head

By ROGER GITLIN
The TriPLICATE

The state released its May revision for the 2023/24 budget. The assault on the funding at both the adult and juvenile offender level is staggering. Policies of early release have reduced Pelican Bay State Prison down to approximately 1,650 inmates and total CDCR inmate population to about 92,000.

Now, Gov. Gavin Newsom is poised to shut down and permanently disable youth justice and turn over all adjudication of youth offenders to all 58 individual counties. The impact of this decision on Del Norte County will be profound.

Law enforcement realignment, including the operations of all probation departments, was voted by the Senate via SB 823 and signed into law two years ago. Newsom, with a stroke of his signature will close all youth detention authority facilities, effective July 1.

Del Norte had already decided to close its Juvenile Hall, effective July 1. Per an inter-county agreement, Del Norte youth who offend will be detained in either Humboldt or Shasta counties; however, all costs associated with a Del Norte ward (minor) must be paid by Del Norte.

These offenders and follow-up programs, albeit rare, will tax the general fund. The long, practiced process of sending letters opposing SB 823 from Del Norte Chief Probation Officer Lonnie Reyman and the 57 other chief probation officers has not resonated in the ears of Newsom nor legislators up and down the Golden State.

Reyman stated, "SB 823 realignment was a poorly formulated plan by the governor

Board directs staff to form public defender position

By ROGER GITLIN
The TriPLICATE

The Board of Supervisors appears poised to open an office for a fully staffed public defender. Supervisors directed administration to develop an office of the county public defender, establishing a classification for the county public defender as part of the recommended 2023/24 budget using a managed assigned counsel (MAC) structure.

The board also directed county counsel to prepare an ordinance to amend the county code, to account for developing the office for county public defender and appointing a county public defender, as requested by the county administrative officer. The motion was made by Supervisor Valerie Starkey and seconded by Supervisor Chris Howard.

The motion passed on a 4-1 vote. Supervisor Dean Wilson dissented.

The genesis of discussion for a fully-staffed Del Norte office of public defender comes from a not so rosy report from the state office of the public defender which cited the high incarceration rate of indigent Del Norte clients needing legal defense. The report was conducted last October and made public to supervisors March 14. The state recommended supervisors adopt its own public defender's office.

Wilson disputed the state analysis of Del Norte indigent legal defense services and cited his opposition on purely financial grounds. The 5th District supervisor pointed out current costs spread over four assigned public defenders needed to be bolstered with an additional counsel. Wilson supported appointing a fifth public defender, a contract for investigative services and a centralized case management system, with a total projected cost of approximately $833,000. Wilson foresees dark economic times on the horizon and expressed his concern this was not the time to increase the budget during this precarious local economy.

Public defender Elly Hoopes emphasized the need to make more resources available to public defenders and the centralized coordination of public defense services. The three other contracted public defenders concurred. The quad of defenders expressed support

Board increases its support of DNACA

By ROGER GITLIN
The TriPLICATE

After four plus decades, the Del Norte Association of Cultural Awareness has earned a raise. The board of supervisors, with a board resolution, created DNACA in 1981. Since then, the board annually contributed $2,000 to help offset rent and utility costs. Those expenses have dramatically spiked over the last two years. Supervisors increased the assistance an additional $8,000 for the current fiscal year and effective with fiscal year 2023/24 supervisors authorized $10,000 for DNACA.

Executive director Stephanie La Torre successfully presented her plea to supervisors.

La Torre shared with supervisors how DNACA is funded. The California Arts Council, a state agency, provides a dollar-for-dollar match, annually. On a $124,000 budget, the arts council funded DNACA to the tune of $62,000 this past year. Additional support comes from the Del Norte Unified School District and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Community support from businesses and individual donors is significant. Unquestionably, Del Norte County supports DNACA.

With the recent funding increase from supervisors, DNACA continues on its mission to provide support and excitement for the creative arts in Del Norte County and to inspire community vitality and harmony. The DNACA calendar can be viewed at DNACA.net and via social media on Facebook.

Stephanie LaTorre, executive director of DNACA, makes a presentation to the board of supervisors.

The Klamath Chamber of Commerce has officially closed.

Elected KCC president Lori Collins told The Triuplicate appropriate paperwork has been sent to the Secretary of State, dissolving the chamber. The closure ends a 27-year history of service to south Del Norte County.

Collins expressed her disappointment on the chamber closure.

“I’m heartbroken,” she said.

for enhancement of related services including investigators and social workers.

Supervisor Joey Borges expressed concern over the costs needed to open an office for public defender but after meeting with the contracted defense attorneys, supported the need to consider other options.

Two other options for an ordinance were presented to supervisors:

- Managed assigned counsel (MAC) would include an assigned public defender appointed by the board, one legal secretary, four additional public defenders, a centralized case management system and a contract for investigative services available to the public defenders. The projected cost for the MAC

After consulting with attorneys, Collins and KCC Vice President Sally Rogers learned the cost to challenge the forced, unilateral closing was prohibitive and with consent from the duly elected board, filed the secretary of state paperwork to dissolve.

Collins, on behalf of the chamber, instructed the HSDN to transact the cashier draft donation.

The impetus to close the chamber was initiated by former Klamath Chamber treasurer and board member Jean Ficquette-Jones and former chamber President David Jones, her husband.

Claiming the December 2022 election was fraudulent, Ficquette-Jones returned 15 active, in good standing members’ fees and returned 2023 dues to those chamber members.

Per KCC by-laws, the remaining funds of approximately $12,700 was donated to the Humane Society of Del Norte.

Ficquette-Jones closed the KCC bank account. The current board is pondering a future decision to start a new Klamath chamber.

option was just shy of $1,068,000.

- An enhanced MAC structure recommended by the state would include the appointed chief public defender, an assistant public defender, a behavioral health program coordinator, a legal secretary, three public defender attorney contracts, a centralized case management system, and a contract for investigative services projected to cost approximately $1,231,000, annually.

All costs would come from the County discretionary general fund.

The MAC options could make the newly-created office eligible through several indigent defense program grant opportunities.

Any grant funding assistance would mandate the maintenance of an official public defender office.

Staff will prepare the three options over the next few weeks for board consideration.

College of the Redwoods hires new director of institutional effectiveness and research

College of the Redwoods has hired Amy Moffat as its new director of institutional effectiveness and research.

Moffat has a doctorate of philosophy from UC Merced, and a master of arts degree from the University of Maryland, College Park. Moffat has been the associate director of institutional assessment at Cal Poly Humboldt since 2019, and was the student and program assessment manager at UC Merced from 2015-2019.

As director of institutional effectiveness and research, Moffat will oversee all institutional research activities at CR. She will be responsible for collecting, analyzing, and reporting data on a variety of topics, including student enrollment, academic achievement, financial aid, and alumni outcomes. Moffat will also work with other administrators to develop and implement strategic plans, and to ensure that the college is meeting its goals.

“I am excited to learn more about and collaboratively build upon College of the Redwoods’ rich legacy of using institutional data get a clear picture of the college’s performance and inform decisions,” said Moffat. “Together we can continue to maximize an effective environment where we ask and answer “How do we know?” so we can unleash our college’s promise and potential.”

Moffat will replace the current Director of Institutional Effectiveness and Research Paul Chown. Chown will retire from the college after 35 years of valuable service to the district. The college would like to thank Paul for his many years of excellent work and congratulate him on his retirement.

“I have enjoyed working with Paul on several projects over the years, and with over 30 years of service to the district and the wealth of institutional knowledge he has accumulated, he will be hard to replace” said CR President Keith Flamer.

“College of the Redwoods is very fortunate that Dr. Moffat will step in as our new director of institutional effectiveness and research. We look forward to working with Dr. Moffat as we continue to move CR forward into a time of challenge and opportunity.”

State Assembly passes legislation to ban dangerous chemicals in food and beverages

Last week, the California State Assembly passed first-of-its-kind legislation that would prohibit the use of certain dangerous and toxic chemicals in processed foods and drinks. Authored by Assembly-member Jesse Gabriel (D-Woodland Hills), Assembly Bill 418 would prohibit the manufacture, sale, or distribution of any food product in California containing Red Dye No. 3, Titanium Dioxide, Potassium Bromate, Brominated Vegetable Oil, or Propyl Paraben. These chemicals are already banned in the European Union and many other jurisdictions due to scientific research linking them to significant health harms, including cancer, reproductive issues, and behavioral and developmental issues in children.

“Today’s strong vote is a major step forward in our effort to protect children and families in California from dangerous and toxic chemicals in our food supply,” said Assemblymember Jesse Gabriel. “It’s unacceptable that the U.S. is so far behind the rest of the world when it comes to banning these dangerous additives. We don’t love our children any less than they do in Europe and it’s not too much to ask food and beverage manufacturers to switch to the safer alternative ingredients that they already use in Europe and so many other nations around the globe.”

Numerous scientific studies have demonstrated the connection between the chemical additives named in AB 418 and alarming health outcomes, including increased risk of cancer, behavioral issues in children, harm to the reproductive system, and damage to the immune system. As a result, the EU and many other nations already have prohibited their use in food, and many major brands and manufacturers—including Coke, Pepsi, Gatorade, Dunkin Donuts, Papa John’s Pizza, and Panera—have voluntarily stopped using these additives in their products. Unfortunately, chemical companies in the U.S. have been able to exploit a major loophole in federal regulations to avoid meaningful independent review by the FDA of numerous food additives, thereby placing the U.S. far behind many other nations when it comes to food safety. If signed into law, AB 418 would require companies to make modifications to the recipes for products sold in California and likely prompt a transition to safer alternatives.

State fisheries hearing to focus on plans for offshore wind and coexistence with California’s fishing fleet

Senate Majority Leader Mike McGuire, chair of the Joint Committee on Fisheries and Aquaculture (JCFA), is gearing up for a hearing in the State Capitol focused on California’s burgeoning offshore wind industry. This hearing will explore how to expedite the deployment of green energy while protecting the interests of California’s fishing fleet and ensuring coastal environmental safeguards remain in place.

For the first time, the hearing will bring all sides of the issue together for a groundbreaking discussion that will feature representatives from federal and state agencies, tribal leaders, offshore wind industry representatives, representatives from the fishing fleet, labor leaders and environmental organizations.

Presenters will focus on why offshore wind energy is essential to the State’s green energy future and energy supply, the need to incorporate fish and wildlife in the development process, and how wind energy can be compatible with the protection of California’s fisheries.

“This first-of-its-kind hearing will bring all sides of the offshore wind discussion together, ensuring the State can expedite the deployment of this valuable energy resource while protecting the interests of California’s storied fishing fleet and guaranteeing coastal environmental safeguards,” said Senator McGuire.

“It’s critical to have these voices at the same table as we develop the roadmap for offshore energy, healthy oceans and a thriving fishing fleet to co-exist here in the Golden State.”

What My Experience Being Homeless Taught Me About Compassion

By JEREMIAH LUDWIG
InsideSources.com

As the National Park Service continues to break up homeless encampments, pushing them from one neighborhood to another, it’s clear our unsheltered homelessness problem isn’t going away anytime soon.

In 2022 Washington had an estimated homeless population of 4,400, about 690 were unsheltered. Though the total homeless population has decreased recently, the number of unsheltered homeless has remained stubbornly high.

Uncomfortable as we are with the unsheltered, we citizens largely abdicate our role in helping the homeless directly and leave the job to our government, which consistently struggles to fix the problem. While our government infantilizes them with paternalistic policies and vague rhetoric of compassion, citizens have learned the dehumanizing art of ignoring them altogether. By failing to engage with the homeless as fellow citizens and holding them to our own standards of acceptable behavior, we inadvertently perpetuate their disruption and neglect our role in fixing the problem.

I don’t say that without compassion: I see myself in all the wretchedness, mental illness and anger reflected in the eyes of the homeless.

When I was 20, a spat of severe depression cost me my job. Unable to make rent, I wound up homeless, and for a month, I wandered the streets feeling isolated and bitter. I needed help and was starving for even an ounce of compassion. Yet, many who might claim to have compassion for the homeless would walk right by me without offering even a glance.

But I don’t blame them. Years later, once again employed and housed, I find myself grappling with the same aversion that caused others to avoid me when I was on the street. Even though I know firsthand how harmful it is to be denied recognition from the other side of the street, it’s clear to me that in helping others, we put our goodwill on the line: Without some assurance of mutual respect and decency from those on the receiving end of that goodwill, few of us will take any chances. To do our part in helping our homeless neighbors, we must also hold them to a higher standard.

The only people who deserve unearned decency, kindness and assistance are young children: Pretending that every homeless person deserves such help only infantilizes them. The homeless must conduct themselves appropriately to expect recognition or help.

A few months ago, I was on my lunch break, sitting outside of a fast-food joint, when a man approached me, his ragged clothing marking him homeless. I greeted him, and he awkwardly asked if I would buy him lunch. I said I would, igniting a light of thanks in his eyes. We hardly made it into line before someone behind the counter noted the man’s appearance and demanded that he leave. I assured her I was paying for his food, but she ignored me, ordering him to leave and threatening to call the police.

But the moment of happiness that had lit his eyes at my promise instantly faded, and he began to yell at the worker, hurling obscenities at her. The store employees called the police as he fled.

I had tried to help him because of my compassion for his plight. My compassion was built on a respect for his status as a fellow citizen, whose shoes I might imagine myself in and from whom I might expect reciprocated decency and respect.

IN MY VIEW

Who’s in charge here

It has been more challenging for me to write a column commenting on breaking news with a 7-day lag to publication, so today I will write about something that has not yet happened.

By the time you read this I will be packing to take a trip to Los Angeles. I am one of five local delegates who represent our county on the California Democratic Party Central Committee. This means that I will be one of about 3,000 delegates to attend the California Democratic Party Convention.

This will be the first live convention the Democrats have held since COVID, and it will be energizing to reconnect will allies and friends in person. It’s always good to travel and meet new people to get a fresh perspective. If properly done, conventions are fun!

More importantly, the Democratic Convention is about policy and political organizing. In most years there is only one convention, but this year due to the early 2024 primary, there will be two conventions. This first one in May is our organizing convention when campaigns are planned, officers are elected, and committee assignments are decided.

In November we will have our endorsement convention. This is when candidates will be seeking Democratic Party endorsement to boost their campaign before the California primary election March 5, 2024. Delegates will vote on these endorsements.

Policy Debate

Underlying all this party business runs a keen focus on policy discussions. There are three standing committees where most of this debate happens. The committees that gain the most participation are the Resolution, Legislation and Platform Committees. Hundreds of delegates will attend and testify at these meetings.

Resolutions are a written statement of policy. Once adopted by the delegates this becomes the official policy of the Party. There is always an intense effort by proponents of these resolutions to gain support for their issues.

The skeptic in me recognizes that a resolution of support from the California Democratic Party is only a starting point for gaining legislative action. However, the State Senate and Assembly are both controlled by Democrats, and these resolutions do help move legislation forward.

In my view, the Platform Committee has more lasting value than resolutions because it writes a Platform that is a compendium of approved policy positions. The California Democratic Party Platform is divided into sections called Planks, covering subjects including healthcare, business, labor, seniors, veterans, education, energy, and the environment. (cadem.org/our-platform/)

This Platform is reviewed and updated every two years in a meticulously participatory process. I am primarily interested in advancing good policies, so I have applied to be reappointed to the Platform committee for a third term.

Rural Advocacy

My participation with platform development has resulted in some very productive steps toward better understanding of rural issues.

Five years ago, I was instrumental in convincing the Platform Committee to add a Rural Plank that would focus exclusively on policies important to rural California.

Last year, I was the Chair of the Rural Plank Committee and was able to make further improvements to this policy document. The most cogent recommendations for amendments were provided ed by the Rural Caucus, a subdivision of the State Party that is comprised of delegates from rural areas.

The Resolutions Committee sparks support for new policy ideas and the Platform Committee weaves these updated policies into planks to build a strong platform. The Rural Caucus then helps with the next step, to bring these policies into fruition through programs and legislation.

Rural Caucus leadership and members have created a formidable lobbying force that can communicate with elected Senators and Assembly Members across the State. This helps to build alliances and support for well-informed rural policy.

One recent success of the Rural Caucus is bringing greater attention and funding to expand high speed internet into underserved rural communities. This progress is the result of relentless advocacy by the members of the Rural Caucus. Better internet will improve rural commerce, education, and health care.

A new focus of the Rural Caucus is developing affordable housing in rural areas. It has been helpful to share ideas and learn from successes in other counties. Speaking with a coordinated voice, Rural Caucus members will have an influence on California housing policies and legislation.

Who is in Charge?

The answer to this question depends on where you live. The Democratic Party is firmly in command of the California government. Every statewide office is held by a Democrat. The Democrats control a supermajority in both State Senate and Assembly. In Del Norte County, our State Senator, Assemblyman, Congressman and both US Senators are all Democrats.

This highlights the importance for local politicians to find a way to work with our elected Democratic representatives. Local government agencies including the Harbor District, School Board, City Council, and Board of Supervisors are all dominated by Republicans. Fortunately, there is one Democrat on each of these boards who can speak “democrat.” We should have more.

Republicans working with Democrats is most likely to happen on a local or state level. I have very little hope that the gridlock in Washington DC will end soon. We have a divided federal government that will not make much progress this year. It appears that no one is in charge.

The Republican Party has a fragile majority in the House of Representatives. The Democrats have a shaky majority in the US Senate.

As I write this, our country is headed toward the brink of a fiscal cliff. If the debt limit is not raised, the United States will default on our debts, causing a global financial crisis.

There is very little that I can do to fix the governmental disfunction in Washington, so I focus my efforts closer to home. Through my affiliation with the Democratic Party, I have an opportunity to advocate for effective local and statewide rural policies, with the confidence that my voice will be heard.

WRITERS ON THE RANGE

Guns have changed everything, especially childhood

By LAURA PRITCHETT

I learned to shoot on the family ranch, as ranch kids are wont to do. My gun education was furthered at a Catholic summer camp, and I still have my paper target proving my marksmanship.

Hunter safety classes, and calm, clear-eyed common sense. This was the rural approach to guns I grew up with.

Then it’s a story we all know: Guns became politicized. Polarized. Lobby-ized. Humans are good at inventing things, so guns got more militarized as they turned into weapons of mass destruction. Our laws, sadly, didn’t keep up, because humans can also move quite slowly.

Then, I had children, and suddenly, active-shooter drills were part of their curriculum. And then, on Valentine’s Day 2018, parents across Fort Collins, Colorado, received emails informing us that our children had been in a lockdown drill at roughly the same time that 17 children were being killed in Florida.

My brain fritzed out with confusion: Here a drill, but in Florida, children were being mowed down. Relief, and yet also great grief. Other mothers were getting different news.

My kids came home, stunned, and recounted their drill instructions, which included advice such as: “If you must fight to save your life, fight with all your might, using anything within reach as a weapon.”

Yes, kids, please fight with all your might against a grownup with a semi-automatic.

What a sad curriculum. What a sad country. Many of us know this. Many of us keep saying the same thing over and over, and a few loud voices keep pushing back.

Why even discuss interpretations of the murky written Second Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, written at a time when muskets were the weapon of the day? Some conversations aren’t worth having.

What I am interested in is brainstorming real solutions—with like-minded people who also felt a real crack in their hearts every day that innocent people are mowed down, which, it seems, is nearly every day. A day without a shooting now seems the exception.

It strikes me that besides gun zealotry or idolatry, the other tragedy here is our seeming unwillingness to act. Really act. Act like grownups.

My daughter and friends helped organize a walkout to protest gun violence, which spread to other schools.

Kids poured out of the high schools and toward the town center, and parents rode their bikes or walked alongside — especially near the coal-rolling trucks filled with counter-protesters that heckled them from the roads.

This was the first act of civil disobedience for most, borne out of a mix of desperation and courage.

Even as the kids gathered to pass the mic and speak, my heart was sunk even lower. Why? I knew what you know: Nothing would really change. Not until the adults of this country protested seriously, left work, took to the streets.

The students protested, marched, wrote letters, made calls, and I watched, knowing. Adults wouldn’t go the distance. There’s not enough will.

It’s ironic: I grew up with guns, but my salient memory of childhood was peaceful summer walks through a green field, carrying a .22 to go practice shooting. Tragically, that is not true for youngsters today. They might not shoot as much, but they’re the ones forced by our irresponsibility and inaction to have it forefront in their minds and hearts.

So, solutions. I celebrate Moms Demand Action, a group founded by a mother of five right after the Sandy Hook tragedy, based on her belief that all Americans should do more to reduce gun violence. No group has “risen so far, so fast, influencing laws, rattling major corporations, and provoking vicious responses from hardcore gun rights activists,” according to Mother Jones.

Although I’m all for background checks and safety locks, these seem like tiny bandages on a gaping wound. The big thing we can do is ban assault weapons immediately, and, even more importantly, elect gun-sensible politicians who don’t take NRA money.

If not Moms Demand Action, there is the Coalition to Stop Gun Violence and Gun Owners for Safety.

All these groups need people willing to spend some time calling legislators, step up, protest. People like you. People who believe in common sense. People who believe in childhood.

RICHARD AIKIN

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of RICHARD AIKIN. A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by NICHOLAS AIKIN in the Superior Court of California, County of Del Norte. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that NICHOLAS AIKIN be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court. THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 06/09/23 at 10:00AM in Dept. 2 located at 450 H STREET, ROOM 209, CRESCENT CITY, CA 95531 IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Attorney for Petitioner DAVID J. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder’s office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (844) 477-7869 or visit this Internet Web site WWW.STOXPOSTING.COM, using the file number assigned to this case 109534-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: Effective January 1, 2021, you may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an “eligible tenant buyer,” you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an “eligible bidder,” you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (855) 313-3319, or visit this internet website www.clearreconcorp.com, using the file number assigned to this case 109534-CA to find the date on which the trustee’s sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee’s sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee’s sale. If you think you may qualify as an “eligible tenant buyer” or “eligible bidder,” you to advance reformation in juvenile justice that discounted and disregarded the multiplicity of concerns raised by probation experts." Reyman continued, "Del Norte County has worked to formulate plans and responses to expect this reform and mitigate the negative fallout to the best of our (DN probation) ability for our community and the youth we serve. " Reyman lamented, "we're well past any opportunity to argue the merits of this change. Probation is forced to perform without the level and support from the state that should have been in place since the passage of SB 823."

Gov. Gavin Newsom has proposed removing the state of California from juvenile justice, putting the responsibility on counties.

Paul Dillard, chairman of the county's Juvenile justice commission, was furious with the state pulling out of juvenile justice.

"This is another assault on the state justice commission, masked by Gov. Newsom, in a budget cut at the cost of juvenile offenders." Dillard said. "Juv-niles subsequently convicted of serious felonies, assault, murder, robbery and rape will no longer be confined in state corrections facilities and will be confined to county juvenile halls until completion of their sentences up to age 25. This will be nightmare for juvenile halls!" Dillard expressed his lack of confidence in the state's decision to turn over this burden to the counties. He reminded supervisors, the absence of a juvenile hall in Del Norte does not mean Del Norte is off the hook financially. Humboldt and Shasta counties will continue to bill back Del Norte for all costs.

3rd District constituent Branden Bieber wrote a letter to all five supervisors to restore law and order, financial responsibility and ethics into its conduct of complete compliance with the state, changing the face of our community.

The Board meets Tuesday, May 23, at 10 a.m. at the Flynn Center.

Elk Valley Rancheria receives grant for elk viewing

The U.S. Federal Highway Administration National Scenic Byways Program awarded the Elk Valley Rancheria, a federally recognized Indian tribe, $3,440,834 to construct a network of pedestrian trails, Roosevelt Elk viewing platforms and interpretive signage on Tribal land that is located adjacent to a scenic section of U.S. Hwy 101. Every year visitors stop on Highway 101 to watch the elk in the open grassland south of Crescent City on the Tribe’s reservation land. The Tribe’s project will provide a safe place to park near the highway thereby decreasing the risk of vehicle collisions. The Tribe will use the funding to create trails and interpretive viewing platforms to provide residents and visitors a safe place to stop for elk viewing, walking, and hiking. The trails will traverse through a forested trail, prairie trail, and wetland trail and will include interpretive signage and viewing platforms throughout. Interpretive materials will include information about the elk and other wildlife, environments (wetland, prairie, forest), and Tribal culture and history.

“We are excited to provide our Tribal members, local community, and visitors with a safe and educational place to enjoy the outdoors in a beautiful environment. It also provides an outstanding opportunity to share our Tribal culture with the world,” said Dale Miller, Chairman of the Tribe.

The Tribe will be partnering with the California Department of Fish and Wildlife on this important project.

This project has received tremendous support from state and local governments and the local community. Congressman Jared Huffman said: “Roosevelt elk are a spectacular part of the wildlife and scenery that make our district such a special place – but there needs to be safer ways for motorists and visitors to view them along Highway 101. This funding to construct walking trails and viewing platforms will not only improve safety for the Tribe and community in Crescent City, but it will spur economic development in this rural, disadvantaged area. I’m incredibly glad to have supported Elk Valley Rancheria in their request for funding and to see it come through.”

Cindy Vosburg, Executive Director, Crescent City/Del Norte County Chamber of Commerce said: “The Del Norte County Visitor Bureau is thrilled upon hearing Elk Valley Rancheria will be able to move forward with their plans on developing another nature experience for local citizens and the visitors who travel from around the world to enjoy the many natural wonders that abound in Del Norte County. To be able to get people off the roads and out of their cars is what brings them to appreciate one of the most beautiful places on earth. Even better, to allow access for all, to the amazing Roosevelt Elk, our rich tribal culture and our majestic Coast Redwood trees that is the wealth of Del Norte County, will greatly impact their quality of life.”

About Elk Valley Rancheria, California: Elk Valley Rancheria, California is a federally recognized Indian Tribe. The Tribe provides governmental services to its members, including education, health, housing, and employment opportunities.

It operates the Elk Valley Casino. The Elk Valley Rancheria, California is community oriented and strives to provide respect and dignity for all, preserve our culture, and to be self-sufficient and diversified for the good of the Tribe, County, community, and region.

Senate Majority Leader Mike McGuire issued a statement in response to Governor Newsom’s May Budget Revision released this morning:

“Today’s revise takes a commonsense approach and focuses on the current fiscal challenges by limiting and reducing spending, strengthening reserves and paying down pension liabilities.”

“And, we can’t stop investing in the programs and priorities that will strengthen the lives of Californians in every corner of this state. This includes funding as promised to combat our homelessness crisis, build thousands of workforce affordable housing units, tackle our climate crisis and make communities more wildfire safe and record dollars for our kids and public schools,” said Senator McGuire.

Padilla, colleagues introduce Medicare for All

U.S. Senators Alex Padilla (D-Calif.) and Bernie Sanders (I-Vt.), along with Representatives Pramila Jayapal (D-Wash.) and Debbie Dingell (D-Mich.) recently reintroduced the Medicare for All Act—historic legislation that would guarantee health care as a fundamental human right to all people in the United States regardless of income or background.

In addition to Padilla and Sanders, the legislation is also led in the Senate by Tammy Baldwin (D-Wis.), Richard Blumenthal (D-Conn.), Cory Booker (D-N.J.), Kirsten Gillibrand (D-N.Y.), Martin Heinrich (D-N.M.), Mazie Hirono (D-Hawaii), Ben Ray Lujan (D-N.M.), Ed Markey (D-Mass.), Jeff Merkley (D-Ore.), Brian Schatz (D-Hawaii), Elizabeth Warren (D-Mass.), Peter Welch (D-Vt.), and Sheldon Whitehouse (D-R.I.)

“Every American deserves access to high quality, affordable health care, regardless of their zip code or tax bracket,” said Senator Padilla. “Health care is a human right and no American should go bankrupt because of medical costs. Congress can and must do better to ensure that everyone has equitable access to care, and that starts by passing Medicare for All.”

“The American people understand, as I do, that health care is a human right, not a privilege,” said Senator Sanders. “It is not acceptable to me, nor to the American people, that over 85 million people today are either uninsured or underinsured. As we speak, there are millions of people who would like to go to a doctor but cannot afford to do so. That is an outrage. In America, your health and your longevity should not be dependent on your bank account or your stock portfolio. After all the lives that we lost to this terrible pandemic, it is clearer now, perhaps more than it has ever been before, that we must act to end the international embarrassment of the United States being the only major country on earth to not guarantee health care to all.”

“Health care should be a right for all, not a luxury for some,” said Senator Blumenthal. “In the United States of America, millions of Americans go to sleep at night worried about a procedure they can’t access or a treatment their family can’t afford. Our status quo is unacceptable. Regardless of age, income, or zip-code, access to quality, timely medical care should be guaranteed for all who need it. I’m proud to join my colleagues in introducing this landmark legislation.”

“Despite the progress we’ve made in the past decade, millions of Americans still struggle to afford the quality health care they deserve,” said Senator Booker. “Health care is a human right, and it is unacceptable that the wealthiest nation on the planet lags behind other countries in guaranteeing access to quality and affordable care for all its citizens. It’s time to put an end to the medical bankruptcies and exorbitant health care costs that burden families across the nation and work toward Medicare for All. I am proud to join in reintroducing this bill that will build a health care system that ensures that no one is left behind.”

“The American health care system leaves millions of individuals without coverage and it needs fundamental change. In the richest country in history, your health should not be determined by your income or zip code,” said Senator Gillibrand. “I am proud to join my colleagues in the fight for Medicare for All, which would guarantee high-quality health care for every American and enshrine into law that health care is a right, not a privilege.”

“New Mexicans should never have to choose between putting food on their table and accessing health care,” said Senator Heinrich. “That’s why I am proud to cosponsor the Medicare for All Act to expand health care coverage and provide access to hospital services, emergency services, prescription drugs, oral health, vision, and audiology services to all Americans.”

“Everyone should be able to get the health care they need, regardless of their income or insurance status,” said Senator Hirono. “As we continue to recover from the COVID-19 pandemic, adopting Medicare for All is an important thing we can do to help expand access to comprehensive health care for all communities. I am proud to support this bill and other legislation to help people across the country access quality, affordable health care.”

“Health care is a basic human right – no one should ever go broke because of a medical bill or have to ration life-saving medications to make ends meet,” said Senator Warren. “Medicare for All works to guarantee that every American will be able to afford and access the health care that every person deserves.”

“Medicare for All will help every Vermonter access essential health care, regardless of means. That’s worth fighting for, and I’m proud to join Sen Sanders to reintroduce this essential and lifesaving legislation,” said Senator Welch. “No person should ever have to worry that they can’t afford the medical care they need — period.”

Yurok Tribe receives grant for ecofriendly transit vans

The Yurok Tribe’s Transportation Program received $977,058 from the California State Transit Agency’s Transit and Inter-city Rail Capitol Program to purchase four electric vehicle charging stations and four electric transit vans and these vehicles will be used for a permanent extension of the Yurok Transportation Program’s transit route from Weitchpec to Willow Creek and Orleans.

“I would like to thank the California State Transit Agency for investing in our community. Expanding our zero-emissions fleet is one of the Yurok Transportation Program’s primary objectives,” said Yurok Transportation Program Director Brandi Natt. “From our new route, community members will be able to take advantage of Humboldt Transit Authority, Trinity Transit and Redwood Coast Transit Authority services to travel from the Willow Creek area to Weaverville and to the coast between Crescent City and Eureka.”

The Yurok Transportation Program applied for the funds in collaboration with the Humboldt Transit Authority and Redwood Coast Transit Authority, which received more than $7 million to increase transit services, build new infrastructure and grow their zero-emissions fleets. Starting on May 8, the Yurok Transit Program began offering the fixed route from Weitchpec to Willow Creek and Orleans. Yurok transit riders travelling from the reservation will be able to connect with the Humboldt transit system in Willow Creek and travel to Weaverville/Redding and the Arcata/Eureka area, where there is greater access to healthcare and employment opportunities. From the Willow Creek area, riders will be able to travel in Yurok Transit vans to Weitchpec, Tulley Creek and Klamath. Two of the new, emissions-free transit vans will be based out of the Yurok Transportation Program’s Tulley Creek building. The other two vans will operate out of Klamath. Two of the electric vehicles charging stations will be installed in Tulley Creek Transportation Building. The two remaining charging stations will be installed at the Yurok Transportation Program’s soon-to-be-built transit facility in Klamath. Last year, the Yurok Transportation Program received a $1,280,000 grant from the Federal Transit Administration’s Low- and

No- Emissions Program to construct the new building. The funds will also be used to purchase state-of-the-art dispatch and real-time arrival software. The Klamath transportation building will have three electric vehicle charging stations too.

Dog licenses still required, can only be purchased in person

Del Norte County Animal Services would like to update the public for payments of dog licensing.

As a reminder to county residents, under county ordinance, dogs over 6 months in age, with limited exception, must be licensed annually.

As the county transitioned Animal Services from the county’s Agriculture Department to the Sheriff’s Office, a new and upgraded online system for payments that was anticipated to be implemented has unfortunately been delayed. They hope to have the new system in place as soon as possible.

Annual dog licensing fees can still be paid in person at the Animal Services Office (2650 Washington Boulevard), please remember to bring a copy of your rabies vaccinations when coming in. They are currently unable to accept credit and debit card payment, however cash or checks are accepted. S ould you have any questions about licensing requirements, call (707) 464-7235.

Congressman Huffman Introduces Bill to Support Trinity Economy, Recreation

This week, Representative Jared Huffman (D-San Rafael) introduced bipartisan legislation along with Representative Doug LaMalfa (R-Richvale) to extend the authority of the Shasta-Trinity National Forest to collect and retain marina fees to enhance recreation and improve access at the Shasta-Trinity National Recreation Area.

“The Shasta-Trinity National Recreation Area is not only a fundamental part of our region’s identity, it’s a critical economic driver in my district. The ability to retain marina fees is necessary to support the growing outdoor recreation sector. I’ve worked to make sure the Recreation Area has this authority through the yearly funding bills, but it’s time for a more permanent solution. This bill is an important piece of legislation for Trinity County, its residents, economy, and the many visitors it welcomes every year,” said Rep. Huffman.

The authority to collect and retain fees is critical for the Shasta-Trinity National Recreation Area, which manages 212,000 acres, including 48,480 lake surface areas and 12 highly developed commercial marinas. Marina fees are invested in recreation enhancement projects such as boat ramp improvements, boating and water safety public service announcements, improved access to the lakes for persons with disabilities, floating restrooms, and educational programs. The bill extends the fee retention authority to Fiscal Year 2029.

Rep. Huffman has also worked with Rep. LaMalfa to include language in appropriations bills to extend the fee retention authority after it previously expired.
